Comp Bill, Fiscal Woes On Capitol Agenda

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — With at most two weeks to go until year-end adjournment, the Michigan legislature this week will tackle the state's fiscal problems and attempt to make headway on a revision in the workers' compensation program.

Gov. William Milliken is slated to unveil Tuesday his second plan to trim state spending — this time by $125 million. The legislature rejected his first proposal to cut back by $150 million, and bargained the governor's projected deficit down from $298 million to $280 million. The Senate and House appropriations committees are expected to approve this order, which includes reduced outlays for welfare and education.

Milliken proposes to pick up the rest of the needed money by dipping into two restricted funds — borrowing one and absorbing the other into the general fund — and switching the fiscal year to

Oct. 1-Sept. 30 to pick up a one-time $90 million more. Those proposals take separate legislation, and the Senate is poised to approve a bill altering the fiscal year. Administration budget officials would like to have the whole package on the governor's desk by the end of the month.

Although all bills not yet passed carry over into next year, a different problem plagues the controversial bill to increase workers' compensation benefits. Democratic backers of the labor-oriented bill say they may not attract enough Republican votes to provide the two-thirds tally necessary to put the bill into effect immediately upon the governor's signature.

So if the bill passes this month, it will take effect in April. But if it passes in January, it won't go into effect until April 1976. The two sides met several times behind closed doors last week to spell out their differences, and Senate Minority Leader Robert Davis, R-Gaylord, said "we're a long, long way apart."

But Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, continued optimistic that the Senate will approve a "compromise" measure and final enactment will come yet this month. "I have branched out to contact business leaders and labor people to see if any agreement can be reached to avoid a gubernatorial veto," Fitzgerald said.

Fitzgerald said the business leaders he had talked to "are willing to discuss a reasonable compromise." And he said he is willing to cut back Democratic demands for cost-of-living increases and retroactive raises for those receiving workers' compensation benefits.

Republicans, rallying around a bill submitted by Milliken, protest that the Democratic measure drastically increases costs to businesses, providing another discouragement for companies to locate in Michigan. The House, meanwhile, is slated to deal with its own partisan issue — giving immediate effect to the Political Ethics Commission which will oversee a complex new law tightening state control over campaign spending, public officials and lobbyists.

The Republican minority in the House withheld its share of the needed two-thirds vote when the law was passed last summer. The GOP is using the same leverage this week to get Democrats' promise of considering changes in the law. Changes desired by GOP lawmakers would delete provisions said to help financing of Democratic election campaigns and hurt Republican fund raising.

Also up for action is major legislation to make illegal and define deceptive business practices. The measure would replace Michigan's current weak law on intentional fraud and offer consumers several legal avenues for recovery of lost dollars. The bill has been passed in weaker form by the Senate, which is expected to demand compromises to the House additions in a conference committee.

Results Of Hoffa Lineup Will Go To Grand Jury

By MARTIN HIRSCHMAN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Federal prosecutors are silent on what they found out when three New Jersey Teamsters were placed in a lineup viewed by a secret witness to the abduction of

James R. Hoffa.

But a federal grand jury is expected to get a report on the lineup as early as Tuesday, leaving open the possibility of prompt indictments if the witness made a positive identification.

There is also the possibility that digging will begin this week at Moscato's Dump in Jersey City, N.J., where sources say the body of the former Teamsters president may be buried.

Federal prosecutors reported in open court last week that the three New Jersey men had been identified by another secret informant as having carried out the abduction and assassination of Hoffa.

Prosecutors said the man who saw the lineup Saturday at the Oakland County Jail in Pontiac was a witness to the Hoffa abduction but did not know the names of those involved.

U.S. Atty. Ralph Guy said it was "a complete impossibility for us to comment" on specific results of the lineup. He said the findings would be presented to the grand jury this week, but not before Tuesday.

"We are hoping it (the Hoffa disappearance) will be solved, but it would be ridiculous to set a time limit," said Guy.

The three Teamsters — Salvatore Briguglio, 47, of Englewood, his brother, Gabriel, 36, of Union City, and Thomas Andretta, 38, of Hasbrouck Heights — appeared in the lineup only after being placed under arrest for refusing to comply with a court order to do so.

All three were later released and reportedly returned to New Jersey.

The three men are associated with Teamsters Local 560 in Union City, N.J., for years the power base of former union vice president Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano.

Provenzano was identified by Hoffa associates as one of three men Hoffa expected to meet at a Bloomfield Township restaurant on July 30, the day he disappeared.

Moscato's Dump is operated, according to New Jersey records, by Philip "Brother" Moscato, 41, of Lauderhill, Fla. Moscato is reportedly an associate of Salvatore Briguglio.

The FBI last week obtained a search warrant to look for the body of Armand Faugno, a reputed underworld figure who disappeared three years ago, in four acres of the 47-acre dump. But sources said Hoffa's body was the real target of the prospective excavation.

In a copyrighted story Sunday, the Detroit News added to reports that Hoffa was helping a

NO PLANS FOR CHRISTMAS

They Await End Of The World

By MARC WILSON

GRANNIS, Ark. (AP) — "We don't have any special plans for Christmas," says Elizabeth Nance Bard. "We just think maybe we won't be here."

She is one of 25 persons who are closeted in a small brick house waiting for the second coming of Christ and the world to end.

The vigil began 70 days ago with believers abandoning their homes and jobs. Mrs. Bard says the group is "in no way discouraged. We just keep praying and studying and waiting for the end to come."

"Christmas, of course, is a special time," she said. "But what we're doing is even more important."

Last week Mrs. Bard broke the group's self-imposed silence to deny rumors circulating about the vigil in this town of 177.

Residents reported hearing "bloodcurdling screams" from the house, and seeing nighttime parades by vigil keepers dressed in white robes.

"There is nothing sinister, weird or strange about this," Mrs. Bard said. "Nothing goes on in the house that doesn't go on in a church — a lot of praying and religious study."

Mrs. Bard's comments sparked an editorial Saturday by the Arkansas Gazette, the state's largest newspaper, defending the group's freedom of religion.

"If they left their jobs, closed their businesses and moved to the house in accordance with what they believe one member was told by God in a vision, they have done no harm to anyone, nor have they done anything but mind their own business," the newspaper said.

The Gazette criticized county officials who "will not let well enough alone and show the same respect for religious or lack of religious belief to the 25 on the vigil that they expect for themselves."

Several school-age children were removed from the house by court order and officials had considered using health and safety codes as a pretext to evict

Cyclone Wrecks City But Only One Hurt

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Cyclone Joan chewed up Port Hedland, a town of 13,000 in northwest Australia, today. A police spokesman reported: "Practically every house in town has its roof torn off. It's been a bloody disaster here."

The police reported only one casualty, a man with a broken arm. Storm warnings were issued hours before the cyclone's 120-mile winds reached the town, and everyone took shelter.

Bank Awaits Ransom Drop Instructions

DETROIT (AP) — Officials at a Detroit bank were awaiting ransom delivery instructions today from the kidnapers of an assistant branch manager.

Several radio stations broadcast an appeal from James Crawford's family and the National Bank of Detroit to get in touch with officials and arrange the $250,000 ransom drop.

But bank officials and FBI agents said that outside of a rash of calls from "opportunists" apparently not involved in the kidnaping, there had been no word from the abductors since late Friday.

"We're sitting by the phones waiting for somebody to contact us and give us assurances that our man is okay," said James Glynn, NBD's vice president for public relations.

Crawford, of suburban Grosse Pointe, was kidnaped outside an NBD branch on Detroit's West Side as he arrived for work Friday morning.

Glynn confirmed that a $250,000 ransom package had been put together in response to Friday's call, but denied earlier reports that a drop had been made.

Glynn said because of early publicity of the kidnaping, there was continued uncertainty about whether even those who placed the first call actually have possession of the 25-year-old Crawford.

Glynn said the first media reports on the incident came out about eight hours after the abduction, despite a request from authorities that news of the kidnaping be withheld.

A witness, whose name has not been disclosed, said two men in a late-model blue Chevrolet forced Crawford into their car and sped off.

The broadcast appeal from Crawford's family to the kidnapers said:

"Our family is unable to respond to the dollar amount you request. The bank has indicated a willingness to cooperate. However, in order to do so, they must hear from you directly."

"Will you please call one of the persons you contacted earlier, using the code signal you used before. You will be given the telephone number of the bank official you should call. We urge you to do this."

Professional Sport Going For Broke

Whenever the coach at old Siwash U finds his football team on the wrong end of the score in the game's closing minutes he invariably orders the quarterback to pass, pass, pass.

The coach knows the percentages in this catchup style are against his squad, but he takes to the air because a desperate situation demands crucial remedies.

Developments this year cause one to wonder if professional sports may not be headed on this same toboggan slide.

The World Football League folded before it could finish its second season.

Scarcely any of the teams in the two professional basketball leagues break even, much less earn a buck. Several pro football units are running in the red. Hockey is not perched on the brink; it is heading toward it. If it were not for its televised games, baseball would have gone over the hill long ago.

Against that backdrop, there is the astonishing case of Bill Vecek trying to raise nearly $10 million dollars to buy the Chicago White Sox which for the past six years have averaged an annual deficit of $1.5 million.

Were this analogy to prevail in a given segment within commerce and industry, that particular division would be in the bankruptcy court or beyond.

Two reasons account for this financial levitation in professional sports.

One is the Internal Revenue Code's provisions on depreciation. A team's players are a depreciable asset to the owner. This is an attraction to an investor who knows how to maximize that accounting procedure and who understands the nuances in buying, selling and trading franchises with a minimum in capital gain impact.

Secondly there is the day to day income from television royalties to cover or narrow the gap between income and expense which gate receipts do not bridge.

There is a third reason, one that led to founding the pay for play circuits but which is diminishing in influence today. There are some well heeled people who love the idea of being an owner. Their circumstances are such that within reason red ink does not bother them.

Until the players began to take night school courses in bookkeeping or to hire their own accountants, these factors went unnoticed. As a consequence, salaries were modest.

Having been educated, the players in recent years have most artfully worked those three factors to their advantage. While only a few have million dollar, no cut contracts, none of them are close to what HEW defines as the poverty level. As a whole they do much better at their calling than if they were selling cars, driving trucks or pursuing other more mundane careers.

There is nothing wrong in the laborer getting his hire, but since payroll is 80 per cent or more of a team's expenses, the question is becoming one survival for the teams and the leagues.

If the TV advertisers decide their sponsorship is not reflecting itself in the sales reports, if the charms in the IRC start to fade, or if Congress or the courts should outlaw the reserve clause, pro sports could easily turn intramural. To those gloomy possibilities should also be added the inquiry of how much will the fan pony up for a ticket.

All told, the golden goose is becoming emaciated. Her food intake needs increasing if she is to continue laying the golden eggs for the players.

The other alternative, one scarcely mentioned in any labor-management eyeballing, is for the players to settle for silver eggs.

Even silver, as any jeweler or industrial consumer can tell the reader, is not cheap any more.

It's way past the price when William Jennings Bryan campaigned for the metal's free coinage at a 16-1 ratio with gold.

This dreary prospect need not come to pass if those in professional sports will look at the storm flags, and not turn their glances into still farther horizons.

SOME GIVE LIVES TO SERVE PEOPLE

Editor,
In response to the letter of J. Von Ehr of December 3rd, reference his recommendation that the New Buffalo post be closed, and replaced with a "people agency."

There is no agency that serves people to the extent that officers from that post, have — or have you forgotten Charles Stark and Gary Rainey? The state should have followed your advice on closing the post before those two fine troopers were killed. But then, according to you, their primary function was "just writing traffic tickets."

You, and anyone else, who has an opinion on this matter should express their thoughts and views freely. We will all have to wait and see what decisions are finally made concerning the New Buffalo post.

But please don't call those troopers "just ticket writers" — some have given their lives to serve people.

AMERICAN EMPLOYER NEEDS HELPING HAND

Editor,
The economy will probably remain at its present level or gradually decline into a genuine depression unless drastic governmental measures are adopted to stimulate employment.

Perhaps the theory presented here can be shot full of holes by the experts but it would give many employers an incentive to recall unemployed workers.

It is believed a tax benefit to employers for each recalled worker would increase net profits after taxes. It may be argued that warehouses swollen with huge inventories would hardly inspire manufacturers to produce more of the same products. In rebuttal to that objection it is believed the advent of the computer gave manufacturers the ability to control production and inventories to conform to market demands.

The economy will not improve unless the executive and legislative branches of state and federal governments lend helping hands to the mainspring of the economy, the hapless, frustrated and often forgotten American employer.

FOND MEMORIES OF LOST MARINER

Editor,
The mail came today. Little did the mail carrier know that he would deliver some sad news. Tom Bentsen had gone down with his ship.

Nor, do I suppose, would that mail carrier have cared much. To him, it would only be a nameless face hundreds of miles from where he lived. Perhaps, in a larger sense, his insensitivity is reflective of the society in which we live. We no longer speak of deaths but of mega-deaths. Our ability to conquer another nation is no longer recognized in the number of soldiers in our army, or the number of ships in our navy, but in our over-kill potential. In a war-weary world, only the deaths of great people are often recognized. Tom Bentsen was not a great writer, prominent statesman, or accomplished performer. Why, society asks, should we recognize him?

I find it hard to accept the death of a man so young. Death is a subject not well taught in school. When the Bible recognizes the right of every man to live "three-score and ten years", death at the age of 23 is a hard lesson to learn. No, Tom was not a great writer, prominent statesman, or accomplished performer — he was my friend. I find it hard to accept the death of my friend.

Tom and I grew up together. We shared our hopes, our dreams, our problems and philosophies. Somewhere during high school, our paths separated. We marched to the tunes of two different drummers. Still our paths would cross. When they did, we would often take a long walk, as we once had done so often. Such walks offered time to share our secret thoughts with each other once again.

Our paths crossed last in Southwestern Michigan's second blizzard in recent weeks tied up traffic in drift-knotted snarls last night and early today. Highway US-12, normally one of Michigan's busiest interstate highways between Detroit, Jackson, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, Benton Harbor-St. Joseph and Chicago, was the major battle front today in a grim struggle between highway maintenance crews and an early December storm that heaped three and four foot drifts on top of treacherous ice.

— 50 Years Ago —

Fire starting from an explosion in a large oil switch burned out the power house of the Indiana & Michigan Electric company's hydro-electric dam and generating unit at Berrien Springs, 15 miles south of Benton Harbor Monday evening, cutting off all electric current to the twin cities and half a dozen small towns in Berrien county. The loss from damage was estimated today at $20,000, while the loss in revenue from current which would have been used and street car rides which would have been taken during the period of interruption is estimated at an additional $2,500.

The Candidates' Shaky Shields

WASHINGTON — Even today I recall the incident with foreboding. It was 1968, Hubert Humphrey was running for president, and thousands of people were in downtown Boston to hear him speak. The times were grim, tension was high, and demonstrators there were on the verge of riot.

As the senator finished speaking, I closed with him quickly, of necessity to be sure, for fear that if we were separated by the crowd I would miss his entourage bus, and therefore his plane, his next stop, and the rest of my story.

That close to Humphrey, then, and because our exit was hectic, I bumped the candidate, whereupon a Secret Service agent grabbed me by the arm, spun me around, and pushed me roughly to the ground. "Hey," I yelled, "I'm press!" The harried agent answered that he didn't care, then warned me not to touch the candidate again. It's a good way, he snapped angrily, "to get your head blown off."

With the 1976 campaign now shifting to higher gear, and eight of the twelve official candidates currently under the armed protection of Secret Service agents, the 1968 incident may serve as a useful reminder that Secret Service personnel are indeed capable of blowing off heads, and that if all concerned with this political season do not dwell often on this truth it might very well happen.

Certainly the potential for a disaster of this sort is growing. The publicity surrounding the attempts on the life of a campaigning President, and the subsequent criticism of the efficiency of his security arrangements, have produced a situation where Secret Service officers may be straining to overcompensate.

According to one worried Secret Service agent it might end in the erroneous death of an innocent campaign spectator.

The agent, speaking only for himself, but from some years of experience on candidate security detail, says that pressures may be reaching a point within the Secret Service that some agents may feel that excess in the defense of a candidate is part of the job: "What worries me is that some men may come to think that anything goes, that the well-being of a citizen is secondary to the well-being of some politician."

Backing off, unfortunately, would not be easy. The S.S. (agents hate the initials) runs a kind of no-win protection service. Damned by some when they make mistakes, and thought unnecessary by others when they perform their duties in uneventful fashion, the agents ultimately constitute a bureaucracy that wishes only to be loved.

They know fully and absolutely that they are mostly eyewitness, that they offer only the illusion of protection for candidates, yet when faced with criticism they respond as they feel their critics would wish, that is aggressively, as if adding Uzi machine guns to their M-16 arsenal will deter the 84,000 people in the nation whom the S.S. computer says are potential threats to the security of public persons.

What's more, candidates usually demand more and not less from Secret Service agents. Richard Nixon had one spy on the George McGovern camp last time around. Sargent Shriver used an agent to sit with his children in 1972. Even Harold Stassen, assigned agents in 1968, confined candidly that one of the campaign lures is "this El Supremo treatment."

No, the S.S. will not back off. And citizens should be advised. This campaign keep your hands in the open, your grocery bag at home — and look pleasant for heaven's sake, even if you are a Republican.

Point Of Charity

WASHINGTON — A puzzling feature of American life today is that while people are increasingly turning against government as the major provider of human needs they are not shifting to. In fact they are turning away from private philanthropy. Individual giving to non profit private enterprise of all kinds declined 15 percent nationwide between 1960 and 1972, a period of relative prosperity. And during the economic instability of the past three years, contributions have apparently continued to drop steadily.

These gloomy figures were included in a two-year study by a private commission chaired by insurance executive John Filer which is being debated publicly for the first time at a National Council on Philanthropy conference this week. The Filer commission's reaction to the bad news was essentially the automatic response of commercial private industry when it gets into financial trouble — it asked Congress for bail-out money.

The commission asserted that greater tax breaks for contributions are necessary and recommended a permanent national commission staffed by presidential appointees confirmed by the Senate to oversee the interests of private philanthropy.

The Federal government is already, in effect, subsidizing charity through the income tax deduction. The commission wants to go beyond that and have the government actually give people a bonus for giving to charity.

But it smacks of a bribe when a person is paid extra to do something he ought to be doing anyway. It also removes a certain quality of compassion which is supposed to be involved in charitable donations.

And it would be cheaper for the taxpayers if Congress simply skipped the flim-flam and appropriated direct Federal aid, as though philanthropies were a foreign country or New York City.

The pell-mell rush toward greater government involvement with philanthropy seems to violate the whole idea of charity in the first place, which is to solve social problems through private, nonprofit action supported by concerned individuals.

A great flaw in the commission's study is the failure to distinguish between charities that are worthy and those that are not. Its rhetoric seems aimed at protecting the charity establishment — old institutions that work in the fields of education, medicine and welfare.

A vigorous dissent was filed by a group that had worked with the commission but felt it ignored their recommendations and interests. The group included most of the major causes which have developed only in the past decade — environmental concerns, women's rights, Indian rights, public interest law and consumers. The group complained that these causes did not get a fair share of support from the nonprofit sector.

The dissenters made an important point. They felt that crying for more money was not the solution to dwindling resources. They suggested that the smaller amounts be redirected toward highly leveraged social change, rather than toward tinkering which may help an individual but leaves the basic social inequity intact to harm another.

Interior Secretary Pushes Offshore Drilling

The blow-out of an oil rig in California's Santa Barbara channel in 1969 was a milestone in this nation's march to environmental awareness. News pictures of oil-soaked beaches littered with birds brought instant understanding of the seashore's vulnerability to millions. The Santa Barbara oil spill raised new questions about offshore drilling.

Since that time, the Arab oil embargo and the energy crisis have shown the nation's dire need to develop domestic energy resources. In April 1973, President Nixon reflected this concern when he called for the leasing of 10 million offshore acres by the end of this year. Even though the Interior Department has scaled down the goal — it is now four to five million acres — the drilling of offshore oil is still an energy objective of this country.

Interior Secretary Thomas Kleppe's recent approval of the leasing to oil companies of 1.25 million acres of ocean bottom land off the coast of Southern California is one indication that the Ford administration, too, favors offshore oil development beyond the Gulf of Mexico, where drilling is widespread. Kleppe, who had been in his post less than a month, postponed the final decision in October to allow more time to consider public comments and evaluate new evidence.

A suit by the state of California, alleging that the Interior Department had failed to draw up adequate environmental impact studies, held up the decision until Nov. 17 when a U.S. District Court judge rejected the California argument. Even though two additional California suits against the sales are pending, Kleppe has ruled that the leasing will proceed, starting on Thursday, Dec. 11.

Kleppe made some changes to assuage environmentalists' concerns. He reduced the tracts to be sold to 1.25 million from 1.6 million acres and he exempted from the sale all tracts in the scenic Santa Monica Bay and around San Miguel Island where drilling would be visible from the shore. Kleppe explained his reasoning: "Our decision is based upon the urgent need to develop available domestic energy resources, and upon the legitimate environmental concerns raised by public comments and government officials."

Professional Sport Going For Broke

Whenever the coach at old Siwash U finds his football team on the wrong end of the score in the game's closing minutes he invariably orders the quarterback to pass, pass, pass.

The coach knows the percentages in this catchup style are against his squad, but he takes to the air because a desperate situation demands crucial remedies.

Developments this year cause one to wonder if professional sports may not be headed on this same toboggan slide.

The World Football League folded before it could finish its second season.

Scarcely any of the teams in the two professional basketball leagues break even, much less earn a buck. Several pro football units are running in the red. Hockey is not perched on the brink; it is heading toward it. If it were not for its televised games, baseball would have gone over the hill long ago.

Against that backdrop, there is the astonishing case of Bill Vecek trying to raise nearly $10 million dollars to buy the Chicago White Sox which for the past six years have averaged an annual deficit of $1.5 million.

Were this analogy to prevail in a given segment within commerce and industry, that particular division would be in the bankruptcy court or beyond.

Two reasons account for this financial levitation in professional sports.

One is the Internal Revenue Code's provisions on depreciation. A team's players are a depreciable asset to the owner. This is an attraction to an investor who knows how to maximize that accounting procedure and who understands the nuances in buying, selling and trading franchises with a minimum in capital gain impact.

Secondly there is the day to day income from television royalties to cover or narrow the gap between income and expense which gate receipts do not bridge.

There is a third reason, one that led to founding the pay for play circuits but which is diminishing in influence today. There are some well heeled people who love the idea of being an owner. Their circumstances are such that within reason red ink does not bother them.

Until the players began to take night school courses in bookkeeping or to hire their own accountants, these factors went unnoticed. As a consequence, salaries were modest.

Having been educated, the players in recent years have most artfully worked those three factors to their advantage. While only a few have million dollar, no cut contracts, none of them are close to what HEW defines as the poverty level. As a whole they do much better at their calling than if they were selling cars, driving trucks or pursuing other more mundane careers.

There is nothing wrong in the laborer getting his hire, but since payroll is 80 per cent or more of a team's expenses, the question is becoming one survival for the teams and the leagues.

If the TV advertisers decide their sponsorship is not reflecting itself in the sales reports, if the charms in the IRC start to fade, or if Congress or the courts should outlaw the reserve clause, pro sports could easily turn intramural. To those gloomy possibilities should also be added the inquiry of how much will the fan pony up for a ticket.

All told, the golden goose is becoming emaciated. Her food intake needs increasing if she is to continue laying the golden eggs for the players.

The other alternative, one scarcely mentioned in any labor-management eyeballing, is for the players to settle for silver eggs.

Even silver, as any jeweler or industrial consumer can tell the reader, is not cheap any more.

It's way past the price when William Jennings Bryan campaigned for the metal's free coinage at a 16-1 ratio with gold.

This dreary prospect need not come to pass if those in professional sports will look at the storm flags, and not turn their glances into still farther horizons.

SOME GIVE LIVES TO SERVE PEOPLE

Editor,
In response to the letter of J. Von Ehr of December 3rd, reference his recommendation that the New Buffalo post be closed, and replaced with a "people agency."

There is no agency that serves people to the extent that officers from that post have — or have you forgotten Charles Stark and Gary Rumpy? The state should have followed your advice on closing the post before those two fine troopers were killed. But then, according to you, their primary function was "just writing traffic tickets."

You, and anyone else, who has an opinion on this matter should express their thoughts and views freely. We will all have to wait and see what decisions are finally made concerning the New Buffalo post.

But please don't call those troopers "just ticket writers" — some have given their lives to serve people.

AMERICAN EMPLOYER NEEDS HELPING HAND

Editor,
The economy will probably remain at its present level or gradually decline into a genuine depression unless drastic governmental measures are adopted to stimulate employment.

Perhaps the theory presented here can be shot full of holes by the experts but it would give many employers an incentive to recall unemployed workers.

It is believed a tax benefit to employers for each recalled worker would increase net profits after taxes. It may be argued that warehouses swollen with huge inventories would hardly inspire manufacturers to produce more of the same products. In rebuttal to that objection it is believed the advent of the computer gave manufacturers the ability to control production and inventories to conform to market demands.

The economy will not improve unless the executive and legislative branches of state and federal governments lend helping hands to the mainspring of the economy, the hapless, frustrated and often forgotten American employer.

Stevensville Lutherans Fail To Reach Eviction Decision

The congregation of St. Luke's Lutheran church, LCA, Stevensville, met yesterday to decide whether it should continue its legal battle to evict a 13-member black family from a church-owned house, but no decision was announced.

The church's attorney, Richard Lindenfeld, of the St. Joseph law firm of Kinney and Cook, said negotiations are still in progress between the church and family and consequently, "It would not serve either party to make a statement at this time."

Rev. Timothy Knauff, pastor of the church at 5020 Cleveland avenue, said a majority of the congregation attended yesterday's meeting during which Lindenfeld brought them up to date on the progress of negotiations. He said when a solution is reached, it would be released. Two weeks earlier, Rev. Knauff warned the congregation that the church could go broke over legal fees or repairs to the house from which it has attempted to evict the family of Phin Shannon, Jr., 34, a Stevensville foundry worker.

He said a legal retainer of $2,000 would be needed if the church decides to contest the suit in federal court. If the church does not contest, it will cost an estimated $3,456 to repair the house so the family can continue living in it, he said.

Rev. Knauff said the church does not have the money for a legal battle or repairs, and the alternatives are extra contributions from the approximately 75 family members or default.

Shannon, who has been paying $100 a month rent to live in the two-story frame house next to the church for the past six years, has charged the church wants to evict the family because of racial bias.

Rev. Knauff said the family has fallen $625 behind in the payment of rent, but that is not one of the reasons for the eviction notice being filed. "The church is not interested in the money at all," he said.

Church members have established an escrow account of funds donated to help the family relocate.

Rev. Knauff said the church just wants to tear down the building, which is about 40 years old and needing repairs, and "get out of the rental business."

The church filed an eviction notice in October. Last month, Shannon's attorney, Tat Parish of St. Joseph, filed a countersuit in federal district court seeking $13,000 in damages for alleged violations of the family's civil rights and he has asked the court to block the eviction process filed in Berrien Fifth District court.

No action has been taken in the federal court to date.

Marketers To Meet In BH, Stevensville

Marketing new products and the effective use of marketing plans in 1976 will be subjects covered by several specialists during a seminar to be conducted by the Michigan chapter of the American Marketing Association Thursday in Benton Harbor and Stevensville.

The seminar, open to all marketers in this area, will begin with registration at 1 p.m. at the Whirlpool Educational center, 855 Riverview drive, Benton Harbor.

Highlight of the day will be a dinner meeting at Win Schuler's restaurant, Stevensville, where the program will feature a talk by Mrs. Dolores Cogan on "The Outlook for Women in Business."

Mrs. Cogan is director of public relations for Miles Laboratories in Elkhart, Ind., and previously was manager of public relations for Pepperidge Farms.

The dinner meeting will be one of several activities planned to include spouses of seminar participants. Wives also will be guests of Whirlpool Corporation for a special tour of the firm's home economics division and will be told how to evaluate appliances and make better use of them.

Ed Francell, president of the Michigan AMA chapter, noted that the seminar is the first of its type planned by the local group.

Seminar speakers, representing leading manufacturing firms in the area, will include:

Richard Pruess, manager of product development for the Clark Equipment company's construction machinery division. He will discuss "Developing New Products and New Markets."

Ted Gortom, marketing manager for Wheelabrator Frye, Inc., of Mishawaka, who will discuss "Finding, Screening and Appraising New Industrial Products."

Dennis Gooding, manager of marketing services for the Dodge division of Reliance Electric company, Mishawaka, who will cover "The Introduction, Promotion and Distribution of New Industrial Products."

Chairman of the industrial products discussion will be Mike Chuceta, manager of systems, engineering and technology assessment for the central development division of Clark Equipment in Cassopolis.

Consumer products seminars will be conducted by Marge E. Pannell, marketing planning manager for Whirlpool Corporation; Don Masini, director of market planning for Wheelhorse, South Bend; and Steve Thompson, manager of marketing services for the Starcraft Corporation, Goshen.

Benton Man Challenges Intruder To Shoot Him

By TOM SAWYER
Staff Writer

A 73-year-old Benton Heights man challenged an intruder to shoot him; instead, the would-be robber fled on foot with no loot, according to a report filed with Benton township police. Jim Campbell, 2908 Irving drive, told police he was confronted at the front door of his home by a man who was inside the house. Campbell said he was returning home after visiting neighbors shortly after 5 p.m. Sunday. Police said Campbell related this conversation between himself and the intruder: The man opened the door and, seeing Campbell said, "I've got a gun, give me all your money." The intruder then said, "I've got a .38 (caliber pistol) and I'll blow a hole through you." to which Campbell replied, "go ahead." Campbell said he did not see a gun. Campbell told police nothing appeared to be missing from the house, although some drawers in the bedroom had been rifled. He also said he could not remember if he locked the house before leaving. Police said Campbell gave a description of the intruder.

'Curly's' Crew Fuels BH Drive

Employees of Curly's Auto Service spend most of the year putting their customers on the road.

Today they helped put Santa on the road to success with a $25 contribution to the Benton Harbor Area Good Fellow fund.

The gift was one of three today that helped push the Good Fellow campaign closer to its goal of $7,500 — the amount Santa needs to assure that Christmas will be a happy holiday for everyone in the Benton Harbor area.

The other two gifts of $2.50 each were "In memory of James J. Cochran, uncle and brother," and "In memory of James J. Cochran, dad and grandpa."

Santa happily noted that many folks from this area find Christmas a fine time to remember their loved ones by remembering the Good Fellow

Benton Fire Linked To Heater

A malfunction in a hot water heater at the home of Robert Westbrook, 1508 Reeder street, was blamed for a fire Sunday that damaged a utility room at the home, Benton township firemen said.

Firemen reported a clothes hamper caught fire and flames spread to wall paneling and the ceiling in the 11:20 a.m. blaze. No one was injured and no damage estimate was given.

Engineers Boost Fund In St. Joe

The St. Joseph Area Good Fellow campaign got a $61 boost from Whirlpool Engineers working on the firm's automatic washers and the gift points up a fact—success is not automatic.

Every year the engineers take up a collection to help put the Good Fellow drive over the top. But it still takes people to make the Good Fellow idea work. Down through the years employees have changed, but not their concern for others — young and old, big and small — so, that Christmas will be a holiday for everyone. The fact the Good Fellows year after year make their quota is due to unwavering committee chairmen and officers who remind their respective clubs and organizations to remember the fund.

Today's 61 pushes the total to $926 which is $4,073.38 from the goal of $5,000.

Milton Bands Will Present Yule Concert

St. Joseph Milton Junior high school bands will present their annual Christmas concert Wednesday, Dec. 17, at 8 p.m. in the Milton auditorium. Both the "A" and "B" bands will be featuring traditional Christmas favorites as well as contemporary band music.

The concert will be conducted by Vito Tenerelli, a 1966 graduate of St. Joseph high school, former director of bands at Maple Valley Schools, Nashville, Mich., and now band director at Milton. Admission to the concert is free.

To Ask Increase

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — General Telephone Co. of Michigan says it will seek another rate increase before the end of this month. Jack Reitze, the utility's president, said the increase will be requested from the Michigan Public Service Commission but added the amount to be sought remains undetermined.

Officials of General Telephone originally denied reports they would seek more money but made the confirmation after a special company bulletin about its plans became public.

General Telephone was granted increases of $9.9 million Aug. 4 but Reitze said the hike was $3 million less than the utility wanted. He also contended the firm will receive only $4.8 million from the increase after state and federal taxes.

General Telephone has more than 500,000 phones in use around Michigan and operates in more than half the state's counties.

Planetarium Show At Upton To Be Repeated

The Star of Bethlehem presentation will be repeated this week and next at the Upton junior high school planetarium in St. Joseph.

Planetarium director William Hingaman said the hour-long presentation will be given on Tuesday and Wednesday of each week, starting at 7:30 p.m. Admission is free.

fluid stored in plastic bag in upstairs bedroom closet. Fire spread from closet to walls and ceiling in bedroom and into attic. No damage estimate was given in 9:28 p.m. fire. Firemen said cause of blaze at building owned by Rex Watkins, of Rex Auto Parts, 447 East Main street was not determined immediately.

It is believed to have originated in trash on a stairway. Some auto parts stored on first floor were undamaged by fire which was confined to the second floor. Firemen answered call at 10:39 p.m. No one was hurt in either fire, firemen indicated. (Photos by David Arndt and staff photographer Ralph Lutz)

ROOF COLLAPSES: Portion of vacant building at 1200 Milton street, Benton Harbor, collapsed, apparently from age and heavy rainfall Friday night and early Saturday, according to Benton Harbor police. Structure at Milton and Cross formerly housed Peer Co., now Peer division of Teledyne Landis Machine, 2100 East Empire avenue, Benton township. Peer division still owns unused structure, police reported. Collapse was reported by Patrolman James Spalo at 8:52 a.m. Saturday. There were no injuries, police said. Building was constructed in 1928, according to plate on wall. Peer moved to Benton township in 1966 and was acquired by Teledyne in 1968. (Staff photo)

Stevensville Lutherans Fail To Reach Eviction Decision

The congregation of St. Luke's Lutheran church, LCA, Stevensville, met yesterday to decide whether it should continue its legal battle to evict a 13-member black family from a church-owned house, but no decision was announced.

The church's attorney, Richard Lindenfeld, of the St. Joseph law firm of Kinney and Cook, said negotiations are still in progress between the church and family and consequently, "It would not serve either party to make a statement at this time."

Rev. Timothy Knauff, pastor of the church at 5020 Cleveland avenue, said a majority of the congregation attended yesterday's meeting during which Lindenfeld brought them up to date on the progress of negotiations. He said when a solution is reached, it would be released. Two weeks earlier, Rev. Knauff warned the congregation that the church could go broke over legal fees or repairs to the house from which it has attempted to evict the family of Phin Shannon, Jr., 34, a Stevensville foundry worker.

He said a legal retainer of $2,000 would be needed if the church decides to contest the suit in federal court. If the church does not contest, it will cost an estimated $3,456 to repair the house so the family can continue living in it, he said.

Rev. Knauff said the church does not have the money for a legal battle or repairs, and the alternatives are extra contributions from the approximately 75 family members or default.

Shannon, who has been paying $100 a month rent to live in the two-story frame house next to the church for the past six years, has charged the church with racism.

Rev. Knauff said the family has fallen $625 behind in the payment of rent, but that is not one of the reasons for the eviction notice being filed. "The church is not interested in the money at all," he said.

Church members have established an escrow account of funds donated to help the family relocate.

Rev. Knauff said the church just wants to tear down the building, which is about 40 years old and needing repairs, and "get out of the rental business."

The church filed an eviction notice in October. Last month, Shannon's attorney, Tat Parish of St. Joseph, filed a countersuit in federal district court seeking $13,000 in damages for alleged violations of the family's civil rights and he has asked the court to block the eviction process filed in Berrien Fifth District court.

No action has been taken in the federal court to date.

Marketers To Meet In BH, Stevensville

Marketing new products and the effective use of marketing plans in 1976 will be subjects covered by several specialists during a seminar to be conducted by the Michiana chapter of the American Marketing Association Thursday in Benton Harbor and Stevensville.

The seminar, open to all marketers in this area, will begin with registration at 1 p.m. at the Whirlpool Educational center, 655 Riverview drive, Benton Harbor.

Highlight of the day will be a dinner meeting at Win Schuler's restaurant, Stevensville, where the program will feature a talk by Mrs. Doloris Cogan on "The Outlook for Women in Business."

Mrs. Cogan is director of public relations for Miles Laboratories in Elkhart, Ind., and previously was manager of public relations for Pepperidge Farms.

The dinner meeting will be one of several activities planned to include spouses of seminar participants. Wives also will be guests of Whirlpool Corporation for a special tour of the firm's home economics division and will be told how to evaluate appliances and make better use of them.

Ed Francell, president of the Michiana AMA chapter, noted that the seminar is the first of its type planned by the local group.

Seminar speakers, representing leading manufacturing firms in the area, will include:

Ted Gorton, marketing manager for Wheelabrator Frye, Inc., of Mishawaka, who will discuss "Finding, Screening and Appraising New Industrial Products."

Dennis Gooding, manager of marketing services for the Dodge division of Reliance Electric company, Mishawaka, who will cover "The Introduction, Promotion and Distribution of New Industrial Products."

Chairman of the industrial products discussion will be Mike Chucta, manager of systems, engineering and technology assessment for the central development division of Clark Equipment in Cassopolis.

Consumer products seminars will be conducted by Marge E. Pannell, marketing planning manager for Whirlpool Corporation; Don Masini, director of market planning for Wheelhorse, South Bend; and Steve Thompson, manager of marketing services for the Starcraft Corporation, Goshen.

Cliff Ahonen of Marketing Consultants, Inc., Elkhart, will chair the consumer seminars.

Arrangements and reservations for the seminar are being handled by Larry Larson of Larry Larson Real Estate, Benton Harbor.

Will Celebrate 60th Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. HARRY DILLENBECK — 1975

MR. AND MRS. HARRY DILLENBECK — 1915

LAWRENCE — Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Dillenbeck will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday, Dec. 14, at an open house in the fellowship hall of First Congregational church, Lawrence.

Friends and relatives are invited to the event, which will be held from 2 to 5 p.m.

The former Opal V. Butcher and Dillenbeck were married Dec. 25, 1915, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A.K. Butcher in Lawrence. The Rev. H.H. Harris performed the ceremony.

They have both lived in Lawrence all their lives, having lived at their present address at route 1 for the past 56 years.

Dillenbeck is a retired farmer. He has been a Mason for 60 years, and Mrs. Dillenbeck is an honorary member of O-So-E-Z club of Lawrence. She is also a member of Hess Eastman Post, American Legion Ladies Auxiliary.

The Dillenbecks have five children, Mrs. Charles (Paula) McGuire, Paw Paw; Mrs. Gerald (Alice) Haney, Lawrence; Mrs. Fred (Sarah) Tinker, Hartford; Mrs. John (Mary) Timkovich, Kalamazoo, and Roger Dillenbeck, Battle Creek.

The couple has 14 grandchildren and 31 great-grandchildren.

Holiday Market Tips

Did you know that there are over 400 varieties of natural cheeses alone?

And at this time of year, many of the varieties are featured as special gift ideas and for special holiday treats and festivities. The protein in cheese is of the same high quality as the protein meat, fish and eggs, so you're also serving guests and family a highly nutritious product when you serve cheese.

If you're planning on turkey for the holiday dinner, allow one and one-half pounds per person of a ready-to-stuff bird, to allow for generous servings and plenty of leftovers for freezing. Avocados are in excellent supply this month so include them often for festive meals and parties.

They're rich in relatively unsaturated fruit oil and have a good content of Vitamin B. They're great for holiday party dips, like guacamole, or perfect for use in any salad.

They're especially good when used with slices of citrus fruits for special-looking salads, too.

Cranberries always add a sparkling, festive look to any holiday meal.

Buy berries that are firm, plump, fresh and with a high luster. Berries will differ in size, shape and color, according to variety, but each has a delicious flavor.

Refrigerate them in their original package until ready to use. Then wash and they're ready to pop into a salad or be used as an ingredient in any other dish.

To enjoy the full distinctive flavor of cheese, let all cheeses (except cottage cheese) stand at room temperature for 30 minutes before serving.

Koch and the former Dorothy Morgan were married Nov. 30, 1935, at the home of his sister, Mrs. Emma Skibbe in Eau Claire. They have resided in St. Joseph since their marriage.

For the past 28 years, Koch has been employed by Gast Manufacturing Corp., Benton Harbor. Mrs. Koch is employed by Inter-City Bank, Benton Harbor.

They are members of Trinity Lutheran church, St. Joseph. The couple has eight grandchildren.

Pair Wed 40 Years

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Dillingham, 1451 Lakeview avenue, St. Joseph, were honored at a dinner party Nov. 29, in celebration of their 40th wedding anniversary.

The event was held at the home of their son, William Dillingham, 2405 Langley, St. Joseph. Also hosting the event were the couple's other children, Mrs. Ralph (Elizabeth) Wright, Ogdensburg, N.Y., and Mrs. Wayne (Sara) Gugel, Atlanta, Ga.

The former Katherine Dale Wheaton and Dillingham were married Nov. 30, 1935, in Ogdensburg, N.Y., by the Rev. William C. McIntire.

They moved to the twin cities in 1958. Dillingham is president of Dillingham Real Estate, Inc., St. Joseph.

The couple has three grandchildren.

In Play At WKU

Patty Humbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Humbert, 533 Lasalle avenue, St. Joseph, is played the part of Pixie when Western Kentucky university's Children's Theatre presents "Marlin the Magnificent," a fantasy written by James C. Abrell.

The play was presented Friday through Dec. 5 through 7, in Theatre 100 of Gordon Wilson hall, WKU.

Directed by Marilyn Knight, a senior theatre and recreation major, the story centered around a lost magician, Marlin, and his two companions, Pixie, a mischievous elf, and Helper, a novice fairy godmother.

Miss Humbert is a junior theatre major at WKU.

Sunday Music Club Lists Performers

Sunday Music club will meet at the home of Mrs. Adolfs Langens, 1374 St. Joseph Circle, St. Joseph, at 7 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 14.

Will Celebrate 60th Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. HARRY DILLENBECK — 1975

MR. AND MRS. HARRY DILLENBECK — 1915

LAWRENCE — Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Dillenbeck will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday, Dec. 14, at an open house in the fellowship hall of First Congregational church, Lawrence.

Friends and relatives are invited to the event, which will be held from 2 to 5 p.m.

The former Opal V. Butcher and Dillenbeck were married Dec. 25, 1915, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A.K. Butcher in Lawrence. The Rev. H.H. Harris performed the ceremony.

They have both lived in Lawrence all their lives, having lived at their present address at route 1 for the past 56 years.

Dillenbeck is a retired farmer. He has been a Mason for 60 years, and Mrs. Dillenbeck is an honorary member of O-So-E-Z club of Lawrence. She is also a member of Hess Eastman Post, American Legion Ladies Auxiliary.

The Dillenbecks have five children, Mrs. Charles (Paula) McGuire, Paw Paw; Mrs. Gerald (Alice) Haney, Lawrence; Mrs. Fred (Sarah) Tinker, Hartford; Mrs. John (Mary) Timkovich, Kalamazoo, and Roger Dillenbeck, Battle Creek.

The couple has 14 grandchildren and 31 great-grandchildren.

Holiday Market Tips

Did you know that there are over 400 varieties of natural cheeses alone?

And at this time of year, many of the varieties are featured as special gift ideas and for special holiday treats and festivities. The protein in cheese is of the same high quality as the protein meat, fish and eggs, so you're also serving guests and family a highly nutritious product when you serve cheese.

If you're planning on turkey for the holiday dinner, allow one and one-half pounds per person of a ready-to-stuff bird, to allow for generous servings and plenty of leftovers for freezing.

Avocados are in excellent supply this month so include them often for festive meals and parties.

They're rich in relatively unsaturated fruit oil and have a good content of Vitamin B. They're great for holiday party dips, like guacamole, or perfect for use in any salad.

They're especially good when used with slices of citrus fruits for special-looking salads, too.

Cranberries always add a sparkling, festive look to any holiday meal.

Buy berries that are firm, plump, fresh and with a high luster. Berries will differ in size, shape and color, according to variety, but each has a delicious flavor.

Refrigerate them in their original package until ready to use. Then wash and they're ready to pop into a salad or be used as an ingredient in any other dish.

To enjoy the full distinctive flavor of cheese, let all cheeses (except cottage cheese) stand at room temperature for 30 minutes before serving.

REDISCOVER LINGERIE

With longer skirts and clingy dresses, the delicate lingerie women once wore is back in style. Rediscover the pleasure of silky fabric next to your skin.

Honor Kochs

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koch, 525 Howard avenue, St. Joseph, were honored Nov. 30 at a reception at the St. Joseph American Legion Hall in celebration of their 40th wedding anniversary.

Hosting the event were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Frank (Jayne) McCleary, Hulmeville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Koch, Mr. and Mrs. David Koch and Stephen Koch, St. Joseph; Mr. and Mrs. John Koch, Watervliet, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Koch, Bridgman.

Koch and the former Dorothy Morgan were married Nov. 30, 1935, at the home of his sister, Mrs. Emma Skibbe in Eau Claire. They have resided in St. Joseph since their marriage.

For the past 28 years, Koch has been employed by Gast Manufacturing Corp., Benton Harbor. Mrs. Koch is employed by Inter-City Bank, Benton Harbor.

They are members of Trinity Lutheran church, St. Joseph.

The couple has eight grandchildren.

Pair Wed 40 Years

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Dillingham, 1451 Lakeview avenue, St. Joseph, were honored at a dinner party Nov. 29, in celebration of their 40th wedding anniversary.

The event was held at the home of their son, William Dillingham, 2405 Langley, St. Joseph. Also hosting the event were the couple's other children, Mrs. Ralph (Elizabeth) Wright, Ogdensburg, N.Y., and Mrs. Wayne (Sara) Gugel, Atlanta, Ga.

The former Katherine Dale Wheaton and Dillingham were married Nov. 30, 1935, in Ogdensburg, N.Y., by the Rev. William C. McIntire.

They moved to the twin cities in 1958. Dillingham is president of Dillingham Real Estate, Inc., St. Joseph.

The couple has three grandchildren.

FIRST TOOTHPICK

The first known toothpick, believed to date back to 3,000 B.C., is Sumerian and fashioned of gold.

In Play At WKU

Patty Humbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Humbert, 533 Lasalle avenue, St. Joseph, is played the part of Pixie when Western Kentucky university's Children's Theatre presents "Marlin the Magnificent," a fantasy written by James C. Abrell.

The play was presented Friday through Dec. 5 through 7, in Theatre 100 of Gordon Wilson hall, WKU.

Directed by Marilyn Knight, a senior theatre and recreation major, the story centered around a lost magician, Marlin, and his two companions, Pixie, a mischievous elf, and Helper, a novice fairy godmother.

Miss Humbert is a junior theatre major at WKU.

Wed In Maryland

Miss Joan Carol Baer and Scott H. Anderson exchanged wedding vows Nov. 23 in West Chapel of University of Maryland, College Park. Rabbi Robert Saks performed the ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Baer of Baltimore, Md. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. K. Henry Anderson, 1625 Park drive, Benton Harbor.

The bride wore an ivory silk crepe gown trimmed with marabou and designed with a hooded cape and a train. She carried white orchids with white and red roses.

Mrs. Charles Smolkin was matron of honor.

Serving as best man was Michael Baer, brother of the bride.

A reception was held at the Gray Rock mansion, Baltimore.

The couple is making their home at 4213 Anthony street, Kensington, Md.

The bride received a degree in English from University of Maryland and her master's degree in library science from Indiana university. She is employed as a cataloguer of rare books at the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C. Her husband received his bachelor of arts degree from Williams college, Williamstown, Mass., and his law degree from the University of Indiana. He is employed in the Office of Civil Rights, General Services Administration, Washington, D.C.

Cancer Detection Program Offered

A breast cancer detection program, in which up to 15 women residents of Berrien county may participate, is being sponsored Dec. 15-19 in Ann Arbor, by the American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute, according to Charles Loud, executive director of the Berrien county cancer unit.

Interested women may register for appointments or seek more information by contacting the American Cancer Society's local unit located in St. Joseph between 8:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

To qualify for the program, a woman must be over 35 years of age, have no known lumps in her breast, and no referrals from physicians because of breast problems. An examination will include a thorough medical history, physical examination of the breasts and mammogram and a thermogram. The detection process takes several hours.

The Berrien county cancer office reports that this is a 10-year program. It includes examinations for the first five years and five more years of paper follow up. Participants must be willing to complete the program for acceptance, according to Loud. There is no charge.

Known as the "Michigan Project," results will be compared statistically with 19 other similar projects over the nation. Objectives include improved screening tests for breast cancer and more detection at an early stage.

Carol Festival Friday

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A Christmas carol festival will be presented by the Andrews university choral Friday, Dec. 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the AU campus church.

One of the selections on the program will be a suite of carols, "The Many Moods of Christmas," by Robert Shaw and Robert Russell Bennett.

Directing will be James Hanson, assistant professor of music. Soloists will be Marlene Lovenguth, soprano, junior music major; Barry Edwards, tenor, graduate music student, and Jean Trygstad, soprano, community resident.

David LaRondelle, senior Spanish major, will perform on the guitar. Keith Rasmussen, senior music major, will accompany at the pipe organ, and a woodwind ensemble will also perform with the chorus. Dr. Franklin Lusk, associate professor of music, will direct a women's ensemble during one portion of the program.

The university choral is comprised of 75 singers from AU and the community.

Broil Pears

Serve Breakfast Broil in the morning — it's quick and easy. Place well drained canned Bartlett pears on broiler pan. Combine equal parts of honey and butter with a dash of cinnamon and nutmeg.

Broil 5 minutes, brushing frequently with honey-butter mixture. Serve broiled pears over slices of toast.

AU Professor Co-Authors Biography

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The life story of the late William Foxwell Albright, known as the dean of Biblical archaeologists, is now available in a biography, which was co-authored by Dr. Leona Glidden Running of Andrews university.

The biography, "William Foxwell Albright, a Twentieth-Century Genius," was written by Dr. Running, professor of Biblical languages at AU, and Dr. David Noel Freedman, professor of Biblical studies at University of Michigan. Both authors were one-time associates of Albright.

During his career (beginning in 1916) as Semitics professor and archaeologist at Johns Hopkins university, Albright published some 1,100 items, from short book reviews to major works describing his excavations and research. He died in 1971 at the age of 80.

According to his biographers,

Albright, who had knowledge of 25 languages, was perhaps best known as the first American scholar to recognize the authenticity and value of the Dead Sea Scrolls.

As a specialist in Near Eastern history of Old Testament times, Albright changed his views radically on the reliability of the Bible; Drs. Running and Freedman say. He began his career believing that Old Testament stories were little more than ancient mythology. But with research, exploration, and excavation in Palestine from 1920 on, he soon came to appreciate the historical reliability of the Bible, the biographers say.

The biography quotes him as saying, "There is no reason to doubt the general accuracy of the biographical details and sketches of personality which make the Patriarchs come alive with a vividness unknown . . . in the whole vast literature of the ancient near east."

By writing and lecturing, he publicized these views far beyond his professional circles, hoping somehow to increase confidence in the Bible and thereby counter what he saw as a decline in morality, the biography says.

Drs. Running and Freedman pit his achievements against two severe physical handicaps that plagued Albright throughout his career — weak, myopic eyes since age of three, and a severely crippled left hand from age five.

But three-year-old William had already learned to read. And by age 10 he was poring through volumes of professional literature on history and theology. Albright later attributed his success to an over-compensation for his handicaps, which, he said, forced him to concentrate his energies.

By his death he had received 30 honorary doctorates and numerous other awards. According to Dr. Running, he was one of the last "universals," and "one of the greatest intellectuals and geniuses of the 20th century."

So lengthy and successful was his career that "his story becomes also, in miniature, the story of Biblical archaeology in Albright's career span," Dr. Running says.

During Albright's last year at Johns Hopkins as chairman (from 1929 to 1958) of the Oriental Seminary, now the department of Near Eastern studies, Dr. Running began her doctoral studies there under him. Seven years later, in 1964, she met him at a Biblical symposium at Notre Dame university, South Bend.

Though nearly blind with glaucoma, he recognized her and said, "I've been thinking of you. I wish I could get you to be my research assistant." The Andrews university board accordingly granted her a year's leave to help Albright prepare numerous manuscripts for publication.

Dr. Freedman studied under Albright from 1945 to 1948. Later Freedman worked with him on many publication projects, including (from 1956 until Albright's death) the well-known Anchor Bible series.

The biography is published by Two Continents/Morgan Press, New York, with 437 pages in hardcover.

ARCHAEOLOGIST'S STORY: Dr. Leona G. Running, professor of Biblical languages at Andrews university, has co-authored a biography of Dr. William Foxwell Albright, reputed to be the dean of Biblical archaeologists.

Neglected Diabetes Cause Of Neuropathy

KALAMAZOO — Neglected diabetes can destroy the sheaths which protect almost all the voluntary nerves in the human body, and these then lose the ability to carry orders and sensations.

The result is a condition, little known to diabetics or the general public, called diabetic neuropathy, which affects more than two million persons, a third of all the diabetics in the United States.

Dr. Charles R. Shuman, nationally known head of metabolism, Temple university hospital, Philadelphia, Pa., said Dec. 3 at a meeting of the Kalamazoo Unit of the American Diabetes Association: "If neglected, the neuropathy can give a diabetic a great deal of pain in his feet and legs; neglected long enough it can paralyze and damage both bowel and bladder functions."

"With proper and early care, however, many of the patients will improve or even be cured, but, neglected too long, recovery is often impossible," he said.

"Proper care consists of reducing and keeping blood sugar levels at normal, with insulin or other drugs. Often pain killers are necessary. In a way, the intense pain is fortunate, because it forces people who would otherwise neglect the neuropathy, to seek treatment before damage is irreversible."

Dr. Shuman has published 101 reports and discussions of metabolic research and diseases, of which diabetes is the great majority.

As he explains the condition: "A continuing excess of sugar in the blood damages the ability of the Schwann cells, located along the sheathed nerves, to manufacture myelin, the substance from which sheaths are formed. Without replacing myelin, the sheaths dissolve and disappear and the nerves fail to function. 'Actually,' he added, 'diabetics are fortunate that the sheathed nerves can heal and be rejuvenated; the unmyelinated nerves in the brain, the spinal cord and the involuntary system, once injured, never heal and can never function again.' The American Diabetes Association Michigan is a United Way agency."

Churches Council Meeting Thursday

But with research, exploration, and excavation in Palestine from 1920 on, he soon came to appreciate the historical reliability of the Bible, the biographers say.

The biography quotes him as saying, "There is no reason to doubt the general accuracy of the biographical details and sketches of personality which make the Patriarchs come alive with a vividness unknown . . . in the whole vast literature of the ancient near east."

By writing and lecturing, he publicized these views far beyond his professional circles, hoping somehow to increase confidence in the Bible and thereby counter what he saw as a decline in morality, the biography says.

Drs. Running and Freedman pit his achievements against two severe physical handicaps that plagued Albright throughout his career — weak, myopic eyes since age of three, and a severely crippled left hand from age five.

But three-year-old William had already learned to read. And by age 10 he was poring through volumes of professional literature on history and theology. Albright later attributed his success to an over-compensation for his handicaps, which, he said, forced him to concentrate his energies.

By his death he had received 30 honorary doctorates and numerous other awards. According to Dr. Running, he was one of the last "universals," and "one of the greatest intellectuals and geniuses of the 20th century."

So lengthy and successful was his career that "his story becomes also, in miniature, the story of Biblical archaeology in Albright's career span," Dr. Running says.

During Albright's last year at Johns Hopkins as chairman (from 1929 to 1958) of the Oriental Seminary, now the department of Near Eastern studies, Dr. Running began her doctoral studies there under him. Seven years later, in 1964, she met him at a Biblical symposium at Notre Dame university, South Bend.

Though nearly blind with glaucoma, he recognized her and said, "I've been thinking of you. I wish I could get you to be my research assistant." The Andrews university board accordingly granted her a year's leave to help Albright prepare numerous manuscripts for publication.

Dr. Freedman studied under Albright from 1945 to 1948. Later Freedman worked with him on many publication projects, including (from 1956 until Albright's death) the well-known Anchor Bible series.

The biography is published by Two Continents/Morgan Press, New York, with 437 pages in hardcover.

Neglected Diabetes Cause Of Neuropathy

KALAMAZOO — Neglected diabetes can destroy the sheaths which protect almost all the voluntary nerves in the human body, and these then lose the ability to carry orders and sensations.

The result is a condition, little known to diabetics or the general public, called diabetic neuropathy, which affects more than two million persons, a third of all the diabetics in the United States.

Dr. Charles R. Shuman, nationally known head of metabolism, Temple university hospital, Philadelphia, Pa., said Dec. 3 at a meeting of the Kalamazoo Unit of the American Diabetes Association: "If neglected, the neuropathy can give a diabetic a great deal of pain in his feet and legs; neglected long enough it can paralyze and damage both bowel and bladder functions."

"With proper and early care, however, many of the patients will improve or even be cured, but, neglected too long, recovery is often impossible," he said.

"Proper care consists of reducing and keeping blood sugar levels at normal, with insulin or other drugs. Often pain killers are necessary. In a way, the intense pain is fortunate, because it forces people who would otherwise neglect the neuropathy, to seek treatment before damage is irreversible."

Dr. Shuman has published 101 reports and discussions of metabolic research and diseases, of which diabetes is the great majority.

As he explains the condition: "A continuing excess of sugar in the blood damages the ability of the Schwann cells, located along the sheathed nerves, to manufacture myelin, the substance from which sheaths are formed. Without replacing myelin, the sheaths dissolve and disappear and the nerves fail to function. "Actually," he added, "diabetics are fortunate that the sheathed nerves can heal and be rejuvenated; the unsheathed nerves in the brain, the spinal cord and the involuntary system, once injured, never heal and can never function again."

The American Diabetes Association/Michigan is a United Way agency.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

'Scoring' Attitude At Fault

Dear Ann Landers: I'm not exactly a Women's Libber, but if I read one more "expert opinion" implying that aggressive females are responsible for male impotence, I think I'll go to the nearest busy intersection and burn my bra.

I'm deeply disappointed at your ready agreement with the 75-year-old ex-stud who said "permissiveness" is causing youthful impotency.

The idea that sex is a "performance" which the male does TO, not WITH, the female is neither natural nor universal. In other cultures women are free to express their sexual feelings openly. This expression does not threaten the men nor does it make them impotent. Obviously, the problem has something to do with an achievement-oriented approach to sex in which "scoring" is of great importance.

I'm not defending the frighteningly hard-boiled chick who insensitively stomps on a young man's feelings. I AM saying that she and the professional Don Juan deserve each other. If Don has finally met his match — hip, hip hooray. You can sign me — No Nostalgia For The Fifties.

Dear No Nostalgia: Thanks for expressing your point of view. This is a big world and one can always find some glaring exceptions to every rule.

My agreement with the "stud" was based on what I have read, heard, and seen these past ten years. One can no longer typecast the male as the hunter. The game has changed, dearie.

It's His Name

Dear Ann Landers: My husband's family is very prominent. His relatives have held public office, both national and state, and he is considering a political career.

A new raucous and vulgar radio personality has come on the local scene. His real name (which he uses professionally) sounds very similar to my husband's. People keep asking if he's a relative.

What can we do about it? — Miffed

Dear M.: If it's his real name there's very little you can do. Sometimes, even when the name is made up you can't do much. For example, the stripper Norma Vincent Peel has been enjoying her name for quite some time.

Write Today

Dear Ann Landers: I never thought the day would come but here it is. What do I do now?

I can honestly say I had a happy childhood with many advantages. Everything went along fine until my parents began to have problems. The result was a divorce. I sided with my father when the court asked me to say which parent I wanted to live with. My mother was very upset with my decision and we exchanged some harsh words. It was an awful scene.

It's two years later and I realize I made a mistake. I know now my father told me many things about my mother that weren't true. I also know he isn't the kind of person I thought he was.

I haven't spoken to my mother since that horrible day in court. What should I do? I couldn't bear to be rejected by her. — Bad Seed

Dear Friend: Write your mother today. Tell her exactly what you told me — minus the uncomplimentary remarks about your dad.

I'm willing to bet you she will be very happy to hear from you and she might even ask you to live with her. If she does, I hope you'll say yes. Good luck, dear.

Are drugs O.K. If you learn how to control them? Can they be of help? The answers are in Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (20 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

The Damaged Id

Erma Bombeck

There are still some surprises left in this world. In a time when traditions are being replaced by scientific advancements and know-how, 85 per cent of the parents pulled in California favor spanking in the schools.

Now they tell me. Just about the time I had my first child all the psychologists were coming out with their new theories on discipline. One day as I prepared to give my daughter a thump on the rump, a neighbor warned, "Do you want to permanently damage her id?"

Damage it! I didn't even know where it was. For all I knew it either made you sterile or caused dandruff. Maybe if the id were bruised she could never wear a bikini or short sleeves. One day there might be an id transplant, but back in the '50s, forget it!

By the time the others came along, I was knee-deep in psychology books. There was a passage in one of them I must have read a thousand times. It read, "When mother found Ted, age five, doodling on her living room wall, her first reaction was to pummel him. But he looked so scared that she could not bring herself to hit him. Instead she said, 'No Ted, walls are not for drawing. Paper is. Here are three sheets of paper.' And mother started cleaning up the wall. Ted was so overwhelmed that he said, 'I love you, Mommy.'"

One day mother found me on my knees (talking to my son, "No, Andy, the dryer is not for drying kitty's fur. The towel is. Here are three towels." As I started to give the cat mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, my son said, "You're weird, Mommy."

"It doesn't work out exactly as it does in the book," I told mother, "but it's close."

"That kid needs a rap," she said.

"At what price to his id?" she asked.

"At any price," she said. "What is this? Eddie Haskell, day at the Cleavers?"

"Mother," I sighed, "taking out your hostilities on children simply releases your pent-up emotions. You should never strike a child in anger."

"You got a better time?" she asked.

As far as I know corporal punishment hasn't left any scars. Of course, they wore four diapers until they were 15. I didn't want to take any chances with their ids.

Mrs. John Kliss is in charge of reservations.

Dr. Lester Coleman

I get corns on my little toes. They incapacitate me. My chiropractor says there is a new kind of treatment for them with silicone. Is this safe?

Miss H.B., N.C.

Dear Mrs. B.: A corn is a nature's protective device when constant pressure is made on the area by a poor-fitting shoe.

It must be remembered that loose-fitting shoes can be responsible, as well as tight-fitting shoes.

In a recent edition of the Archives of Dermatology, published by the American Medical Association, an interesting new form of treatment was suggested. Dr. S.W. Balkin, of Los Angeles, has been using injections of liquid silicone to relieve the severe pain of corns and calluses.

This may be the form of treatment that you refer to. It must be noted that in the article it is stated, "The silicone used by Dr. Balkin was obtained in 1963 prior to the Food and Drug Administration regulations and ban on shipments of the product."

Dr. Balkin says, "The material is not generally available for use by physicians at this time."

You should, under the circumstances, concentrate on protecting your feet with properly fitting shoes and foam pads, in order to reduce your "miseries."

The tips of my fingers have been getting thicker over the years. My brother had the same thing when he was my age. I am 52.

Mr. E.E.R., W. Va.

DEAR Mr. R.: There may be some hereditary factor. Yet I do believe that this condition, known as "clubbing" of the fingers, should be investigated from another point of view.

A relationship exists between clubbing of the fingers and chronic lung conditions. Bronchitis, emphysema, and bronchiectasis have been known to be associated with clubbing of the fingers.

This is easy to check by X-ray and general examination.

Is there a special age when a child born with cleft palate should have an operation?

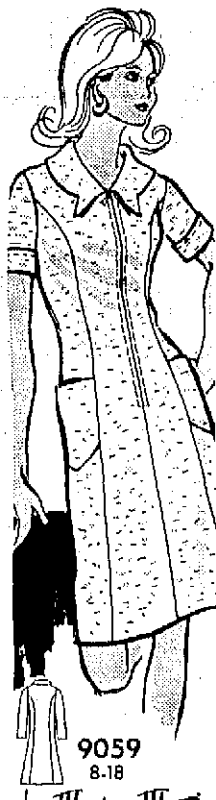

Mrs. J.D., Iowa

Dear Mrs. D.: Remarkably delicate operations are now being performed by "microscopic" surgery for cleft palate and harelip.

The advances of modern anesthesia make the operation a very safe one, even at the earliest age. The choice of time varies with the individual child and the judgment of the surgeon.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Jim: "We have been getting so many questions about the standard American forcing two bid that we might well discuss that bid."

Oswald: "The great advantage of that bid is that it is so nice when you get one."

Jim: "There are three general requirements. The first is a hand that will make or almost make game by itself. The second is slam possibilities and the third is enough high-card strength so that you fear a one bid may be passed out."

Oswald: "South had 20 high-card points and nine winners. He decides to open two spades. North raises to three and South sees no harm in cue bidding his clubs to see what North will do."

Jim: "The rest of the bidding is very study. North shows his diamond ace and second-round heart control after South cue bids in that suit. South cue bids in that suit. South's six-club bid is an attempt to get North to show second-round diamond control, but North just bids six spades."

Oswald: "Six makes easily and the partnership has kept out of the impossible grand slam."

Ask the Jacobys

A Florida reader wants to know the worst bid made in a slam auction.

There was no particular worst bid, but one player went through a series of complicated bidding maneuvers when he could have simply raised his partner's suit. It was failure to use "KISS" (Keep It Simple Stupid) that led to the trouble.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Damage it! I didn't even know where it was. For all I knew it either made you sterile or caused dandruff. Maybe if the id were bruised she could never wear a bikini or short sleeves. One day there might be an id transplant, but back in the '50s, forget it!

By the time the others came along, I was knee-deep in psychology books. There was a passage in one of them I must have read a thousand times. It read, "When mother found Ted, age five, doodling on her living room wall, her first reaction was to pummel him. But he looked so scared that she could not bring herself to hit him. Instead she said, 'No Ted, walls are not for drawing. Paper is. Here are three sheets of paper.' And mother started cleaning up the wall. Ted was so overwhelmed that he said, 'I love you, Mommy.'"

One day mother found me on my knees talking to my son. "No, Andy, the dryer is not for drying kitty's fur. The towel is. Here are three towels." As I started to give the cat mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, my son said, "You're weird, Mommy." "It doesn't work out exactly as it does in the book," I told mother, "but it's close."

"That kid needs a rap," she said.

"At what price to his id?" said.

"At any price," she said. "What is this? Eddie Haskell day at the Cleavers'?"

"Mother," I sighed, "taking out your hostilities on children simply releases your pent-up emotions. You should never strike a child in anger."

"You got a better time?" she asked.

As far as I know corporal punishment hasn't left any scars. Of course, they wore four diapers until they were 15. I didn't want to take any chances with their ids.

Jim: "We have been getting so many questions about the standard American forcing two bid that we might well discuss that bid."

Oswald: "The great advantage of that bid is that it is so nice when you get one."

Jim: "There are three general requirements. The first is a hand that will make or almost make game by itself. The second is slam possibilities and the third is enough high-card strength so that you fear a one bid may be passed out."

Oswald: "South had 20 high-card points and nine winners. He decides to open two spades. North raises to three and South sees no harm in cue bidding his clubs to see what North will do."

Jim: "The rest of the bidding is worth study. North shows his diamond ace and second-round heart control after South cue bids in that suit. South cue bids in that suit. South's six-club bid is an attempt to get North to show second-round diamond control, but North just bids six spades."

Oswald: "Six makes easily and the partnership has kept out of the impossible grand slam."

There was no particular worst bid, but one player went through a series of complicated bidding maneuvers when he could have simply raised his partner's suit. It was failure to use "KISS" (Keep it Simple Stupid) that led to the trouble.

I get corns on my little toes. They incapacitate me. My chiropodist says there is a new kind of treatment for them with silicone. Is this safe?

Miss H.B., N.C.

Dear Miss B.: A corn is nature's protective device when constant pressure is made on the area by a poor-fitting shoe.

It must be remembered that loose-fitting shoes can be responsible, as well as tight-fitting shoes.

In a recent edition of the Archives of Dermatology, published by the American Medical Association, an interesting new form of treatment was suggested. Dr. S.W. Balkin, of Los Angeles, has been using injections of liquid silicone to relieve the severe pain of corns and calluses.

This may be the form of treatment that you refer to. It must be noted that in the article it is stated, "The silicone used by Dr. Balkin was obtained in 1963 prior to the Food and Drug Administration regulations and ban on shipments of the product."

Dr. Balkin says, "The material is not generally available for use by physicians at this time."

You should, under the circumstances, concentrate on protecting your feet with properly fitting shoes and foam pads, in order to reduce your "miseries."

The tips of my fingers have been getting thicker over the years. My brother had the same thing when he was my age. I am 52.

Mr. E.E.R., W. Va.

DEAR Mr. R.: There may be some hereditary factor. Yet I do believe that this condition, known as "clubbing" of the fingers, should be investigated from another point of view.

A relationship exists between clubbing of the fingers and chronic lung conditions. Bronchitis, emphysema, and bronchiectasis have been known to be associated with clubbing of the fingers.

This is easy to check by X-ray and general examination.

Is there a special age when a child born with cleft palate should have an operation?

Mrs. J.D., Iowa

Dear Mrs. D.: Remarkably delicate operations are now being performed by "microscopic" surgery for cleft palate and harelip.

The advances of modern anesthesia make the operation a very safe one, even at the earliest age. The choice of time varies with the individual child and the judgment of the surgeon.

PSC Plans Study To Cut Landlord Utility Losses

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Landlords have it tough too, and the state Public Service Commission that sets utility rates is sympathetic.

But a PSC study of landlords and trailer park owners who buy power to resell to their tenants is likely to result in bigger utility bills for everyone, say PSC staff members. PSC analyst Sandy Yonker said landlords, condominium and trailer park owners who buy centrally-metered power have complained they are losing money by having to resell gas and electric power to their tenants at lower rates.

dividually, Ms. Yonker said. That would cost money for the utility, and ultimately the ratepayer.

Ms. Yonker said she thinks "a whole bunch of rate cases" will result from the probe, expected to take at least a year.

"While it doesn't seem fair to charge everybody for the problems of some, there may not be any way else to do it," she said.

The problem arose a year ago when utilities began charging flat rates. That meant landlords, who earlier paid less per power unit, because they bought more, suddenly had to pay more for their total power supply because each unit cost the same.

But according to their contracts with utilities, they could not charge tenants for the power at rates high enough to let landlords recover their expense.

Yonker said utilities are worried that rate changes to ease the landlords' financial problems will create bigger money problems for the utilities and, ultimately, the average gas and electric user.

The PSC was expected to approve today a study of ways to lessen landlords' losses. The study also will try to clarify a complex relationship between the utility, the landlord and the tenant.

For example, what does a utility do if the landlord fails to pay his utility bills, but the tenants faithfully pay their rent, which includes charges for power? Can the utility justly turn off the heat or light?

The problem could be serious if landlords who lose too much money in their power-providing role cancel out of the centrally-metered system, said Ms. Yonker.

"That would force utilities, in many cases, to install new pipes or powerlines or change equipment to serve each tenant in-

Rocket And Mortar Duels Paralyze Lebanese Capital

By EDWARD CODY
Associated Press Writer
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Heavy fighting between Beirut's Moslem and Christian armies paralyzed the Lebanese capital today for the second successive day.

The government warned residents to stay off the streets and closed schools and all public offices.

There were savage rocket and mortar duels during the night between the Christian stronghold of Ein Rumannoh and the neighboring Moslem area of Chiyah, one of the chief battlegrounds in the eight-month-old civil war.

There was small-arms and rocket fire all morning in several other areas, including the middle-class Qantari district and the seaside hotel area that was the center of fighting three weeks ago.

Heavy explosions from shoulder-fired grenades boomed out there and in the downtown commercial center near the palm-fringed Martyr's Square that was once the center of Middle East commerce.

The outnumbered, outgunned security forces stayed out of the combat zones, and there was no accurate estimate of casualties.

For seven hours, firemen were unable to get to a fire in the fuel oil tanks of the Qantari building housing the offices of The Associated Press. They worked their way in by late morning and put out the fire, but smoke still filled the building, and gunmen battling in the streets prevented movement in the area.

Premier Rashid Karami summoned his cabinet to discuss Interior Minister Camille Chamoun's demand for declaration of a state of emergency. That would provide an opening for use of the 18,000-man army for the first time, but Karami is a Moslem, and the Moslems oppose intervention by the army because most of its officers are Christians, as Chamoun is.

The fighting resumed Saturday after Christians and Moslems massacred more than 50 persons they stopped at roadblocks. The right-wing Christian Phalange party claimed the Moslems murdered four Phalangists, Christian militiamen began executing Moslems in retaliation, and this resulted in more Moslem murders of Christians. The Phalangists admitted to 40 of the 56 executions reported but said their men acted against the orders of their officers.

The renewal of hostilities shattered a two-week ceasefire, the 13th since civil war broke out in April.

Moslem members of Karami's cease-fire committee boycotted peacemaking efforts to emphasize their demand that the Phalangists turn over two men they blamed for the murders Saturday. They were Sheikh Bashir Gemayel, son of Phalange party chief Pierre Gemayel, and Joseph Saade, technical director of the French language newspaper L'Orient-Le Jour, whose son was one of the four Phalangists murdered first.

Foreigners Paying A Heavy Price

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — At least 35 noncombatant foreigners have been killed, kidnapped, wounded or raped in Lebanon's eight-month-old civil war.

Most of them got in the way of machine-gun exchanges, were hit by sniper fire or fell prey to the wave of lawlessness which has grown with the fighting.

Robert Mardrossian, 45, second secretary at the Soviet Embassy, was wounded in the face, chest and spine by machine-gun fire Saturday as he drove through the downtown hotel district with a colleague. The other Russian was slightly injured.

Police said the gunmen were firing indiscriminately at passing cars, and the Russians apparently were not targets because of their nationality.

However, four Americans were kidnapped for political reasons.

Two members of the U.S. Embassy staff are still being held, presumably by leftist Moslems, after six weeks of captivity.

Boy, 3, Dies In Detroit Fire

DETROIT (AP) — A 3-year-old boy died in a fire on Detroit's East Side Saturday, police said. Three other persons were pulled from the house and treated.

The dead child was identified as Sandesh Sutton. His mother, brother and sister were hospitalized for treatment from smoke inhalation.

Donor Bill Bogs Down

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A measure that calls for showing on driver's licenses those persons who wish to donate their organs to medicine is bogged down in the legislature. Supporters say the aim of the bill is to enable a faster identification of potential donors who are involved in traffic accidents. Traffic accidents are a source of many of the organs used in surgical transplants. The measure was approved by the House earlier this year, but later was found unacceptable by House members after it was amended in the Senate. House and Senate lawmakers will now attempt to work out their differences in a conference committee.

Most of them got in the way of machine-gun exchanges, were hit by sniper fire or fell prey to the wave of lawlessness which has grown with the fighting.

Robert Mardirossian, 45, second secretary at the Soviet Embassy, was wounded in the face, chest and spine by machine-gun fire Saturday as he drove through the downtown hotel district with a colleague. The other Russian was slightly injured.

Police said the gunmen were firing indiscriminately at passing cars, and the Russians apparently were not targets because of their nationality.

However, four Americans were kidnaped for political reasons.

Two members of the U.S. Embassy staff are still being held, presumably by leftist Moslems, after six weeks of captivity.

Boy, 3, Dies In Detroit Fire

DETROIT (AP) — A 3-year-old boy died in a fire on Detroit's East Side Saturday, police said. Three other persons were pulled from the house and treated.

The dead child was identified as Sandesh Sutton. His mother, brother and sister were hospitalized for treatment from smoke inhalation.

Cause of the blaze was not known.

Ford Calls Asian Trip 'Beneficial'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford turns his attention to domestic matters this week after proclaiming his Asian trip "beneficial" and indicating that plans are in the works for a trip to the Middle East.

Ford returned to the White House early this morning after a 27,000-mile trip that he said contained "no minuses and many, many plusses." He climaxed his journey in Honolulu with a declaration of a six-point "Pacific Doctrine" for U.S. foreign policy and held out the possibility of future U.S. friendship with Vietnam and Cambodia.

More Filibustering Promised On NYC

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate faces more filibustering as it decides whether to come up with $2.3 billion to pay for the emergency loans to New York City that the lawmakers authorized over the weekend.

The actual money is contained in a $10.3-billion supplemental appropriations bill before the Senate today.

The bill authorizing the federal loans, but not appropriating the money, was approved 97 to 30 by the Senate early Saturday. The House had approved the loan earlier in the week following President Ford's statement that he would sign such a bill.

Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., who opposes the aid plan, tied up the Senate for 14 hours Friday before it passed the loan authorization bill. He has promised another filibuster against the money bill.

Senate leaders already have filed a cloture petition to end debate on the motion to bring the money bill to the floor. Sixty votes are required to end debate.

Over the weekend, Allen said he is not trying to hurt New York with his parliamentary moves.

"In all sincerity, I'm not trying to embarrass New York on this thing ... The Senate hasn't had a chance to shape the bill," he said. "It's not a question of whether they're going to get the money, but when."

Even if a filibuster fails, the money bill probably cannot make its way through both the Senate and the House by the tentative deadline of Thursday when millions of dollars of city bonds are due.

However, New York state and city officials say the deadline is flexible because holders of New York City bonds would likely wait for the appropriations bill to get congressional approval and President Ford's signature before presenting their notes for payment.

New York Gov. Hugh Carey said Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press" that there is no likelihood the city will go bankrupt. "It's not a probability unless the system breaks

Washington Tax Feud Seen Ending

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fight between President Ford and Congress that could mean higher taxes for most Americans next month may be resolved in a way that would allow both sides to save face.

The answer may become evident Wednesday when the Senate Finance Committee begins work on a House-passed bill carrying $13 billion in individual tax cuts, mainly extensions of tax cuts in effect this year.

Unless that bill becomes law by the end of the month, most Americans will see their take-home pay reduced starting in January.

Meanwhile, as Congress begins what is expected to be the next-to-last week of the 1975 session, both houses will devote time to New York City's financial problems.

Later in the week, the House will vote on the final version of an energy bill. Although the measure does not go as far toward U.S. energy independence as Ford has asked, his chief energy advisor, Frank G. Zarb, has urged that he sign it. Zarb told the Washington Post that he will remain in his post even if Ford rejects his advice.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, meanwhile, is opening hearings into the nomination of Judge John Paul Stevens of Chicago to succeed retired Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

On the issue of tax cuts, Ford and Congress agree on the need for extending the cuts that went into effect last spring. But the President says he will veto any tax cut that is not tied to a fiscal year that begins next Oct. 1.

Democratic leaders insist it is not practical to set spending levels 10 months in advance. Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, has indicated he may go along with a plan that would extend the tax cuts for only three or four months, rather than for the full year. Then, at the end of that period, Congress conceivably could agree to the spending limitation and renew the tax cut for the rest of the year.

Such a compromise might be acceptable to Ford and thus avert another veto confrontation with the Democratic-controlled Congress.

The shorter initial tax-cut extension also might help liberals who insist on ending various advantages that allow some businessmen and wealthy investors to avoid large sums of federal taxes.

In passing the tax-cut bill last week, the House also voted to end about $3 billion of those advantages. But the Senate is expected to strip the House bill of those provisions and do nothing in the short run except extend the tax cuts that went into effect earlier this year.

Ford Calls Asian Trip 'Beneficial'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford turns his attention to domestic matters this week after proclaiming his Asian trip "beneficial" and indicating that plans are in the works for a trip to the Mideast.

Ford returned to the White House early this morning after a 27,000-mile trip that he said contained "no minuses and many, many plusses." He climaxed his journey in Honolulu with a declaration of a six-point "Pacific Doctrine" for U.S. foreign policy and held out the possibility of future U.S. friendship with Vietnam and Cambodia.

Chatting with reporters just before his jet landed at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Ford was asked if he felt it had been necessary for him to personally make the long journey to China, he replied: "The discussions we had in Peking were mandatory at my level."

Ford said he felt the talks in Indonesia and the Philippines also needed to be conducted at the heads-of-government level.

A reporter, mindful of rumors that Ford now plans to travel to the Mideast early next year, asked about any such plans.

"There are no definite plans," the President replied. But he added that he probably would go to the Mideast "at some point."

Ford said he found his talks in Peking, Jakarta and Manila were "very substantively beneficial."

Ford flew home from Honolulu where he chose the anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor to reveal his "Pacific Doctrine" in a speech in Honolulu.

"The first premise of a new Pacific doctrine is that American strength is basic to any stable balance of power in the Pacific," Ford said. And, noting Japan's transition from enemy to friend, the President held out the chance of U.S. friendship for Cambodia and Vietnam, saying:

"Our policies toward the new regimes on the (Indochinese) peninsula will be determined by their conduct toward us. We are prepared to reciprocate goodwill — particularly the return of the remains of Americans killed or missing in action, or information about them. If they exhibit restraint toward their neighbors and constructive approaches to international problems, we will look to the future rather than the past."

Back in the capital, Ford is facing decisions on a variety of issues and is expected to sign a bill to provide emergency assistance to help solve New York's fiscal crisis.

Congress is still struggling with tax and energy measures which could draw another pair of presidential vetoes.

Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb has urged approval of the energy bill which would temporarily lower oil prices, but some conservatives oppose the measure and Ford's campaign director, Howard H. Callaway suggested Sunday that the President might be well advised politically to veto the measure.

Callaway also suggested a veto of the tax measure where Ford is insisting that spending cuts be tacked onto tax reductions and Congress is resisting the idea.

Rules Adopted By State GOP

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Republican presidential candidates will get a share of the Michigan GOP delegation in proportion to their statewide performance in the 1976 primary, under rules adopted this weekend.

The Republican State Central Committee adopted the rules Saturday for the party to use under an expected change in the state's primary laws. The change is now awaiting action in the Michigan Legislature.

However, New York state and city officials say the deadline is flexible because holders of New York City bonds would likely wait for the appropriations bill to get congressional approval and President Ford's signature before presenting their notes for payment.

New York Gov. Hugh Carey said Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press" that there is no likelihood the city will go bankrupt. "It's not a probability unless the system breaks down," Carey said. He also said the city will not be back to the federal government for more help.

"We need a new spirit in the city ... We won't be back for a bail-out again ... We're going to make it," Carey said.

One of the key elements that would keep New York City from having to pay millions in interest and principal on its bonds Thursday is a recent New York State law that requires the city to pay only an interest fee of $37 million instead of a total amount of $437 million.

Milliken May Not Get Say In 'Seafarer'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A U.S. Navy spokesman has indicated Gov. William Milliken may not be given a voice in the decision involving a possible Michigan site for the controversial Project Seafarer.

"This will be a matter for Congress to decide," Lt. Cmdr. Norman Karns told an American Legion Post audience here Friday night.

In Lansing, a spokesman for the governor's office said, however, a high-ranking Defense Department official reaffirmed just last week that Milliken would have a veto over the submarine communications system.

"As far as Assistant Secretary for Defense Thomas Reed is concerned, the governor has a veto," the spokesman said.

"If in fact military people on the scene are claiming the governor's wishes will be ignored we will have to get further clarification from Secretary of Defense Rumsfeld.

"The Navy never will get this project built if it insists on a 'dammit the people, full speed ahead' attitude."

Milliken has said he is becoming increasingly skeptical about Project Seafarer.

Opponents contend electromagnetic fields from the extremely low-frequency system could have a harmful effect on plant, animal and human life.

In his speech to the American Legion group, Karns said the views of the governor would be taken into consideration.

"I would say the Department of Defense will make a recommendation on this site and certainly the desires of the congressional delegation and the governor...will play a most important role in that decision," Karns said.

Meanwhile, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., says he plans to seek an inquiry into why the Navy had not told Congress about a 1973 report on Project Seafarer, which he said contained strong evidence that the communications system would pose health hazards.

Nelson said the report indicated the electro-magnetic radiation from the underground cables in the system could raise blood pressures and increase the level of triglycerides, a substance found in the blood and linked to heart attacks.

The project would be used to communicate with submerged submarines in virtually any ocean in the world during time of nuclear war.

"It appears that the Navy kept the wraps on the existence of this report because it contains the very first scientific evidence that the Seafarer indeed would have an adverse environmental impact," he said.

Kleppe Pro-Dunes

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — U.S. Interior Secretary Thomas Kleppe said Saturday he would seek additional federal funds to acquire more land for the Sleeping Bear National Dunes lake shore near Traverse City. Kleppe said he also would request an increase in the operating funds for the park. Two Michigan congressmen and officials of the state Department of Natural Resources officials met with Kleppe in Cadillac to urge the federal government provide funding for the land acquisition.

"Up to this moment, this was a matter of concern and conjecture. Now there is hard evidence that must be pursued."

Nelson said the report by a seven-member panel was not classified secret, but the Navy simply did not tell anyone about it.

Nelson also said he would demand an independent review of the Navy's biomedical research on the system, including any that might be classified.

A Senate-House conference committee now is considering legislation which would appropriate $21.3 million for Seafarer research this year. Just more than $1 million of that currently is designated for environmental research.

All Signs Point To Confirmation

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — As Congress takes up the nomination of John Paul Stevens to the Supreme Court, all signs point to his confirmation to succeed retired Justice William O. Douglas.

In advance of today's open hearing before the Senate Judiciary Committee, Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he planned a brief executive session to discuss the handling of tax returns and financial and health statements submitted by Stevens.

"Some members want Stevens' state and federal income tax returns for the last 10 years and his financial statement to be analyzed by the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation."

But Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Nebr., the committee's ranking minority member, said it was neither necessary nor desirable "to farm out" its responsibility to another panel. He said the Judiciary Committee was "perfectly capable" of handling it, while referring the material to the other committee would just slow the confirmation proceedings.

Stevens, now a judge on the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago, has been nominated by President Ford to fill the Supreme Court vacancy left by Douglas' retirement on Nov. 12 because of ill health.

The nomination was submitted to the Senate a week ago. Ford urged prompt confirmation so the court can be brought to full strength.

Although Judiciary Committee members seem favorably disposed to the nomination, some have questioned whether it can be brought to a Senate floor vote before Congress adjourns within the next two weeks.

Health News...

GOUT-Disease of Kings And Subjects too...

Probably one of the most misinterpreted words in the medical dictionary is Gout. What it is and what it means were the basis for questions put to Dr. Vince Ackerman of the Ackerman Chiropractic Center.

"The word 'gout' is, to be sure, misunderstood," says Dr. Ackerman. "For some, I suppose, it's Brooklynesque for 'Get out of here.'"

However, this so-called Disease of Kings, is a prevalent problem in today's society and more people should be aware of it... its signs and importance of treatment."

According to Dr. Ackerman, gout is often a disease suffered by the middle-aged businessman or woman in affluent society. "It's a disease of stress... that is a more important consideration than diet," says Dr. Ackerman.

And a study of 113 University of Michigan professors bears him out. They indicated "higher than average levels of uric acid" that seemed directly related "with their personal characteristics of drive, achievement and leadership."

"I've found that gout attacks occur immediately after some form of stress," says Dr. Ackerman. "Of course, diet (once thought to be the sole cause of gout) can play a role," he continues. "For instance, inadequate diet can impose sufficient stress to cause an attack."

"For that matter," he notes, "suppressed anger can be an important factor in causing gout."

"The formation of uric acid crystals in the joints is the medical cause of gouty arthritis," Dr. Ackerman points out. "One of the most typical signs is the painful swelling of the big toe."

"However, it can also be signified by neurological pain, joint or arm pain, chills, headache, fever, or shoulder or low back pain," he adds.

One of the most significant things to remember about gouty arthritis is that it is among the most common forms of arthritis and as the uric acid crystals can be broken down with proper therapy and diet, arthritis should investigate the possibility of the gout causing their problem.

"Gout can be treated effectively," says Dr. Ackerman. "But once again, I must remind that the effectiveness is often directly related to the time of treatment. If a person has bouts with the symptoms described, they should find out if theirs is a gout problem."

"Particularly in the case of the enlarged, painful toe," he states. "It may sound humorous, but there's nothing funny about gout in its advanced stages. Totally ignoring a sign of gout is an open invitation to crippling for life," Dr. Ackerman warns.

Milliken May Not Get Say In 'Seafarer'

L'ANSE, Mich. (AP) — A U.S. Navy spokesman has indicated Gov. William Milliken may not be given a voice in the decision involving a possible Michigan site for the controversial Project Seafarer.

"This will be a matter for Congress to decide," Lt. Cmdr. Norman Karns told an American Legion Post audience here Friday night.

In Lansing, a spokesman for the governor's office said, however, a high-ranking Defense Department official reaffirmed just last week that Milliken would have a veto over the submarine communications system.

"As far as Assistant Secretary for Defense Thomas Reed is concerned, the governor has a veto," the spokesman said.

"If in fact military people on the scene are claiming the governor's wishes will be ignored we will have to get further clarification from Secretary of Defense Rumfeld.

"The Navy never will get this project built if it insists on a 'damn the people, full speed ahead' attitude."

Milliken has said he is becoming increasingly skeptical about Project Seafarer.

Opponents contend electromagnetic fields from the extremely low-frequency system could have a harmful effect on plant, animal and human life.

In his speech to the American Legion group, Karns said the views of the governor would be taken into consideration.

"I would say the Department of Defense will make a recommendation on this site and certainly the desires of the congressional delegation and the governor...will play a most important role in that decision," Karns said.

Meanwhile, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., says he plans to seek an inquiry into why the Navy had not told Congress about a 1973 report on Project Seafarer, which he said contained strong evidence that the communications system would pose health hazards.

Nelson said the report indicated the electro-magnetic radiation from the underground cables in the system could raise blood pressures and increase the level of triglycerides, a substance found in the blood and linked to heart attacks.

The project would be used to communicate with submerged submarines in virtually any ocean in the world during time of nuclear war.

"It appears that the Navy kept the wraps on the existence of this report because it contains the very first scientific evidence that the Seafarer indeed would have an adverse environmental impact," he said.

Kleppe Pro-Dunes

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — U.S. Interior Secretary Thomas Kleppe said Saturday he would seek additional federal funds to acquire more land for the Sleeping Bear National Dunes lake shore near Traverse City. Kleppe said he also would request an increase in the operating funds for the park. Two Michigan congressmen and officials of the state Department of Natural Resources officials met with Kleppe in Cadillac to urge the federal government provide funding for the land acquisition.

"Up to this moment, this was a matter of concern and conjecture. Now there is hard evidence that must be pursued."

Nelson said the report by a seven-member panel was not classified secret, but the Navy simply did not tell anyone about it.

Nelson also said he would demand an independent review of the Navy's biomedical research on the system, including any that might be classified.

A Senate-House conference committee now is considering legislation which would appropriate $21.3 million for Seafarer research this year. Just more than $1 million of that currently is designated for environmental research.

All Signs Point To Confirmation

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — As Congress takes up the nomination of John Paul Stevens to the Supreme Court, all signs point to his confirmation to succeed retired Justice William O. Douglas.

In advance of today's open hearing before the Senate Judiciary Committee, Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he planned a brief executive session to discuss the handling of tax returns and financial and health statements submitted by Stevens.

Some members want Stevens' state and federal income tax returns for the last 10 years and his financial statement to be analyzed by the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation.

But Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., the committee's ranking minority member, said it was neither necessary nor desirable "to farm out" its responsibility to another panel. He said the Judiciary Committee was "perfectly capable" of handling it, while referring the material to the other committee would just slow the confirmation proceedings.

Stevens, now a judge on the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago, has been nominated by President Ford to fill the Supreme Court vacancy left by Douglas' retirement on Nov. 12 because of ill health.

The nomination was submitted to the Senate a week ago. Ford urged prompt confirmation so the court can be brought to full strength.

Although Judiciary Committee members seem favorably disposed to the nomination, some have questioned whether it can be brought to a Senate floor vote before Congress adjourns within the next two weeks.

Health News... GOUT-Disease of Kings And Subjects too . . .

Probably one of the most misinterpreted words in the medical dictionary is Gout. What it is and what it means were the basis for questions put to Dr. Vince Ackerman of the Ackerman Chiropractic Center.

"The Word 'gout' is, to be sure, misunderstood," says Dr. Ackerman. "For some, I suppose, it's Brooklynes for 'Get out of here.' However, this so-called Disease of Kings, is a prevalent problem in today's society and more people should be aware of it . . . its signs and importance of treatment."

According to Dr. Ackerman, gout is often a disease suffered by the middle-aged businessman or woman in affluent society. "It's a disease of stress . . . that is a more important consideration than diet," says Dr. Ackerman.

And a study of 113 University of Michigan professors bears him out. They indicated "higher than average levels of uric acid" that seemed directly related "with their personal characteristics of drive, achievement and leadership."

"I've found that gout attacks occur immediately after some form of stress," says Dr. Ackerman. "Of course, diet (once thought to be the sole cause of gout) can play a role," he continues. "For instance, inadequate diet can impose sufficient stress to cause an attack.

"For that matter," he notes, "suppressed anger can be an important factor in causing gout."

"The formation of uric acid crystals in the joints is the medical cause of gouty arthritis," Dr. Ackerman points out. "One of the most typical signs is the painful swelling of the big toe."

"However, it can also be signified by neurological pain, joint or arm pain, chills, headache, fever, or shoulder or low back pain," he adds.

One of the most significant things to remember about gouty arthritis is that it is among the most common forms of arthritis and as the uric acid crystals can be broken down with proper therapy and diet, arthritis should investigate the possibility of the gout causing their problem.

"Gout can be treated effectively," says Dr. Ackerman. "But once again, I must remind that the effectiveness is often directly related to the time of treatment. If a person has bouts with the symptoms described, they should find out if theirs is a gout problem."

"Particularly in the case of the enlarged, painful toe," he states. "It may sound humorous, but there's nothing funny about gout in its advanced stages. Totally ignoring a sign of gout is an open invitation to crippling for life," Dr. Ackerman warns.

Could it be that gout is called the disease of kings because of the "reign of terror" that can follow its first signs?

Crashes Kill 7

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two Rose City youths died Sunday when their car ran off a road in Ogemaw County, according to Michigan State Police. The fatalities brought the number of persons killed in traffic accidents over the weekend to seven, state officials said.

Woman's Bond Set

At $25,000

PAW PAW — A Covert woman charged with murder in the shooting death of her husband was ordered held in lieu of $25,000 bond Saturday pending formal arraignment today in the Seventh district court at South Haven.

Judge William C. Buhl set the bond in the case of Mrs. Demetree Hudson, 30, who was arrested at her home Friday afternoon after police found the body of her husband, Edward, 39, on the floor.

She told Judge Buhl she would seek her own attorney. Hudson was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. O.T. Lorenz, South Haven, a Van Buren deputy medical examiner.

Police were summoned to the scene by an anonymous tip. Covert township police Chief Robert Kelnhofer said the shooting apparently stemmed from an argument, but that Mrs. Hudson has refused to elaborate.

Funeral services for Mr. Hudson, were to be held this afternoon at 2 p.m. at Calvin funeral home, Covert. Burial was to be in Lakeview cemetery.

He had lived in Covert for three years, coming from Gary, Ind.

Surviving in addition to his wife are two daughters, Edith and Letta, both at home; his father, Edward Hudson Sr., Saginaw; and a sister, Mrs. Lois Hutton, Bangor.

DETROIT BLAST
DETROIT (AP) — The United Tae Kwon Do karate school was demolished and three other buildings were damaged by an explosion of unknown origin Saturday. Three persons, including a cab driver, were injured slightly in the incident on the city's East Side.

Today In MICHIGAN

No Change Of Venue

DETROIT (AP) — There will be no change of venue for the trial of a Detroit man charged with shooting a black youth in an incident which touched off two days of racial unrest last summer, a judge has ruled. Recorder's Court Judge Clarence Laster said Friday a public survey paid for by Andrew Chinnarion failed to show "any deep and bitter prejudice in the community against Mr. Chinnarion." Chinnarion has been charged with second-degree murder in the shooting death of Obie Wynn, 18. Wynn's death touched off two nights of riot and bottle throwing and window smashing on the city's near northwest side.

Club Leases Oil Rights

GAYLORD, Mich. (AP) — A northern Lower Michigan wilderness club has voted to lease the oil rights for its 1,400-acre ranch near here for $5.7 million and future lucrative royalties if petroleum is found. Sam Bickley, membership president of the Canada Creek Ranch, said a substantial majority of the club's 1,400 members approved the leaseholdings bid from the Northern Michigan Exploration Co. In addition to the initial payment, Northern Michigan also will pay the club a 25 per cent royalty on any petroleum products taken from the area, Bickley said.

Detroiters Want Tax Hike

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit organization is expected to ask the legislature today to hike state taxes on cigarettes, liquor and beer to raise money for Michigan cities. New Detroit, an urban coalition of business, labor and other interests formed after the city's 1967 riots, calls in a tentative proposal for a 5 per cent increase in the liquor tax, a five cents-a-pack increase in cigarette taxes and a hike in beer taxes of a penny a can or bottle. The group's board of directors approved the plan Friday as one alternative to the proposed increases in Detroit's resident and commuter income taxes, sources said.

Dearborn Audit Release Due

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — An audit of the City of Dearborn will be released by the state treasury department this week, according to a department official. James Bolthouse, deputy treasurer, said an auditors' investigation into the city's finances was prompted by a "series of complaints" from citizens. Bolthouse said the probe lasted nearly six months. He refused to confirm reports that the audit contained information on questionable financial and real estate dealings by Mayor Orville Hubbard; his son, Henry Ford Hubbard; and other city officials.

Trucking Pact Foes Meet

DETROIT (AP) — A group of Teamsters met Sunday to organize opposition to proposals for the union's pending contract with the trucking industry. The meeting of Teamsters for a Decent Contract (TDC) was attended by some 100 union members, many of them from Detroit Local 299, home base for International President Frank Fitzsimmons and his predecessor, James R. Hoffa. TDC formed in Chicago in August and claims it already has more than 10,000 signatures on a petition criticizing proposals for the contract, which is scheduled to go into effect March 31. At the three-hour meeting, union members voted to get TDC representation "into every Teamster shop and terminal."

Miss Little Fights Sentence

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Joan Little planned to carry her fight to stay out of jail into two courts today. Miss Little and her attorney, Jerry Paul, were to appear before the Beaufort County Superior Court in Washington, N.C., to oppose a prosecution request that she be sent to jail to begin serving the rest of her 7-to-10 year sentence for burglary and theft. Paul said he would also file a motion with the state Supreme Court to ask for a delay while it reviews a state Court of Appeals decision that upheld her conviction.

Psychiatrist Raps 'Violence'

CHICAGO (AP) — A Seattle child psychiatrist called today for an "organized cry from the medical profession" against violence on television and its effects on children. Dr. Michael B. Rothenberg of Seattle's Children's Orthopedic Hospital and Medical Center and the University of Washington School of Medicine said that such an outcry from the medical profession was long overdue and should be accompanied by specific recommendations based on sound child development principles and hard data. Rothenberg, writing in the December issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association released today, said the hard data is already available from 25 years of investigation into the relationship of television violence and aggressive behavior in children.

Madrid Cemetery Guarded

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Police put a heavy guard on the Madrid cemetery today to break up a Socialist march as the government pushed ahead with a crackdown on leftists demanding democratic reforms. The Socialists scheduled a silent march to commemorate the death of the founder of the Spanish Socialist party, Pablo Iglesias. The police last year routed a similar observance. The police also prohibited a Socialist meeting at a downtown movie house.

Berrien Crackups Hurt Two

Berrien sheriff's deputies investigated a two-car collision Saturday that injured one of the drivers on M-140 south of Napier avenue, Bainbridge township.

Treated at Watervliet Community hospital was Gwendolyn E. Mingo, 25, of 652 Phillips street, South Haven. Reported unhurt in the 2:45 p.m. accident was the other driver, Glen Stevenson, 59, box 464-G, Meadowbrook road, Benton township. Deputies said Stevenson was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

In another accident Sunday, a Benton Harbor man received apparently minor injuries in a two-car accident at the intersection of Union street and Napier avenue, Fairplain.

State police of the Benton Harbor post said one driver, William Barry, 73, of 1015 Union, sought his own treatment after the collision between his car and one driven by David Alan Antisdell, 19, of 1471 Agard avenue, Fairplain. Antisdell was ticketed by troopers for failure to yield at an intersection.

Grand Jury Will Get Lineup Report

federal investigation into union racketeering on the East Coast at the time he disappeared. According to an unnamed source quoted by the News, Hoffa succeeded in getting several witnesses to appear before a federal grand jury in Newark. The source could not say whether Hoffa himself appeared.

Of particular interest to Hoffa, the News said, was a $6 million Teamsters pension fund loan in late 1974 to a Florida builder who had just sold a Florida home to Provenzano for considerably less than the $140,000 value of the property.

A five-year union activity ban in Provenzano's parole expired last month and he took over as secretary-treasurer of Local 580. Provenzano's influence in the union reportedly is growing rapidly.

Hoffa had been attempting to have a ban on his union activity thrown out so he could run for international president of the union in 1976.

William E. Bufalino, attorney for the three New Jersey men at the lineup Saturday, said three men and two women were in the witness room when his clients appeared. He said he did not know who was the secret witness.

In Jersey City, an FBI spokesman declined comment on why agents, who had watched the site until departing in midafternoon Saturday, were no longer at the scene.

But a spokesman for the Jersey City Department of Public Works said personnel were still on standby in case federal authorities decide to excavate at the 47-acre dumping ground.

Grand jury witnesses and other sources in Detroit say Hoffa's body was taken from Michigan to the dump in a barrel after his disappearance last July 30.

Last Tuesday the FBI obtained a search warrant for property to search for the body of Faugno, a reputed underworld figure who disappeared three years ago. Sources said the real object of the FBI's interest in the dump is Hoffa's body, however.

The landfill, officially closed for about six years but still the recipient of occasional deposits, is situated along a bank of the Hackensack River beneath the Pulaski Skyway in the heart of Hudson County. It is surrounded by truck stops, junkyards, factories, fast-food outlets and taverns.

Although the FBI has a search warrant for only four acres, the dump is actually 47 acres in size. A spokesman for the state Public Utility Commission said a license granted to operate the facility allowed for 35 feet of landfill.

The landfill's ingredients include household garbage, aluminum soda and beer cans, tires, parts of autos, remnants of wooden houses, 30-and 55-gallon steel drums and heavy brick and rock brought to the site by demolition firms.

Chiropractor Is Target

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan has filed suit against a Bay City chiropractor who allegedly practiced medicine without a license, Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley.

Frank W. DuChaine was charged with performing acupuncture and for advertising that he would insert staples into patients' skin to make them lose weight.

He was also charged with misusing X rays and using ultrasound and diathermy equipment, practices prohibited by all but licensed medical doctors.

Michigan Weekend Crashes Kill 7

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two Rose City youths died Sunday when their car ran off a road in Ogemaw County, according to Michigan State Police. The fatalities brought the number of persons killed in traffic accidents over the weekend to seven, state officials said.

Woman's Bond Set At $25,000

PAW PAW — A Covert woman charged with murder in the shooting death of her husband was ordered held in lieu of $25,000 bond Saturday pending formal arraignment today in the Seventh district court at South Haven.

Judge William C. Buhl set the bond in the case of Mrs. Demetre Hudson, 30, who was arrested at her home Friday afternoon after police found the body of her husband, Edward, 39, on the floor.

She told Judge Buhl she would seek her own attorney.

Hudson was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. O.T. Lorenz, South Haven, a Van Buren deputy medical examiner.

Police were summoned to the scene by an anonymous tip. Covert township police Chief Robert Kelnhofer said the shooting apparently stemmed from an argument, but that Mrs. Hudson has refused to elaborate.

Funeral services for Mr. Hudson, were to be held this afternoon at 2 p.m. at Calvin funeral home, Covert. Burial was to be in Lakewood cemetery.

He had lived in Covert for three years, coming from Gary, Ind.

Surviving in addition to his wife are two daughters, Edith and Letta, both at home; his father, Edward Hudson Sr., Saginaw; and a sister, Mrs. Lois Hutton, Bangor.

DETROIT BLAST

DETROIT (AP) — The United Tae Kwon Do karate school was demolished and three other buildings were damaged by an explosion of unknown origin Saturday. Three persons, including a cab driver, were injured slightly in the incident on the city's East Side.

Today In MICHIGAN

No Change Of Venue

DETROIT (AP) — There will be no change of venue for the trial of a Detroit man charged with shooting a black youth in an incident which touched off two days of racial unrest last summer, a judge has ruled. Recorder's Court Judge Clarence Laster said Friday a public survey paid for by Andrew Chinarian failed to show "any deep and bitter prejudice in the community against Mr. Chinarian." Chinarian has been charged with second-degree murder in the shooting death of Obie Wynn, 18. Wynn's death touched off two nights of rock and bottle throwing and window smashing on the city's near northwest side.

Club Leases Oil Rights

GAYLORD, Mich. (AP) — A northern Lower Michigan wilderness club has voted to lease the oil rights for its 1,400-acre ranch near here for $5.7 million and future lucrative royalties if petroleum is found. Sam Bickley, membership president of the Canada Creek Ranch, said a substantial majority of the club's 1,400 members approved the leasing rights bid from the Northern Michigan Exploration Co. In addition to the initial payment, Northern Michigan also will pay the club a 25 per cent royalty on any petroleum products taken from the area, Bickley said.

Detroiters Want Tax Hike

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit organization is expected to ask the legislature today to hike state taxes on cigarettes, liquor and beer to raise money for Michigan cities. New Detroit, an urban coalition of business, labor and other interests formed after the city's 1967 riots, calls in a tentative proposal for a 5 per cent increase in the liquor tax, a five cents-a-pack increase in cigarette taxes and a hike in beer taxes of a penny a can or bottle. The group's board of directors approved the plan Friday as one alternative to the proposed increases in Detroit's resident and commuter income taxes, sources said.

Dearborn Audit Release Due

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — An audit of the City of Dearborn will be released by the state treasury department this week, according to a department official. James Bolthouse, deputy treasurer, said an auditors' investigation into the city's finances was prompted by a "series of complaints" from citizens. Bolthouse said the probe lasted nearly six months. He refused to confirm reports that the audit contained information on questionable financial and real estate dealings by Mayor Orville Hubbard, his son, Henry Ford Hubbard, and other city officials.

Trucking Pact Foes Meet

DETROIT (AP) — A group of Teamsters met Sunday to organize opposition to proposals for the union's pending contract with the trucking industry. The meeting of Teamsters for a Decent Contract (TDC) was attended by some 100 union members, many of them from Detroit Local 299, home base for International President Frank Fitzsimmons and his predecessor, James R. Hoffa. TDC formed in Chicago in August and claims it already has more than 10,000 signatures on a petition criticizing proposals for the contract, which is scheduled to go into effect March 31. At the three-hour meeting, union members voted to get TDC representation "into every Teamster shop and terminal."

THREATENING WITNESS

Berrien Conviction Is Upheld

The Michigan Court of Appeals has upheld the Berrien Circuit court conviction of a former Benton Harbor man who threatened a witness in district court.

Affirmed by the appeals court was the conviction and subsequent 5 to 20-year prison sentence of John Sherman Atcher.

Jr., 24. Atcher was sentenced to prison in September, 1972, by Judge Chester J. Byrns after a jury conviction for maliciously threatening a witness, part of the extortion law.

Atcher was accused of threatening a then 17-year-old girl who was in district court waiting to testify in an unrelated assault and battery case in which Atcher was not a defendant.

The court denied all the issues Atcher raised on appeal. The court ruled that Atcher's contention that there was insufficient evidence of a substantial threat to coerce the witness to act against her will was without merit, and that remarks by the prosecutor did not require reversal.

The appellate court held that when "the prosecutor discoursed on how the system of justice itself was at stake in this case, (he) was not calling upon the jury to support the system of justice by convicting the defendant (but) was emphasizing the seriousness of the offense."

The court also noted Atcher's claim that he was denied effective assistance of counsel "in that defense counsel was incompetent" was "without merit."

The court also held Byrns was not in error by allowing the prosecution to call a witness on rebuttal, or concluding that the 17-year-old girl was competent to testify.

Van Buren Social Services Seeks Donations For Christmas Project

HARTFORD — The Van Buren county department of social services is coordinating a Christmas project to raise funds and gifts for children in foster homes.

Edwin P. Charles, deputy director of the department, said the department is seeking donations of time, gifts, toys or money for these children. He said those wishing to donate should contact the department in Hartford. Checks should be made payable to the Christmas Project for Foster Children, he said.

Women Reject 'Open Membership'

DETROIT (AP) — Delegates of the Coalition of Labor Union Women defeated efforts this weekend to open the group to all American women and allow it to take stands on issues outside the labor union structure.

The 1,000 delegates then adopted a constitution which reaffirmed that the two-year-old women's rights group would be politically moderate and function within the union movement.

Retired United Auto Workers Vice President Olga Madar of Detroit was re-elected president of the women's group by a 5-1 margin, as were other members of her slate.

The proposal for open membership was made by another candidate for the presidency, Sharon Petersons of the American Federation of Teachers in Madison, Wis. She also led the Rank and File Caucus which offered an alternative constitution.

The meeting, first national CLUW gathering since the founding of the group, attracted delegates from some 60 international unions in 40 states.

The delegates showed most interest in achieving advancement for female union figures.

Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., got the greatest applause when she surveyed those seated on the dais and said, "I hope next year we'll be able to introduce a sister from the executive board of the AFL-CIO."

In a telegram to the convention, AFL-CIO President George Meany reaffirmed his support for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment, which needs the endorsement of four more states. The AFL-CIO opposed ERA until changing its position at its last convention.

Addie Wyatt of Chicago, who was re-elected as vice president, said CLUW has given union women confidence to seek leadership roles.

"Women just never thought of themselves as union leaders before," she said.

Tavern operators and other liquor licensees in southwestern Michigan are receiving "summuses" signed by the Michigan secretary of state and the state police director.

The summuses are invitations to a "Know Your Limits" program that will be held Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in the the Dowagiac National Guard Armory.

A statewide campaign is being held just before the holiday party season to "Know Your Limits" of alcohol and practice moderation in the interest of traffic safety.

The program is supported by the office of substance abuse and coordinated by the Michigan Licensed Beverage Association in cooperation with the Michigan Department of State Police, Secretary of State and local law enforcement agencies.

The invitations to licensees are signed by Col. George Halverson, state police director; Richard Austin, secretary of state; Irvin Nichols, director of substance abuse; Michigan Department of Health; and Burward Root, of the Michigan Licensed Beverage Association.

The invitations appear to be in legal form, but attendance at the program is entirely voluntary, and the public is welcome to attend.

The same program will be presented Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Kalamazoo National Guard Armory. Forty such meetings are scheduled throughout the state.

More than a million wallet-size cards are being distributed showing the number of drinks people of various weights can consume before they are impaired or under the influence of alcohol. Large charts with the same information will be posted in licensed establishments.

Eddy Shepherd, Lansing, coordinator of activities for the Michigan Licensed Beverage Association, said the project is the first alcohol abuse prevention project to be carried on simultaneously in all parts of Michigan.

He noted that licensees are the only group coming in contact with every person who buys beverage alcohol in the state, and licensees can be of great assistance in the effort to prevent alcohol abuse and promote safe driving.

The programs around the state feature breathalyzer demonstrations by state police and educational films. Counseling service for the problem drinker is emphasized at each meeting, and licensees are provided with the names of substance abuse coordinators in their areas so they can give referral information.

Assisting with the Dowagiac program and campaign in this area is the Southwestern Michigan Licensed Beverage Association of which Charles Powers, New Buffalo, is president.

Police Seek Trio In Knight Slaying

By JULIE DUNLAP
Associated Press Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Police are looking for three men they believe robbed and stabbed to death John Shively Knight III, newspaper editor and grandson of the founder of the Knight publishing empire.

Knight, 30, was found tied up and stabbed five times Sunday morning on a bedroom floor in his luxury apartment overlooking Rittenhouse Square. One of two house guests was also stabbed as she tried to escape from the robbers.

Police Capt. Donald Patterson of homicide said the assailants are believed to have spent almost four hours in the 23rd story apartment, carefully searching and ransacking the five rooms.

He would not say what may have been stolen from the apartment. Knight had an extensive modern art collection.

Knight was found with his hands bound behind his back with some of his own neckties, detectives said.

Police said the death weapon was either a spear gun or a Bowie knife. Knight, a sportsman, had both in his apartment, and both were found there afterwards.

Several persons were brought into police headquarters for questioning early today, but there were no arrests, police said.

Yale University Hospital psychiatrist Dr. John McKinnon, 29, who was Knight's roommate at Harvard, and his wife, Rosemary McKinnon, 27, were asleep in the apartment when the intruders entered, police said.

Mrs. McKinnon was stabbed in her chest and hand by one of the assailants, who chased her down a long corridor and onto an elevator when she tried to escape.

Police said she staggered off the elevator at the third floor, and the assailant continued to the first floor. Police said they did not know if anyone saw the man leave the building.

Mrs. McKinnon reached the lobby by a fire escape and summoned help. She was taken to Graduate Hospital and listed in fair condition.

According to police, Knight and a date, Ellen Roche, the McKinnons and a third couple, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Janensch, dined Saturday night at a Society Hill restaurant on four pheasants Knight had shot in South Dakota.

Janensch, managing editor of the Daily News, a Knight-Ridder paper where Knight was project director, said he and his wife drove home at 12:20 a.m. Sunday, and the other four returned to their apartment.

He said Miss Roche told him she left sometime after one o'clock.

Mrs. McKinnon told police she had gone to bed, leaving both men talking about college days over a bottle of brandy. She said her husband came to bed sometime afterward.

Playwright Thornton Wilder, Winner Of 3 Pulitzers, Dies

HAMDEN, Conn. (AP) — Thornton Wilder, who wrote the theater classic "Our Town" and collected three Pulitzer prizes for his novels and plays, is dead of a heart attack at age 78.

The playwright, novelist, teacher and traveler died in his sleep Sunday while napping at the Hamden, Conn., house he shared with his sister, Isabel, a family spokesman said.

Wilder, who wrote numerous plays and eight novels in his half-century career, was brought to the Hospital of St. Raphael in nearby New Haven about 7:25 p.m. where he was pronounced dead.

Amos Tappan Wilder, a nephew, said Wilder had been in poor health for several years but had continued to travel occasionally.

Wilder won his first Pulitzer in 1928 for the novel "The Bridge of San Luis Rey." The others were for the plays "Our Town" in 1938 and "The Skin of Our Teeth" in 1943.

He also wrote "The Matchmaker" which was turned into "Hello Dolly," the longest running Broadway musical.

His attitude tended to be Olympian, his writing simple and realistic, his stage settings stripped to bare essentials — a few chairs and a table.

"The whole purpose of literature," he said, "is the notation of the heart."

In "Our Town" he portrayed the life of a family in the town of Grover's Corners, N.H., a microcosm which could have been any small town in virtually any country.

"I have no patience with people who say they love nature and go out to look at a field on a Sunday afternoon. Our families, the way we live with our fellow men, are a part of nature, too," he said in a 1962 interview.

"Skin of Our Teeth" is a satirical play about how the Antebellum family of Excelsior, N.J., survived the Ice Age. It optimistically proclaimed during World War II that man has repeatedly escaped holocaust and was likely to keep doing so.

Church To Sell Campus

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP) — Evangelist Rex Humbard said Sunday his Cathedral of Tomorrow has put its financial house in order and expects to sell its college campus on Michigan's Mackinac Island next month.

Humbard said his organization has paid off millions of dollars in securities that had been questioned by government officials and now is preparing to expand its ministry in foreign countries.

Humbard said the cathedral, which once operated a girdle factory and held commercial property in downtown Akron, has gotten out of all its commercial ventures and expects to sell its Mackinac College campus in January.

Two Ypsilanti men have indicated they are ready to purchase the college facilities and convert them into a resort hotel complex.

Moluccans May Be Losing Courage

By DONALD FORBES
Associated Press Writer
AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — Some of the South Moluccan nationalists holding more than 30 hostages aboard a stranded train in northern Holland are beginning to lose courage after defying the Dutch government for six days, the leader of the Moluccan community says.

"I could read from the faces of one or two that they do not want to go on," said Johan Alvaros Manusama, president of the self-styled Republic of the Moluccas, after boarding the train Sunday to plead with the young gunmen to surrender.

But Manusama held out no hope of early capitulation by his compatriots who seized the train last Tuesday or another group of South Moluccans who occupied the Indonesian consulate in Amsterdam last Thursday. The Moluccans at the consulate are holding about 20 hostages, including four children.

The gunmen are demanding that the Dutch government sponsor a drive in the United Nations to get Indonesia to give the South Molucca islands independence. The Dutch have no direct control over the polities of Indonesia, a former colony.

The Moluccans aboard the train have also demanded safe conduct out of the country, but the government refused because they killed three of their hostages.

Manusama said he told the men on the train "they had reached their goals, achieved publicity and the attention of the world, but I got the impression they still hope the government will give in sooner or later. I made it clear to them that the government would not."

The South Moluccans were one of the island groups in the pre-World War II Dutch East Indies that after the war sided with the Dutch against the Indonesian independence movement on Java and Sumatra. The Dutch recognized the independence of Indonesia in 1949, and thousands of South Moluccans fled to Holland after an unsuccessful rebellion in 1950.

A government spokesman said there "can be no question" of meeting the demands of the gunmen. He added that they were showing "a very primitive view" of what was politically possible.

Manusama said he had had no reply to a cable he sent to U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim asking for the United Nations to take up the South Moluccans' demand for independence and also asking him to mediate in the two

'No Deal' With Gunmen Is Scotland Yard's Stand

By JAMES R. PEIPERT
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard says it will make no deals with Irish Republican Army gunmen holding a 54-year-old postal inspector and his wife hostage in their London apartment.

Police said there were either three or four IRA men in the second-floor apartment near Regent Park. They said one of them was believed to be Michael Wilson, who is accused of killing Ross McWhirter, co-editor of the Guinness Book of World Records, on Nov. 27.

The gunmen told the police they were members of the Provisional wing of the IRA. Ernest Bond, a deputy assistant police commissioner, said they were "at least a good part of the team that have been doing the bombings and shootings in London for the past 18 months," in which at least nine persons have been killed and more than 200 injured.

The IRA men demanded safe conduct to Ireland. But Metropolitan Police Commissioner Sir Robert Mark declared: "We are certainly not going to give way in any way at all."

"The only maneuver is that they will come out with their hands up," said Cmdr. Bill Fleming, the head of Scotland Yard's operations branch. "The negotiations will be conducted on our terms."

Riding in a stolen car, the gunmen fired two shots at a recently bombed restaurant Saturday night. Police chased them through central London, and the gunmen abandoned the car and took refuge — by "pure chance," the police said — in the two-bedroom apartment of John Henry Matthews, 54, and his wife, Sheila, 53.

Police sealed off the apartment, put men on the floors above and below, evacuated the surrounding area, cut off the telephone in the apartment and lowered a field telephone to the apartment so they could communicate with the gunmen.

Police Seek Trio In Knight Slaying

By JULIE DUNLAP
Associated Press Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Police are looking for three men they believe robbed and stabbed to death John Shively Knight III, newspaper editor and grandson of the founder of the Knight publishing empire.

Knight, 30, was found tied up and stabbed five times Sunday morning on a bedroom floor in his luxury apartment overlooking Rittenhouse Square. One of two house guests was also stabbed as she tried to escape from the robbers.

Police Capt. Donald Patterson of homicide said the assailants are believed to have spent almost four hours in the 23rd story apartment, carefully searching and ransacking the five rooms.

He would not say what may have been stolen from the apartment. Knight had an extensive modern art collection.

Knight was found with his hands bound behind his back with some of his own neckties, detectives said.

Police said the death weapon was either a spear gun or a Bowie knife. Knight, a sportsman, had both in his apartment, and both were found there afterwards.

Several persons were brought into police headquarters for questioning early today, but there were no arrests, police said.

Yale University Hospital psychiatrist Dr. John McKinnon, 29, who was Knight's roommate at Harvard, and his wife, Rosemary McKinnon, 27, were asleep in the apartment when the intruders entered, police said.

Mrs. McKinnon was stabbed in her chest and hand by one of the assailants, who chased her down a long corridor and onto an elevator when she tried to escape.

Police said she staggered off the elevator at the third floor, and the assailant continued to the first floor. Police said they did not know if anyone saw the man leave the building.

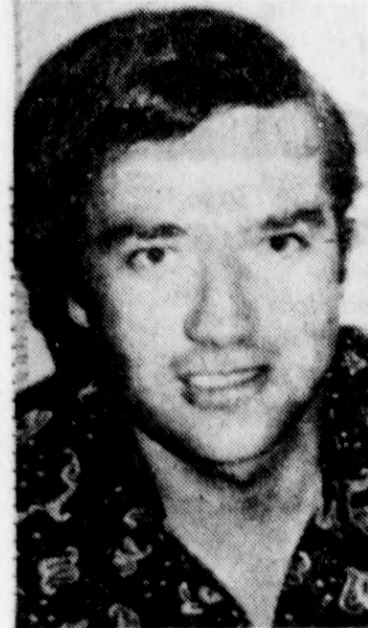

Mrs. McKinnon reached the lobby by a fire escape and summoned help. She was taken to Graduate Hospital and listed in fair condition.

According to police, Knight and a date, Ellen Roche, the McKinnons and a third couple, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Janensch, dined Saturday night at a Society Hill restaurant on four pheasants Knight had shot in South Dakota.

Janensch, managing editor of the Daily News, a Knight-Ridder paper where Knight was project director, said he and his wife drove home at 12:20 a.m. Sunday, and the other four returned to other four returned to Knight's apartment.

He said Miss Roche told him she left sometime after one o'clock.

Mrs. McKinnon told police she had gone to bed, leaving both men talking about college days over a bottle of brandy. She said her husband came to bed sometime afterward.

Playwright Thornton Wilder, Winner Of 3 Pulitzers, Dies

HAMDEN, Conn. (AP) — Thornton Wilder, who wrote the theater classic "Our Town" and collected three Pulitzer prizes for his novels and plays, is dead of a heart attack at age 78.

The playwright, novelist, teacher and traveler died in his sleep Sunday while napping at the Hamden, Conn., house he shared with his sister, Isabel, a family spokesman said.

Wilder, who wrote numerous plays and eight novels in his half-century career, was brought to the Hospital of St. Raphael in nearby New Haven about 7:25 p.m. where he was pronounced dead.

Amos Tappan Wilder, a nephew, said Wilder had been in poor health for several years but had continued to travel occasionally.

Wilder won his first Pulitzer in 1928 for the novel "The Bridge of San Luis Rey." The others were for the plays "Our Town" in 1938 and "The Skin of Our Teeth" in 1943.

He also wrote "The Matchmaker" which was turned into "Hello Dolly," the longest running Broadway musical.

His attitude tended to be Olympian, his writing simple and realistic, his stage settings stripped to bare essentials — a few chairs and a table.

"The whole purpose of literature," he said, "is the notation of the heart."

In "Our Town" he portrayed the life of a family in the town of Grover's Corners, N.H., a microcosm which could have been any small town in virtually any country.

"I have no patience with people who say they love nature and go out to look at a field on a Sunday afternoon. Our families, the way we live with our fellow

Church To Sell Campus

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP) — Evangelist Rex Humbard said Sunday his Cathedral of Tomorrow has put its financial house in order and expects to sell its college campus on Michigan's Mackinac Island next month.

Humbard said his organization has paid off millions of dollars in securities that had been questioned by government officials and now is preparing to expand its ministry in foreign countries.

Humbard said the cathedral, which once operated a girdle factory and held commercial property in downtown Akron, has gotten out of all its commercial ventures and expects to sell its Mackinac College campus in January.

Two Ypsilanti men have indicated they are ready to purchase the college facilities and convert them into a resort hotel complex.

Moluccans May Be Losing Courage

By DONALD FORBES
Associated Press Writer
AMSTERDAM. The Netherlands (AP) — Some of the South Moluccan nationalists holding more than 30 hostages aboard a stranded train in northern Holland are beginning to lose courage after defying the Dutch government for six days, the leader of the Moluccan community says.

"I could read from the faces of one or two that they do not want to go on," said Johan Alvarez Manusama, president of the self-styled Republic of the Moluccas, after boarding the train Sunday to plead with the young gunman to surrender.

But Manusama held out no hope of early capitulation by his compatriots who seized the train last Tuesday or another group of South Moluccans who occupied the Indonesian consulate in Amsterdam last Thursday. The Moluccans at the consulate are holding about 20 hostages, including four children.

The gunmen are demanding that the Dutch government sponsor a drive in the United Nations to get Indonesia to give the South Molucca islands independence. The Dutch have no direct control over the policies of Indonesia, a former colony.

The Moluccans aboard the train have also demanded safe conduct out of the country, but the government refused because they killed three of their hostages.

Manusama said he told the men on the train "they had reached their goals, achieved publicity and the attention of the world, but I got the impression they still hope the government will give in sooner or later. I made it clear to them that the government would not."

The South Moluccas were one of the island groups in the pre-World War II Dutch East Indies that after the war sided with the Dutch against the Indonesian independence movement on Java and Sumatra. The Dutch recognized the independence of Indonesia in 1949, and thousands of South Moluccans fled to Holland after an unsuccessful rebellion in 1950.

A government spokesman said there "can be no question" of meeting the demands of the gunmen. He added that they were showing "a very primitive view" of what was politically possible.

Manusama said he had had no reply to a cable he sent to U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim asking for the United Nations to take up the South Moluccans' demand for independence and also asking him to mediate in the two

'No Deal' With Gunmen Is Scotland Yard's Stand

Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard says it will make no deals with Irish Republican Army gunmen holding a 54-year-old postal inspector and his wife hostage in their London apartment.

Police said there were either three or four IRA men in the second-floor apartment near Regent Park. They said one of them was believed to be Michael Ross McWhirter, co-editor of the Guinness Book of World Records, on Nov. 27.

The gunmen told the police they were members of the Provisional wing of the IRA. Ernest Bond, a deputy assistant police commissioner, said they were "at least a good part of the team that have been doing the bombings and shootings in London for the past 18 months," in which at least nine persons have been killed and more than 200 injured.

The IRA men demanded safe conduct to Ireland. But Metropolitan Police Commissioner Sir Robert Mark declared: "We are certainly not going to give way in any way at all."

"The only maneuver is that they will come out with their hands up," said Cmdr. Bill Fleming, the head of Scotland Yard's operations branch. "The negotiations will be conducted on our terms."

Riding in a stolen car, the gunmen fired two shots at a recently bombed restaurant Saturday night. Police chased them through central London, and the gunmen abandoned the car and took refuge — by "pure chance," the police said — in the two-bedroom apartment of John Henry Matthews, 54, and his wife, Sheila, 53.

Police sealed off the apartment, put men on the floors above and below, evacuated the surrounding area, cut off the telephone in the apartment and lowered a field telephone to the apartment so they could communicate with the gunmen.

Odds Against Jailhouse Lawyers, But Numbers Growing

By RICHARD BENKE

Associated Press Writer

The odds are against them, the courts discourage them, and prosecutors and public defenders disapprove of their legal dabbling. Still, jailhouse lawyers are growing in large numbers.

They have something they want to say. They are broke and can't afford a lawyer. They don't like their court-appointed public counsel. They want to learn about the law. They have lots of time.

Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme, convicted of attempting to assassinate President Ford, chose to represent herself "in propria persona," as lawbooks call being one's own attorney. The court heard her views on ecology and a variety of other subjects before the privilege was revoked.

Other notables handling their own cases have included Symonius Liberation Army members Russell Little and Joseph Remiro, convicted of murdering Oakland Schools Supt. Marcus Foster; and former University of California philosophy professor Angela Davis, who was acquitted of murder charges stemming from allegations she supplied the gun used in a San Rafael, Calif., courtroom shootout.

Judges prefer to keep such cases to a minimum, fearing too many will clog the court calendar with lengthy semicompetent legal wrangling.

"The court discourages it (self-representation)," said Joan McIntosh of the public defender's office in Fresno, Calif. "It puts the courts in the position of teaching defendants the law." In the past, jailhouse lawyers had to convince a judge they were competent to handle their own defense, but as a result of a ruling handed down by the U.S. Supreme Court last June, a defendant need only be warned of the possible consequences if he proceeds on his own without a lawyer.

"Now you can have it for wanting it," said Stuart R. Rappaport, chief of the trial division of the Los Angeles public defender's office. But he warned: "Almost anybody who represents himself is going to be convicted."

Since the Supreme Court ruled on June 30 that Anthony Pasquall Faretta of Los Angeles had the right to be his own attorney, the number of jailhouse lawyers has tripled in Los Angeles County.

In other urban areas, the recent trend also has been toward more prisoner self-representation, according to a spot survey by The Associated Press. Cumulative nationwide figures were not available.

"It's very fair to say that more residents of state prisons are seeking (their own) court relief following their conviction than in past years," said a prison official in Massachusetts, where a prisoners rights suit three years ago resulted in the creation of law libraries in jails and prisons throughout the state.

Jailhouse lawyers interviewed complain that public defenders are overloaded with cases and go along too readily with judges and prosecutors in bargaining for a guilty plea by the client.

"A defendant is going to demand every right in court," said Los Angeles County prisoner Dennis Rutherford. "I fired my lawyer, got a new hearing on my own and I won the issue that he lost."

"The public defender assumed I was guilty," said Joseph B. Garcia, 27, of Santa Monica, Calif., who got part of the robbery case against him dropped after firing his court-appointed lawyer.

"I made a deal and went to prison twice at the suggestion of the public defender. Never again," said Roy Newsome, 31, of Los Angeles, now on trial for escaping from a courthouse.

Rappaport denies he helps "train" defendants but agrees court-encouraged plea bargaining can undermine a defendant's confidence in his lawyer. "It compromises our position," he said. But he maintains jailhouse lawyers bring most of their troubles on themselves out of ignorance.

Some increase in prisoners' filing petitions, especially habeas corpus legal briefs asking release from custody, has been noted in New York, West Virginia, Missouri, Ohio and Nevada, although apparently no formal statistics on such cases are being kept.

The incidence of jailhouse lawyers in Illinois "mostly comes in political trials where someone wants to get his message across," said Henry Sheffer, an official with the Cook County public defender's office.

"I would guess political activist types charged with crimes will try to represent themselves because they want to interject whatever political ideology they have into the case — a forum for their own political beliefs," said Kenneth Wells, head of the public defender's office in Sacramento, Calif.

Most prisoners interviewed said they act as their own attorney for lack of money to hire private counsel.

"It's money," said Barry Mintzes, spokesman for the Michigan Department of Corrections. "Most of the inmates are able to file as indigents, so they don't have to pay court costs in filing."

The number of jailhouse lawyers in Los Angeles peaked at 55 following several court rulings favoring "pro per" defendants, those who represent themselves "in propria persona."

The boom ended when the Superior Court issued a memorandum of understanding cutting back on pro per privileges in 1972. Since the memorandum the number of inmates asking to represent themselves had fallen off substantially until the Faretta ruling last June.

"The judges got together and decided what was really necessary to conduct a defense," said

Los Angeles County Jail Capt. James C. White, "and they substantially cut back the special privileges" — free phone calls, a paid investigator, paper and pencils, a typewriter and access to the jail law library.

One pro per defendant, Doyle Terry, convicted murderer of a Long Beach policeman, "even had coffee in his cell," said White.

Terry was a "law student" of jailhouse lawyer Caryl Chessman, the California Red Light Baudt turned author who was executed in the gas chamber in 1958 after 13 years of self-filed appeals.

"Terry was responsible for the first big pro per court order," said White. "Because of Doyle Terry we had the pro per law library and the general philosophy that pro pers could do everything real lawyers can do except go home at night."

Six Area Students Help Record Bicentennial Music

KALAMAZOO — Six Western Michigan university students from southwestern Michigan were among a group of student musicians who recorded the theme and incidental music for the "Voices from Michigan's Past" Bicentennial dramatic series.

Being produced by WMU's division of instructional communication (DIC), the series of eight half-hour programs involves original music and scripts written by professionals.

The series dramatizes the stories of people and events vital to Michigan's development and, when completed, will be distributed early in 1976 to all public broadcasting radio stations in Michigan and to commercial stations upon request.

A total of 40 WMU students were involved in the musical recording sessions, under the baton of Herbert Butler, music professor and conductor of the WMU symphony orchestra.

Prude Enjoys Work At Playboy Club

By THOMAS E. SLAUGHTER
Associated Press Writer

DENVER (AP) — She has never seen an X-rated film, and she holds a degree in chemistry and has a background of high lace collars and unyielding propriety.

Barbara Taylor is a prude. She is also the first woman entrusted by Playboy Enterprises Inc. to manage one of its key clubs, where scantily clad women cavort in bunny costumes.

Miss Taylor was promoted to head the Denver club in August after serving as director of public relations and assistant manager, setting a precedent for the publishing-entertainment empire fashioned by Hugh Hefner.

"Playboy was aware that it would be a big step for them," Miss Taylor said, "but not just a big step but the first step in putting more women in management areas."

"I really firmly believe that Playboy hired me, first and most importantly, because of my qualifications. I've had to work a lot longer and harder than a man might have to gain the same position.

"I love it here. I enjoy working with the employees and the people who come here."

Miss Taylor was reared in the Chicago area and attended the University of Denver. She said that she had a strict upbringing, which continues to influence her life.

"I'm really a prudish girl in a lot of ways," she said. "I've never been to an X-rated movie and I don't smoke or drink."

Miss Taylor, a blonde who prefers not to talk about her age, said she talked with feminists about her job with Playboy and rejected contentions the empire was built on exploiting the female anatomy.

"I'm not a card-carrying women's libber. I think whether a woman is being exploited is her own personal feeling. The bunnies that work here in the club enjoy the relationships that they have with the keyholders."

"A lot of people think men come up here to oggle the bunnies. It's not that way. Anyone can admire beauty."

Church Youth Group Goes Underground

By DONNA KLEIN

OWOSSO, Mich. (AP) — An Owosso church youth group went underground this fall.

First, United Methodist Church Youth leader Dave Shepard asked himself, what do you do when you start a new year with a group of eager-to-go, ready-for-action young people?

His answer: You set your sight on activities that are fun, but that have a special purpose.

"In this case," he said, "we went 'underground' to experience what it must have felt like being a Christian and persecuted for our beliefs."

"But even with the very best of planning, we as Americans can't possibly experience fully what persecution of religion is really all about," he explained.

Going underground for this youth group meant meeting secretly in more than unusual surroundings, such as a crawl space under a downtown store, in the back of a semitruck trailer and in an abandoned building.

Sometimes teams of other youths were detained to prevent the group from meeting, an illustration of Christians being persecuted many years ago.

Members of the group had specific instructions each week so that they could meet secretly and safely, as perhaps their ancestors did.

They would meet at a "contact person" at a specific location, such as the southeast side of the corner of Ball and Exchange streets between 6:15 and 6:30 p.m.

That contact person had to be given the code words "Underground for Christ" before he or she would give further directions toward the meeting site.

Other instructions could include the memorizing of a Bible passage, answering questions from the Scriptures, bringing a creation of God (such as a leaf or flower) and sometimes bringing a friend who did not regularly attend the youth group meetings.

Sometimes the meetings did not run smoothly. At the first and second gatherings, there were disruptions from another group of people who said they did not want the Christian group to meet.

"We don't want you learning about God," they said, as persecutors must have said 1900 years ago.

"Not many kids," said Shepard, "have experienced being shoved up against the wall and threatened with violence. This happened, and many of us got very upset."

"Sure, it was all a hoax, a staged situation, but it looked real."

Paralleling the study of persecution with his group,

Shepard said, "we want to learn everything we can about God, and the best way to do this is to meet secretly."

"By meeting this way, the opposition won't be able to find us. After all, the early Christians had to move underground, so why can't we?"

Instructions for one meeting were to bring candles and to wear old clothes, as it was to be dark and dirty where they were going.

That turned out to be a location many of the group couldn't believe, Shepard said — a hole in the wall at a downtown building that led to a crawl space under the floor.

Most of the group couldn't even stand up without hitting their heads on the floor joists, he said. They met there by candlelight.

That evening the group also learned a lot about rocks, leaves and flowers.

"You would be surprised the way our gang could see God in a rock," Shepard observed.

During meetings, the group also looked at persecution of the mentally handicapped, "through our stares," said Shepard.

"And we had a fine group of Christian black kids from John Wesley College who gave us insight into their reactions to Owosso, which is white, whereas they came from a black environment."

Shepard said it was interesting to watch the young people going to meetings when they had no idea where it would be.

"They tend to bunch together, trying to keep each other in sight, sort of herding," he said.

"When any of us is unsure of what is going to happen, we tend to hang on to each other for security."

"Right from our very first meeting when a group of kids came and disrupted us unexpectedly, we have learned about several different kinds of persecution."

"It all started with being scared when confronted by people who said they didn't believe in meeting together and learning what God could mean to them in their lives."

"Nearly 1900 years ago, the first disciples of Christ constantly lived in danger of being put to death or in jail for preaching about God. Almost every disciple was, in the end, killed."

Paralyzed Ex-Marine Still Loves The Corps, Life

By GUNNAR CARLSON
MUSKOGON, Mich. (AP) — David Kamp, a 27-year-old ex-Marine, is not supposed to be alive today.

Wounded in action nearly eight years ago in Vietnam, he "died" once on an operating table. He still is paralyzed from his neck down and spends most of his time on his back in bed.

But he says he is not bitter, despite the injury that doctors say will leave him in pain the rest of his life. In fact, Kamp says he still loves the Corps, and loves life, and can prove it.

Kamp and his wife of three years, Barbara, celebrated the birth of their first child last month. The child was born on the 200th anniversary of the founding of the Marine Corps.

"I've done my part," Kamp says. "Now it's up to Barb. There's still a chance."

Kamp was only 19 when he was struck by a Communist bullet while on a mission just south of the demilitarized zone in South Vietnam. The date was Dec. 28, 1976.

The bullet entered his neck, struck his spine and ricocheted into his chest cavity. He was transferred to a hospital ship where he lay in a coma for 17 days, and "died" once on an operating table. When he awoke, it was 1968, and he was paralyzed from the neck down.

When he was injured he was only two months and one mission short of rotation back to the United States. The injury changed his life.

"It was a 360-degree turnaround for me," says Kamp. "When I was in high school I didn't spend an hour a day watching TV. There weren't enough hours in the day."

"One day you're six-foot-one, 185 and still growing, and the next you're 100 pounds of skin and bones. I had to start from scratch."

The injury led to four years in VA hospitals where he gradually regained the use of his right hand. He was first discharged from the hospital in the fall of 1971 and returned to Muskogon.

But he was readmitted to a VA hospital in Chicago six months later with complications. It was during his second hospital stay that he met his wife, Barbara.

"She was a hospital volunteer," Kamp recalls. They conducted a "whirlwind" courtship, were engaged in June and married in August.

Now Kamp says he has everything to look forward to.

"I was very bitter at the outset," he says. "It took about a year to adjust psychologically."

"But you've got to take what you can get and make the best of it. I live one day at a time, whatever happens tomorrow is going to happen."

"Feeling sorry for yourself is just a waste of your own time and everyone else's."

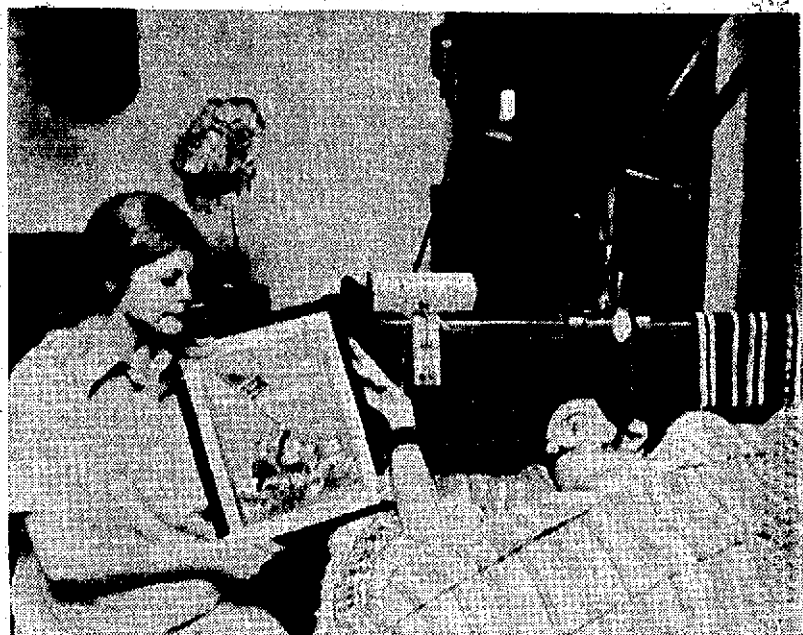

Kamp has been enrolled in an accounting course. When he passes a state exam, he plans to do tax accounting for individuals and small firms in his home.

"Hey, I'm just happy to be alive," Kamp says. "Things are terrific. This is just about all I need in life. To get that baby and have it healthy. That's all I need."

Despite constant pain caused by his still bruised spinal cord, Kamp says he has no regrets.

"Who's to say? I might have come home and gotten killed in a car accident," he says. "If I had it to do all over again, I'd do the same thing in a minute."

"Only keep your head down this time," his wife interjected. "Yeah, keep my head down," he agreed.

America's Youth Helping Needy In Name Of God

The youth of America are coming to the rescue of the nation's needy — with a campaign to collect pledges of 100 million hours of service in the name of God.

Working through a network of more than 150 Catholic youth groups across the country, the young people plan to visit shulins, stage food collection drives, tutor inner-city children and help fulfill both physical and spiritual hungers in the world.

Operation SIGN (Service in God's Name) is the banner for the ambitious program sponsored by the 41st International Eucharistic Congress, a worldwide spiritual assembly of Catholics and other Christians gathering here Aug. 1-8, 1976.

Here's Where Major Bills Are In State Legislature

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Here is the status of some major bills in the Michigan Legislature:

SB 4, McCollough. Provides limited payments to some crime victims. Passed Senate, in House Judiciary Committee.

SB 1, Guastello. Defines and outlaws deceptive trade practices. Passed Senate, reported by House Appropriations Committee, before House.

SB 243, Derezinski. Creates "job development authority" to help industries expand and locate in Michigan. Passed legislature, sent to governor.

SB 417, Ziegler. Increases loan ceiling and interest rate for small loan companies. Defeated by Senate, awaiting reconsideration.

HB 4057, Wolpe. Permits right turns on red lights. Passed legislature, sent to governor.

SB 1003, Mack. Speeds up lawsuits under Environmental Protection Act. Passed Senate and House in different forms, in a conference committee.

HB 5784, Montgomery. Raises

Detroit resident and non-resident income tax. Reported by House Taxation Committee, before House. Similar to HB 5329, Cushingberry, also before House.

SB 181, Plawewski. Increases benefits under workers' compensation. Before Senate.

SB 920, Plawewski. Requires open meetings by public bodies. Before Senate.

HB 4038, Cawthorne. Regulates sand dune mining. Passed House, in Senate Conservation Committee.

America's Youth Helping Needy In Name Of God

The youth of America are coming to the rescue of the nation's needy — with a campaign to collect pledges of 100 million hours of service in the name of God.

Working through a network of more than 150 Catholic youth groups across the country, the young people plan to visit shut-ins, stage food collection drives, tutor inner-city children and help fulfill both physical and spiritual hungers in the world.

Operation SIGN (Service in God's Name) is the banner for the ambitious program sponsored by the 41st International Eucharistic Congress, a worldwide spiritual assembly of Catholics and other Christians gathering here Aug. 1-8, 1976.

Paralyzed Ex-Marine Still Loves The Corps, Life

By GUNNAR CARLSON
MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — David Kamp, a 27-year-old ex-Marine, is not supposed to be alive today.

Wounded in action nearly eight years ago in Vietnam, he "died" once on an operating table. He still is paralyzed from his neck down and spends most of his time on his back in bed.

But he says he is not bitter, despite the injury that doctors say will leave him in pain the rest of his life. In fact, Kamp says he still loves the Corps, and loves life, and can prove it.

Kamp and his wife of three years, Barbara, celebrated the birth of their first child last month. The child was born on the 200th anniversary of the founding of the Marine Corps.

"I've done my part," Kamp says. "Now it's up to Barb. There's still a chance."

Kamp was only 19 when he was struck by a Communist bullet while on a mission just south of the demilitarized zone in South Vietnam. The date was Dec. 28, 1976.

The bullet entered his neck, struck his spine and ricocheted into his chest cavity. He was transferred to a hospital ship where he lay in a coma for 17 days, and "died" once on an operating table. When he awoke, it was 1968, and he was paralyzed from the neck down.

When he was injured he was only two months and one mission short of rotation back to the United States. The injury changed his life.

"It was a 360-degree turnaround for me," says Kamp. "When I was in high school I didn't spend an hour a day watching TV. There weren't enough hours in the day."

"One day you're six-foot-one, 195 and still growing, and the next you're 100 pounds of skin and bones. I had to start from scratch."

The injury led to four years in VA hospitals where he gradually regained the use of his right hand. He was first discharged from the hospital in the fall of 1971 and returned to Muskegon.

But he was readmitted to a VA hospital in Chicago six months later with complications. It was during his second hospital stay that he met his wife, Barbara.

"She was a hospital volunteer," Kamp recalls. They conducted a "whirlwind" courtship, were engaged in June and married in August.

Now Kamp says he has everything to look forward to.

"I was very bitter at the outset," he says. "It took about a year to adjust psychologically."

"But you've got to take what you can get and make the best of it. I live one day at a time. . . whatever happens tomorrow is going to happen."

"Feeling sorry for yourself is just a waste of your own time and everyone else's."

Kamp has been enrolled in an accounting course. When he passes a state exam, he plans to do tax accounting for individuals and small firms in his home.

"Hey, I'm just happy to be alive," Kamp says. "Things are terrific. This is just about all I need in life. . . to get that baby and have it healthy. That's all I need."

Despite constant pain caused by his still bruised spinal cord, Kamp says he has no regrets.

"Who's to say? I might have come home and gotten killed in a car accident," he says. "If I had it to do all over again, I'd do the same thing in a minute."

"Only keep your head down this time," his wife interjected. "Yeah, keep my head down," he agreed.

PARALYZED EX-MARINE LOVES CORPS: David Kamp, 27-year-old ex-Marine paralyzed from neck down as result of Vietnam wound nearly eight years ago, and wife, Barbara, look at famed Iwo Jima picture on eve of birth of their first child. ## Girl Wins $170,000 For Riot Injuries

DETROIT (AP) — A settlement of $170,000 has been approved for a Detroit girl who said she was shot in the face by police during the city's 1967 riots.

The award was the largest of several approved by the city council, with the total hitting $207,650.

Attorney Paul G. Bofos said Sandra Pines, who was 9 years old when she was shot, was injured by a stray bullet when police opened fire on a carload of looters during the riots. She and her mother, he said, were on their way home from a friend's house when the incident occurred.

Bogus said Miss Pines, now 17 and a high school senior, leads a normal life but will need cosmetic surgery to repair scars left by the bullet.

City attorney Joseph D. Echelberry said an out of court settlement should be made because psychiatric tests showed the girl had "extensive behavioral defects" as a result of the shooting.

City attorneys said they feared a court settlement might reach $500,000, as the Pines family had filed a $750,000 lawsuit. They also maintained Miss Pines could have been hit by a bullet fired by the fleeing looters, although Bogos said he had witnesses who would testify that only police fired their weapons. The bullet shattered on impact, making ballistic tests impossible, attorneys said. Miss Pines said she plans to save the money for college.

The other awards, the largest being $27,650, all dealt with the city bus system.

Five Building Permits Total $120,000 In Covert Township

COVERT — Five building permits for an estimated $120,000 worth of construction were issued in November by Andrew Lloyd, Covert township building inspector.

One permit, for $100,000, was for Consumers Power company for a building to house a $22 million feed-water purification system announced earlier this week by the firm.

The building will be at Consumers' Palusades nuclear power-generating plant.

Other permits went to: Oscar Blair to remodel home on M-140 at an estimated cost of $15,000.

Glen Miller, route 1, 24 by 40 foot addition to house, $4,000.

Angel Murlente, 12 by 12 foot storage shed, 80th avenue, $500.

Nathaniel Kindle, 34th avenue, build a 24 by 12 foot storage shed, $500.

CINDY WEBER
To make trip

WATERVLIET — Watervliet high school senior Cindy Weber has been selected to attend the week-long Presidential Classroom in Washington, D.C., Feb. 9-13.

The selection of Miss Weber was made by a five-member faculty committee on the basis of an essay, according to Kenneth Bannan, high school principal. The high school student council sponsors the trip, and raised $385 to pay for it.

Miss Weber, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Weber, 7061 Territorial road, Benton Harbor. She is a member of the National Honor Society and is the secretary of the student council.

The Presidential Classroom is designed to provide high school students with a close look at American government in the nation's capital.

Holiday Baking Needs!

One of the warmest memories children often have of the holiday season is the aroma of fresh-from-the-oven cookies, cakes and breads. Now, it's time to start your holiday baking once again, and we've stocked our shelves with everything you'll need. From staple items like flour, and oil to those little extras like candied fruits, chocolate chips and toppings.

So, why not get out the family recipe file, then plan a visit to Jewel. This week, your nearby Jewel will be featuring many of your favorite baking supplies at special low holiday prices. Helping you save on festive foods is just one more way Jewel can make holiday shopping more enjoyable for you!

Baltimore Blanks Giants To Stay Alive

'Kid' Strock Miami Winner

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

He was just a kid, they said. In his first two years as a reserve quarterback, a third-stringer, he hadn't thrown the ball even once. In this, his third year, he'd thrown it only five times — and that in a game that was already decided.

How in the world, they wondered, would this lanky, raw kid take over as a starter and direct a team fighting for its life in the National Football League?

He did it just fine, thank you. "It's not my nature to be nervous," Don Strock said after passing for two touchdowns and running for one to lead the Miami Dolphins to a 31-21 victory over the Buffalo Bills. "I wasn't scared. I slept like a log last night, but I probably won't sleep tonight." In Sunday's other games it was Baltimore 21, the New York Giants 0; St. Louis 31, Dallas 17; Washington 30, Atlanta 27; Pittsburgh 31, Cleveland 17; Cincinnati 31, Philadelphia 0; San Diego 28, Kansas City 20; Minnesota 24, Green Bay 3; Los Angeles 14, New Orleans 7; Houston 27, San Francisco 13; the New York Jets 30, New England 28, and Chicago 25, Detroit 21. Tonight it's Denver at Oakland.

Strock, a 6-foot-5, 200-pounder who had warmed Miami's bench since coming out of Virginia Tech as the nation's collegiate passing champion in 1972, went from No. 3 to No. 1 in a hurry when Bob Griese and Earl Morrall were hobbled by injuries in successive weeks. If Coach Don Shula had any reservations about how his kid quarterback would do, he didn't give any evidence of it.

"He was on his own, playcalling," Shula said. "All he needed was an opportunity and he showed that in a big way." He showed his stuff in a big hurry, too. He hit 10 straight passes and staked the Dolphins to a 21-0 halftime lead on his TD run of five yards and scoring strikes of eight yards and one yard to Howard Twilley.

The Bills charged back in the second half. O.J. Simpson scored twice on a 14-yard run and a 62-yard pass from Joe Ferguson, who also hit J.D. Hill with a 31-yard TD pass. But the rally was offset by Norm Bulaich's one-yard touchdown run. And for Buffalo, it was too little, too late. With the loss, the Bills fell out of the playoff chase. And with the victory, Miami remained a game ahead of Baltimore in the American Conference East and set up a first-place showdown in the Colts' corral next Sunday.

"The record means a lot — if we get into the playoffs," Lydell Mitchell said after rushing for 119 yards to give himself 1,008 for the season and become the first Baltimore running back ever to hit four figures. "But individual efforts don't mean that much if we don't make it all the way."

Mitchell scored the only TD the Colts needed to make the Giants their seventh straight victim with a nine-yard run. The Baltimore defense did its part by sacking Craig Morton eight times.

Jim Hart made up for the four interceptions he threw against Buffalo on Thanksgiving Day by throwing three touchdowns in St. Louis' victory over Dallas that restored the Cardinals' sole possession of first place in the National Conference East.

The Cowboys fell into a second-place tie with Washington, their foe next Saturday.

Once again, Washington seemed headed for overtime when Atlanta's Nick Mike-Mayer kicked a 44-yard field goal with 61 seconds to play, tying things at 27-27.

But Billy Kilmer, who had thrown three touchdown passes earlier, marched Washington across the field and Mark Moseley booted a 39-yard field goal with five seconds to play, lifting the Redskins to victory.

Pittsburgh, stung by two Cleveland touchdowns within 14 seconds in the first half, rallied behind two Terry Bradshaw touchdown passes to Lynn Swann and two Franco Harris scoring runs. They rolled to their 10th straight victory and stayed a game ahead of Cincinnati in the AFC's Central Division.

Ken Anderson returned from a week on the bench with an injury and completed 20 of 25 passes for 223 yards, including a 10-yard TD pass to Ed Williams, in Cincinnati's rout of the Eagles. Williams also scored on a one-yard dive.

"I knew things were changing," San Diego Coach Tommy Prothro said, "when I beat a slot machine for the first time when our plane stopped in Las Vegas on the way to Kansas City." Prothro was right. The Chargers won their first game of the year behind rookie Ricky Young's 124 yards and two touchdowns rushing.

Minnesota's Fran Tarkenton threw two touchdown passes to John Gilliam and another to Chuck Foreman to beat the Packers and move within one TD pass of Johnny Unitas' NFL plays and we didn't," he said. "Jack Pardee is a great football coach and deserved to win this football game."

Pardee, whose Bears are now 3-9, said he thought the game was his rebuilding team's best of the season, despite the fact that "we still made rookie mistakes."

"We gave the game ball to Jim Osborne who had seven tackles and three sacks," Pardee said, "but I was also very pleased with the play of Roland Harper and Bob Avellini. It could have been any one of them."

Intense Bears Beat Lions

Detroit Playoff Hopes Doused, 25-21

CHICAGO (AP) — "They were so fired up it was tough to control the offensive line," rookie Chicago Bears quarterback Bob Avellini said. "They wanted to fight on every other down."

"I tried to calm them down," Avellini said after he hit on 11 of 19 passes for 204 yards Sunday in directing the Bears to a 25-21 victory over Detroit in a game that doused the flickering hopes of the Lions for a National Football Conference wild card playoff berth.

Most agreed on why the Bears were fired up.

"The Bears kept coming on with a lot of intensity," Lions Coach Rick Forzano said glumly. "I guess they're still making a big issue about that laughing. But our team wouldn't laugh at anybody."

Bears Coach Jack Pardee says otherwise. Pardee claims that while the Lions were drubbing Chicago 27-7 earlier in the season, the Detroit players were cackling unabashedly at the blunders of his rookie-laden quad. As Avellini, a sixth-round draft choice out of Maryland making his second start, said: "They humiliated us out in Detroit and we wanted revenge."

Fullback Roland Harper's 27-yard bustle through heavy traffic at 10:38 of the fourth quarter put the Bears ahead to stay after they had led and then fallen behind. He told newsmen afterward that "laughing doesn't mean anything."

"If they want to laugh and jump around, that's fine with me," said the 17th round draftee out of Louisiana Tech. "We'll just beat them on the field. We have better personnel."

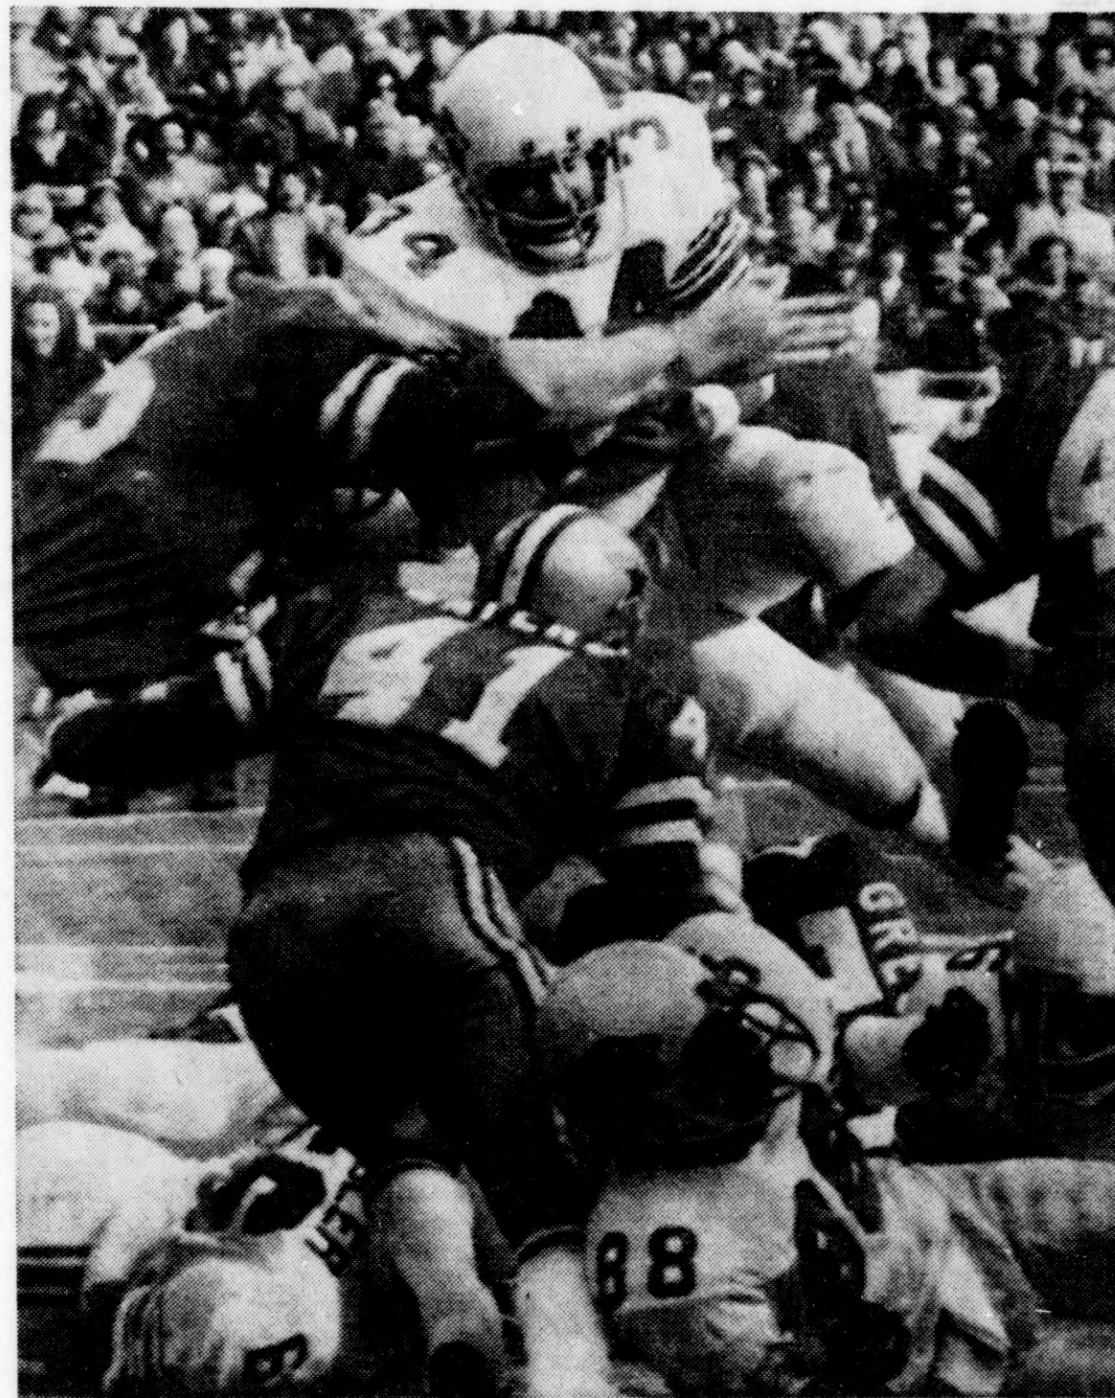

Softspoken top draft choice Walter Payton, who plunged for two touchdowns, merely said: "Last time we played Detroit we made a poor showing. We had something to prove to them and to ourselves."

The Lions appeared en route to a come-from-behind win as they scored twice within 69 officially-elapased seconds on Joe Reed touchdown passes of 15 and 59 yards to Marlin Briscoe at the end of the third quarter and start of the fourth.

The second was set up when Dick Jauron snatched off an Avellini pass. But minutes later Jauron became the latest member of Detroit's mushrooming splint-and-bandage brigade and a team spokesman said he now faces surgery. Six of Jauron's nine career interceptions have come against the Bears.

"I don't like to dwell on injuries," Forzano said, surveying the silent and downcast faces in the Detroit dressing room.

"The Bears made the big

Barkley Ends Ice Career

DETROIT (AP) — Doug Barkley says his being fired as coach of the Detroit Red Wings means he is finished with ice hockey, recalling this is not the first time he has been given the ax.

"This means the end for me as far as hockey," Barkley said Saturday. "Now that I've been fired twice, who's going to give me another chance?"

Barkley first left the Wings as coach in 1971.

Pressed for more details about his statement, Barkley said, "Well...let's leave it, that was a long time ago."

Barkley was fired as coach of the Wings Thursday in Vancouver by General Manager Alex Delvecchio, who took over the coaching duties.

There was speculation players were unhappy and that was one of the reasons Barkley was fired after the 9-1 loss in Vancouver.

"After the first period we were down, 3-0," Barkley recalled. "And I just told them to forget that and play the rest of the game like it meant something. Then before you know it, the score is 8-3."

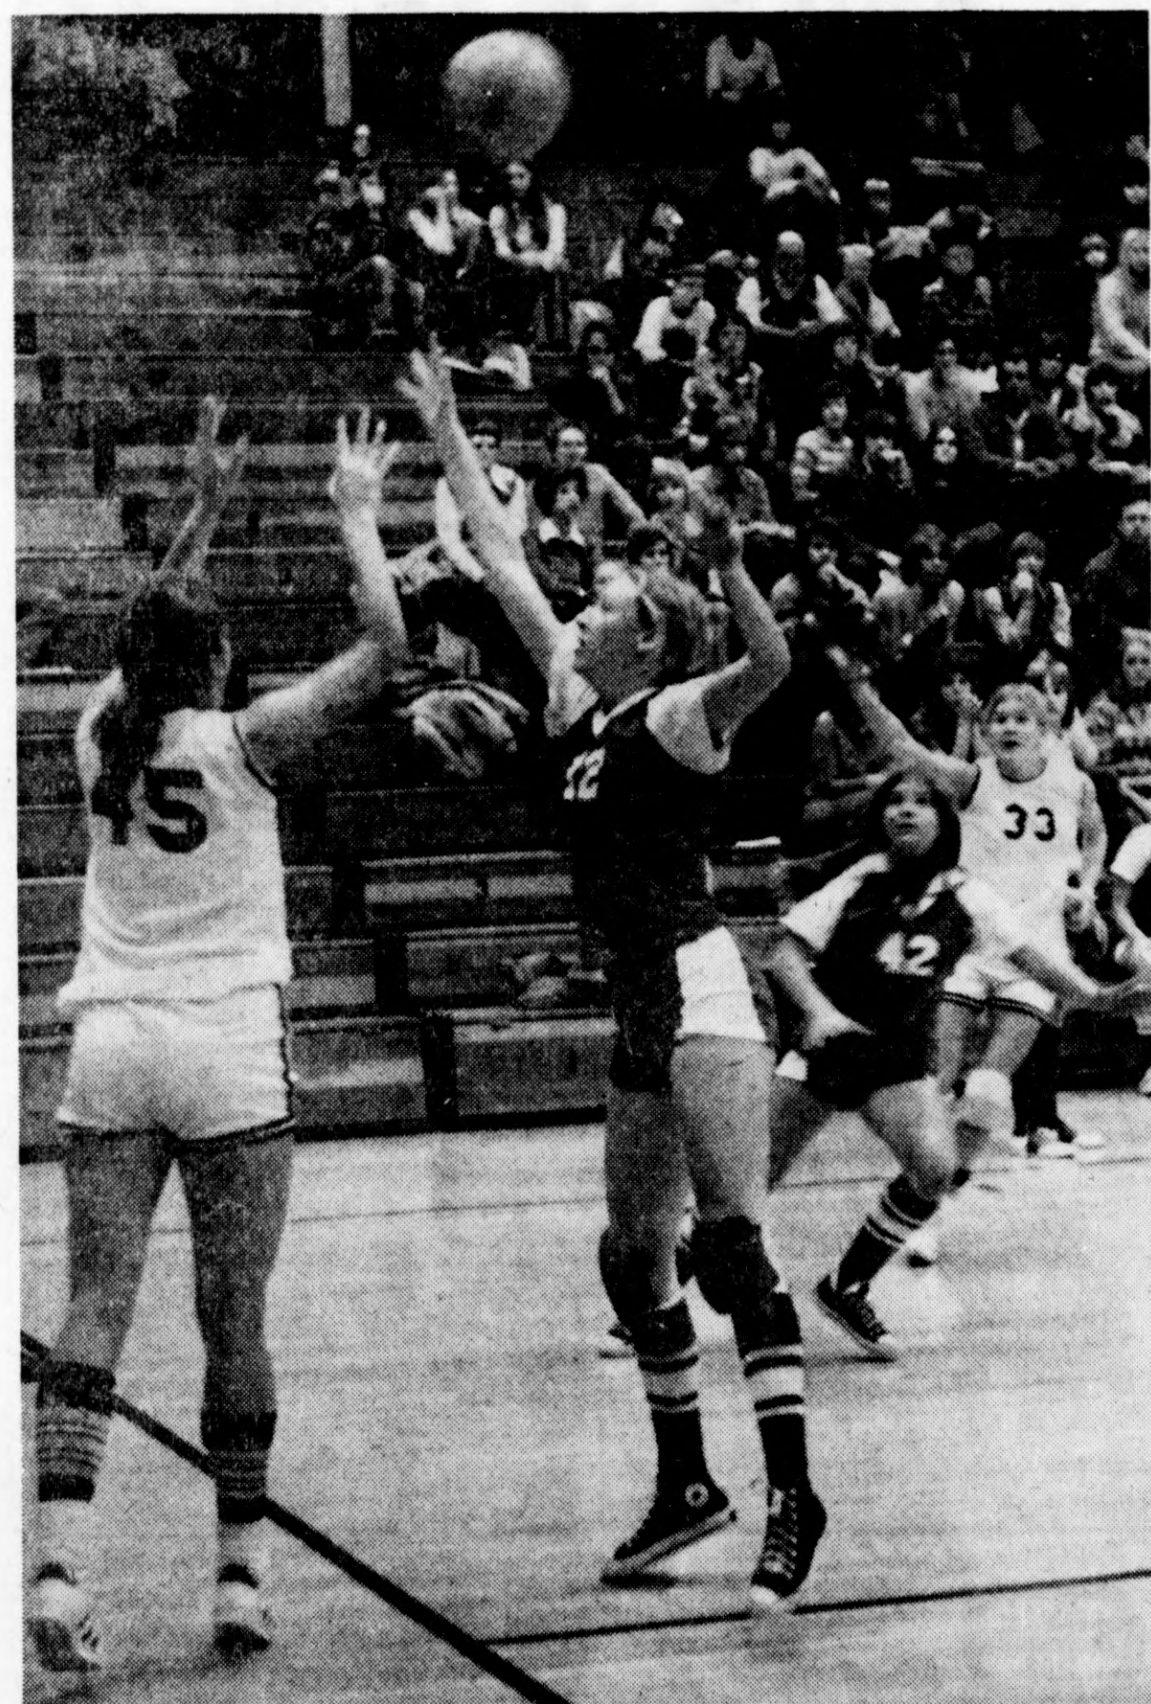

Barkley says that if there was any dissension on the club, "I wasn't aware of it."

"I thought we had a good nucleus of players, guys like Dan Maloney, Nick Libett, Terry Harper and Walt McKechnie and a couple of good team men like Bryan Watson and Jean Hamel, to build around but the fringe players just don't cut it," said the former coach.

Ferris Winner

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Jerry DiRusso scored four goals to lead Ferris State to an 8-4 nonconference hockey victory Sunday over the University of Michigan-Dearborn. Ferris is now 3-0 for the season.

Gull Lake Girls End Lancer Hopes

BY PAUL MORGAN

COMSTOCK — The dream of a state championship for Denny's Dollies came to an end here Saturday afternoon but Gull Lake sure knew it had beaten a stubborn foe.

Jodi Rabbers scored 20 points but a cold shooting fourth quarter spelled doom for Lakeshore's girls as they lost the Class B regional championship game to the Blue Angels 61-45.

The loss ended the Lancer careers of a trio of talented cagers; Rabbers, Sue Kunkel and Mandy Smith. "They were all three-year starters and just outstanding kids," said coach Denny Kniola, who himself is stepping aside after three-years at the helm. He will be replaced by Bill Davison.

Thanks to the play of 6-1 Gull Lake center Doni Meier, the Lancers fell behind right from the outset. Meier, with her rebounding and tough inside play, led the Blue Angels to a 17-point lead midway through the second quarter at 30-13 and 32-15. She ended the game with 22 points.

"We knew she was 100 per cent left-handed but we still had trouble stopping her," commented Kniola. "We tried to front her in the second and third quarters and it worked fairly well."

It actually worked better than fairly well as the Lancers held her to six points in the middle two stanzas.

With Lakeshore's press play as rugged as ever, the Lancers cut the Gull Lake's lead to 49-45 with 4:56 remaining in the game. But the lid fell over the Lancers' bucket as they missed their next 13 shots at the hoop and Gull Lake notched 12 points.

"The press really helped in that spurt," said Kniola. "We were just too inconsistent on defense throughout the game."

"The press really bothered Doni in the second quarter," said Angels' coach Jan Ellinger. "In the fourth quarter, I told them to just settle down against it and it worked."

First Gull Lake and then Lakeshore were hit with the foul bug. Both Blue Angels' starting forwards, Sue Pifer and Liz Bogue, fouled out in the third quarter. "I thought we were in pretty good shape until we got into foul trouble in the fourth quarter," said Kniola.

Kunkel left with five personals at the 2:51 mark of the last quarter and three other Lancers finished the contest with four fouls on them.

Kniola was pleased with the performance of his bench, especially Kathy Mensinger. "Kathy did a whale of a job. She played good defense and rebounded well."

Besides Rabbers 20 points, Patty Hoge came off the bench to notch 12 points and Mandy Smith had eight. Lakeshore only hit on 17 of 64 field goal tries for 27 per cent.

Kunkel led the team in rebounding with 11 and Rabbers, at 5-3, pulled down six boards.

Cass Girls Fall In Regional Finale

KALAMAZOO — Cassopolis couldn't overcome a balanced scoring attack by Kalamazoo Christian and fell to the Comets in the title game of the Class C regional played at Hackett high 53-45 Saturday afternoon.

Christian was paced by Norma Lemmer who came off the bench to score 18 points. Carol Manni had 10 points and Cathy Manni had nine.

Cassopolis was led by the Goins sisters. Denise captured game high scoring honors with 21 points while sister Billie notched 16 more.

The Rangers close out their season with a 16-5 record.

"I knew if we could stop their fast break offense and chase-the-ball defense, we could beat them," grinned Comets' coach Thelma Horn.

Cassopolis didn't help itself as the Rangers ennovers to Christian's 36. In the shooting war, Cass made 21 of 62 attempts for 34 per cent while the Comets converted on 18 of 55 tries for 33 per cent.

After trailing at the end of the first quarter, 9-6, Christian took the lead for good when it hit five field goals in a row to start the second quarter. The Comets' biggest lead of the afternoon came with 2:46 left when they led 49-33.

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Linebacker Steve Nelson of the New England Patriots set a club record with 18 unassisted tackles Sunday, but he was an unhappy young man after the Pats' 30-28 Natio al Football League loss to the New York Jets.

Rumors Follow Seven-Player Deal With Houston

Tigers Offer Lolich For Staub?

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Fresh from a seven-player deal with the Houston Astros, the Detroit Tigers reportedly are trying to trade Mickey Lolich for a left-handed power hitter.

The Tiger management's offer of Lolich at baseball's winter meeting reportedly would involve New York Mets rightfielder Rusty Staub.

The Tiger front-office also was said to be on the verge of buying first baseman Jim Spencer from the Texas Rangers.

Because of his long years with the Tigers, Lolich, 35, would have to give permission before being traded. He has said he would refuse to finish his career in another city, but New York may have enough salary money to get him to change his mind.

Staub drove in 105 runs and hit .282 last year. He reportedly is up for grabs because the Mets have such a strong need of players in other areas.

Staub could play left-field in an outfield with Mickey Stanley and Ben Oglivie, or he could be the Tigers' designated hitter.

"You've got to build your ball club to fit your ball park and our park is made for left-handed hitters," said Tiger vice president Rick Ferrell.

"When we had Normi Cash and Jim Northrup and Dick McAuliffe, we had two or three guys who would each hit more home runs every year than all our left-handers put together hit last season. All of a sudden we just found ourselves with no left-handed power at all. And it was killing us."

In the deal with Houston, the Tigers received catcher Milt May and left-handed pitcher Dave Roberts and Jim Crawford. In return, Houston got outfielder Leon Roberts, catcher Terry Humphrey and pitchers Mark Lemongello and

Gene Pentz.

Dave Roberts, a member of Houston's starting rotation for most of the 1975 season, had an 8-14 record with a 4.27 earned run average in 32 games. The seven-year veteran spent three seasons with the San Diego Padres before they traded him to Houston four years ago.

May, obtained by the Astros from Pittsburgh in October 1973, batted .241 last season with four home runs and 52 runs batted in. Crawford had a 3-5 record with a 3.62 ERA in 44 games.

Leon Roberts broke in as a rookie with Detroit last season by hitting .255 with 10 homers and 38 RBIs. Humphrey, a former Montreal Expo, was injured for much of last year, batting .244 in just 18 games.

Pentz compiled a 2-3 record and 2.95 ERA at Evansville of the American Association before being recalled to the Tigers late in the season. He played 13 games for Detroit, losing all four decisions with a 3.20 ERA.

Lemongello, considered one of the most promising players in the Detroit farm system, was 7-4 with a 3.87 ERA at Evansville.

Western Kentucky dumped New Hampshire 14-3 Saturday to get into the Camelia Bowl.

Krueger after the Wildcats slipped by Livingston.

"We got somebody upstairs who likes us. Livingston played a great game. A couple of fumbles by them saved our lives," Krueger added after the game.

Livingston took a 10-0 lead, and scored with 34 seconds to go before halftime as quarterback Willie Slater ran five yards, ending an 80-year thrust.

But Northern Michigan countered with four consecutive second quarter scores. Quarterback Steve Mariucci threw for two touchdowns and ran for another while Randy Awrey tallied the final TD.

Mariucci's first touchdown, a 57-yarder to Maurice Mitchell, was deflected by Livingston's Harold Goodman but bounced into the waiting arms of Mitchell.

Krueger and Livingston coach Jim King both agreed the deflected pass was the key play in the game.

"We were really struggling to get something going," Krueger said. "We were just fortunate that the ball deflected in the right direction."

"That touchdown definitely gave us a big lift."

King said his Tigers lost four fumbles and, "We beat ourselves."

Two fumbles were important as Northern stormed 51 yards following one fumble for a score. The other came in the waning minutes of the game as the Tigers were on the NMU 11.

Mariucci, who was selected the game's most valuable offensive player, drew praise from Krueger.

"Steve was about letter perfect in the second quarter, but in the later part of the game we became a little too conservative."

"There's no question about it. We were too conservative in the third quarter and let them get back into the game."

Livingston rallied in the last half on Ricky Seales' one-yard run and James Mullinax' 30-yard field goal, his second of the game.

Gordie Handed First Suspension

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Gordie Howe, the 47-year-old right wing of the Houston Aeros who also is the club's president, has been suspended for the first time in his 29-year hockey career.

The World Hockey Association shelved Howe indefinitely for abuse of an official in a game Friday night.

Howe's teammate, goalie Ron Grahame, was suspended along with Howe after each had run-ins with referee Ron Asselstine in the penalty-filled 5-4 Houston victory over the Winnipeg Jets.

A WHA statement said league Chief Executive Ben

Hatskin would make a ruling on the incident later.

Each of the players was ejected from the game — Grahame in the first period and Howe in the second — after drawing five of the 30 penalties called.

"Among other things, I rumbled at the referee," said Howe, hockey's all-time greatest scorer. "One time I did give him an elbow, and you shouldn't do that to an official. But the guy was making awful calls."

It was one call, on Howe for high-sticking at 7:10 of the middle period, that got the veteran ejected.

Howe argued the ruling by Asselstine, bumped him against the boards at Houston's Summit Arena, and got a game misconduct for his actions.

His ejection, the second of the game, brought a furious reaction from the crowd of 10,702 at the Summit.

Asselstine earlier had thrown out Grahame — who had stormed at the official with his stick raised. When the crowd erupted, the referee skated off the ice and nearly didn't return.

Howe said Grahame just raised his stick over his head while facing the referee.

"Gee," he added, "we do that all the time."

Grahame, however, came after the referee a second time but was tackled by teammate Ted Taylor before reaching Asselstine.

Howe also said he told the referee at one point, "All those people came down just to see you put on a good show."

Later, he added, "Why don't you step out and see yourself on the tele screen (a replay screen in the stadium)?" and at that point elbowed the official.

After a 20-minute delay, Asselstine was persuaded to return to the game by Houston coach Bill Dineen and Winnipeg coach Bobby Kromm.

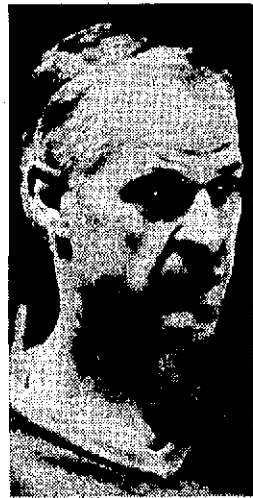

But later, he offered the league his resignation.

"I'm finished," Asselstine said after the game. "When the man who's supposed to be the craftiest who has ever played the game (Howe) drives me in the guts, it's obvious I'm not the man for the job."

A league spokesman said the official was going to league headquarters in Toronto to discuss the situation with WHA executive vice president Bud Poile and referee-in-chief Bill Friday.

Asselstine was to have officiated Saturday night's game between Houston and Phoenix here, but was relieved of the assignment.

Wolverines' Rally One Point Short

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — In a battle of national basketball powers, unbeaten Tennessee survived a second-half rally by Michigan to slip by the Wolverines 82-81 Saturday.

Tennessee hit 11 of its first 13 field goals but led by only 10 points at the half.

Trailing 53-39, the Wolverines got hot and made 11 of 12 baskets from the field to close the gap to 71-69.

The game remained close to the end.

Bernard King, Tennessee's 6-foot-7 sophomore ace, hit 13 of 16 field goals to lead the Vols with 27 points.

But it was Mike Jackson's free throw with 12 seconds left that gave eighth-ranked Tennessee a three-point cushion at 82-79 and the winning margin.

The Vols outscored 16-ranked Michigan 12-2 early in the first half and jumped to a 28-12 lead. Michigan came back with a 10-2 surge early in the second half.

Tennessee hit 64.3 per cent of its shots from the field, while the Wolverines hit 50 per cent.

The triumph left Tennessee with a 3-0 record. The U-M is now 1-1.

Eastern Michigan Shocks MSU Cagers

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — What happens when a Mid-American Conference upstart hosts a sagging Big Ten giant on the basketball court?

Michigan State fans found out to their chagrin Saturday as the Spartans fell to Eastern Michigan, 85-78.

Brian Schubert sank two consecutive buckets with less than seven minutes to play, putting EMU in command. Schubert wound up with 22 points as all five EMU starters were in double figures.

Terry Furlow led Michigan State with 28 points.

EMU held a 39-28 halftime advantage, but the Spartans closed the gap to 61-59 with eight minutes left. Schubert's two straight baskets gave the Hurons a 65-59 lead and MSU just didn't have time to catch up.

EMU has a 3-1 record while MSU is 1-1. The game was played before 5,240 fans at Bowen Fieldhouse.

Tigers Offer Lolich For Staub?

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Fresh from a seven-player deal with the Houston Astros, the Detroit Tigers reportedly are trying to trade Mickey Lolich for a left-handed power hitter.

The Tiger management's offer of Lolich at baseball's winter meeting reportedly would involve New York Mets rightfielder Rusty Staub.

The Tiger front-office also was said to be on the verge of buying first baseman Jim Spencer from the Texas Rangers.

Because of his long years with the Tigers, Lolich, 35, would have to give permission before being traded. He has said he would refuse to finish his career in another city, but New York may have enough salary money to get him to change his mind.

Staub drove in 105 runs and hit .282 last year. He reportedly is up for grabs because the Mets have such a strong need of players in other areas.

Staub could play left-field in an outfield with Mickey Stanley and Ben Oglivie, or he could be the Tigers' designated hitter.

"You've got to build your ball club to fit your ball park and our park is made for left-handed hitters," said Tiger vice president Rick Ferrell.

"When we had Norm Cash and Jim Northrup and Dick McAuliffe, we had two or three guys who would each hit more home runs every year than all our left-handers put together hit last season. All of a sudden we just found ourselves with no left-handed power at all. And it was killing us."

In the deal with Houston, the Tigers received catcher Milt May and left-handed pitchers Dave Roberts and Jim Crawford. In return, Houston got outfielder Leon Roberts, catcher Terry Humphrey and pitchers Mark Lemongello and

Gene Pentz.

Dave Roberts, a member of Houston's starting rotation for most of the 1975 season, had an 8-14 record with a 4.27 earned run average in 32 games. The seven-year veteran spent three seasons with the San Diego Padres before they traded him to Houston four years ago.

May, obtained by the Astros from Pittsburgh in October 1973, batted .241 last season with four home runs and 52 runs batted in. Crawford had a 3-5 record with a 3.62 ERA in 44 games.

Leon Roberts broke in as a rookie with Detroit last season by hitting .255 with 10 homers and 38 RBIs. Humphrey, a former Montreal Expo, was injured for much of last year, batting .244 in just 18 games.

Pentz compiled a 2-3 record and 2.95 ERA at Evansville of the American Association before being recalled to the Tigers late in the season. He played 13 games for Detroit, losing all four decisions with a 3.20 ERA.

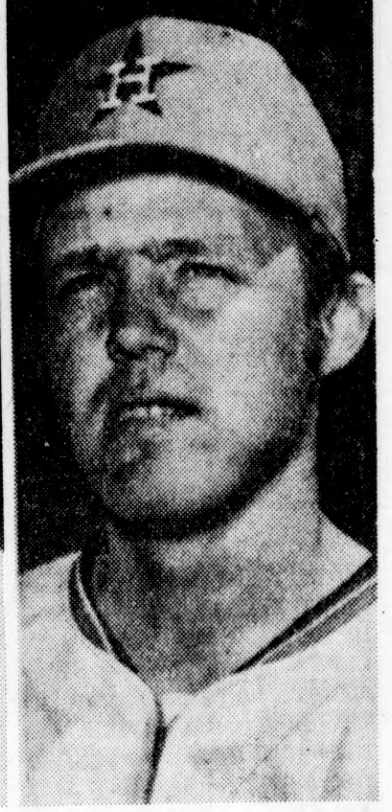

Lemongello, considered one of the most promising players in the Detroit farm system, was 7-4 with a 3.87 ERA at Evansville.

South Haven's 'Gamble' Pays Off

Forward Paces 66-44 Victory Over Lakeshore

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

South Haven "Gamble" and hit the jackpot Saturday night. Junior forward William Gamble scored 18 points and pulled down eight rebounds to lead South Haven to an easy 66-44 win over Lakeshore before more than 1,500 fans at Lakeshore. "William was a ballplayer at both ends of the floor," Ram coach M. H. White said. "He really covered his point of the zone defense and went to the boards strong." The win was the fourth without a loss for the young Rams, while Lakeshore fell to 0-3. For Lancer coach Lloyd MacTavish, it was virtually a repeat of Lakeshore's opening game loss to St. Joseph. "What can you say," MacTavish said. "You can't win if you can't put the ball in the hole and we have not been able to do that." Lakeshore hit only 17 of 86 from the floor, a miserable 26 per cent. Even more incredibly, the Lakers connected on just four of 34 from the field in the second half.

Lakeshore's two big men, 6-4 Tom Jager and 6-7 Mike Mason, just could not find the basket. Jager hit just five of 18 from the floor, finishing with 14 points, and Mason only two of 13 and seven points.

"Ineffectiveness is the one word which really sums it up," MacTavish said. "We were getting the shots against their zone. We took enough shots to win and we took a lot of good percentage shots, too."

Only guard Jim Rosenhagen could find the hoop with any consistency for Lakeshore. The 6-1 junior topped the Lakers with 16 points, hitting eight of 17. Guard Nate Goodwin scored 16, including 14 in the first half, and forward Mike Grimes had 12 for South Haven.

"It was our best game of the year, especially offensively in the first half," observed White. "I felt we played as well as a team as we have all year." White was especially pleased with the overall combined play of his two forwards, Gamble and Grimes, who also pulled down 15 rebounds.

"I wouldn't trade my two forwards for any I've seen in southwestern Michigan," he said. Lakeshore was able to stay in the game only during the first 12 minutes. After a basket by Larry Toth gave the Lakers their last lead at 24-22, South Haven hit four straight shots and scored 12 points in a row to surge to a 34-24 edge. The Rams were never in trouble after that.

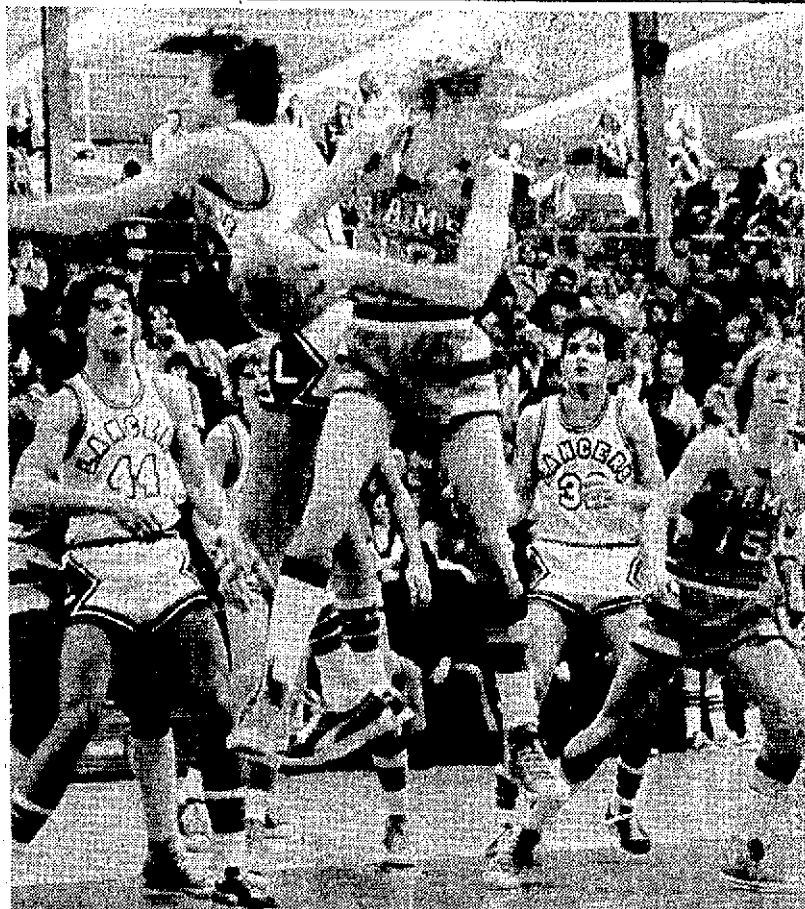

Reserve forward Bill Wood came off the bench to ignite a fire under South Haven in the second half. He scored just four points, but made White take notice of his aggressive style of play.

"Wood came off the bench ready to play," White said. "It's so hard to get a kid to do that. He was the quickest man on the floor when he was out there."

Turnovers again plagued Lakeshore. The Lakers turned the ball over 29 times, many of which resulted in easy South Haven buckets. The Rams, on the other hand, committed just 17.

South Haven hit 30 of 74, despite a poor second half shooting effort, good for 41 per cent. Lakeshore did hold a 43-39 rebounding edge according to respective charts. Jager pulled down 11, Mason 10 and Toth nine for the Lakers.

Lakers Suffer First Defeat Of Season

DETROIT — Lake Michigan Catholic never really got on track here Saturday, sustaining its first loss of the season 55-36 to Detroit St. Andrews.

The hosts are now 3-0, while the Lakers fell to 2-1. Incredibly, Tom Flood was the top Laker scorer with only eight points. Four Lake Michigan players scored six.

Dick Green was the only player on either team to score in double figures, sparking St. Andrews with 24.

St. Andrews raced to a 30-11 halftime lead and the Lakers got no closer than 17 in the second half.

"We played them even up in the second half, but by then it was too late," Lake Michigan coach Al Nixon said. "We just didn't capitalize on our opportunities. We only turned one turnover into a basket." And the hosts committed 24 turnovers to just 16 for the Lakers. But a frigid 24 per cent shooting eye from the floor sealed Lake Michigan's fate.

The Lakers hit only 15 of 62 for the game, but more importantly could find the range on just five of 25 in the first half. St. Andrews meshed 24 of 57 (42 per cent), but hit 14 of 30 in the first half.

The hosts held a slim 32-31 rebounding edge with Green pulling down 11 for St. Andrews. Flood and center Bill Frantz each came away with eight for the Lakers.

Lake Michigan Catholic did win the junior varsity game 70-45 with Kevin Wheeler tossing in 13, George Schueneman 12 and John Spear 10.

Lee Sparks LMC Past Kellogg CC

Kerry Lee has not started a game for Lake Michigan College this season, but he is quickly becoming its most valuable player.

Lee came off the bench to score 26 points Saturday and lead the Indians to a 98-83 win over Kellogg Community College at the Napier Gym.

"He could be a starter," LMC coach Art Crump says of Lee. "But I want someone coming off the bench who can give us a lift. He adds a tremendous amount of quickness to our team both offensively and defensively when he's in the game."

Lee swished 13 of 14 shots from the floor during his superb performance. James Kent, making his first start, added 14. John Taylor 13 and Jim Bridgman 10 for the Indians, now 1-1 in the league and 2-4 overall.

Mel McKnight led Kellogg (0-2 and 4-4) with 25 points.

The Wright Arch Preserver 2-Step:

Step 1:
Put your hand inside a Wright Arch Preserver Shoe.
Feel the little "bump".
That and a special steel shank, built into the sole, are what make our shoe different from any other shoe in America.

Step 2:
Put your foot inside a Wright Arch Preserver Shoe.
You'll feel a little "bump" at first. And before long you'll probably decide you're wearing the most comfortable men's shoe in America.

South Haven's 'Gamble' Pays Off

Forward Paces 66-44 Victory Over Lakeshore

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

South Haven "Gambled" and hit the jackpot Saturday night. Junior forward William Gamble scored 18 points and pulled down eight rebounds to lead South Haven to an easy 66-44 win over Lakeshore before more than 1,500 fans at Lakeshore.

"William was a ballplayer at both ends of the floor," Rams coach M. H. White said. "He really covered his point of the zone defense and went to the boards strong."

The win was the fourth without a loss for the young Rams, while Lakeshore fell to 0-3.

For Lancer coach Lloyd MacTavish, it was virtually a repeat of Lakeshore's opening game loss to St. Joseph.

"What can you say," MacTavish said. "You can't win if you can't put the ball in the hole and we have not been able to do that."

Lakeshore hit only 17 of 66 from the floor, a miserable 26 per cent. Even more incredibly, the Lancers connected on just four of 34 from the field in the second half.

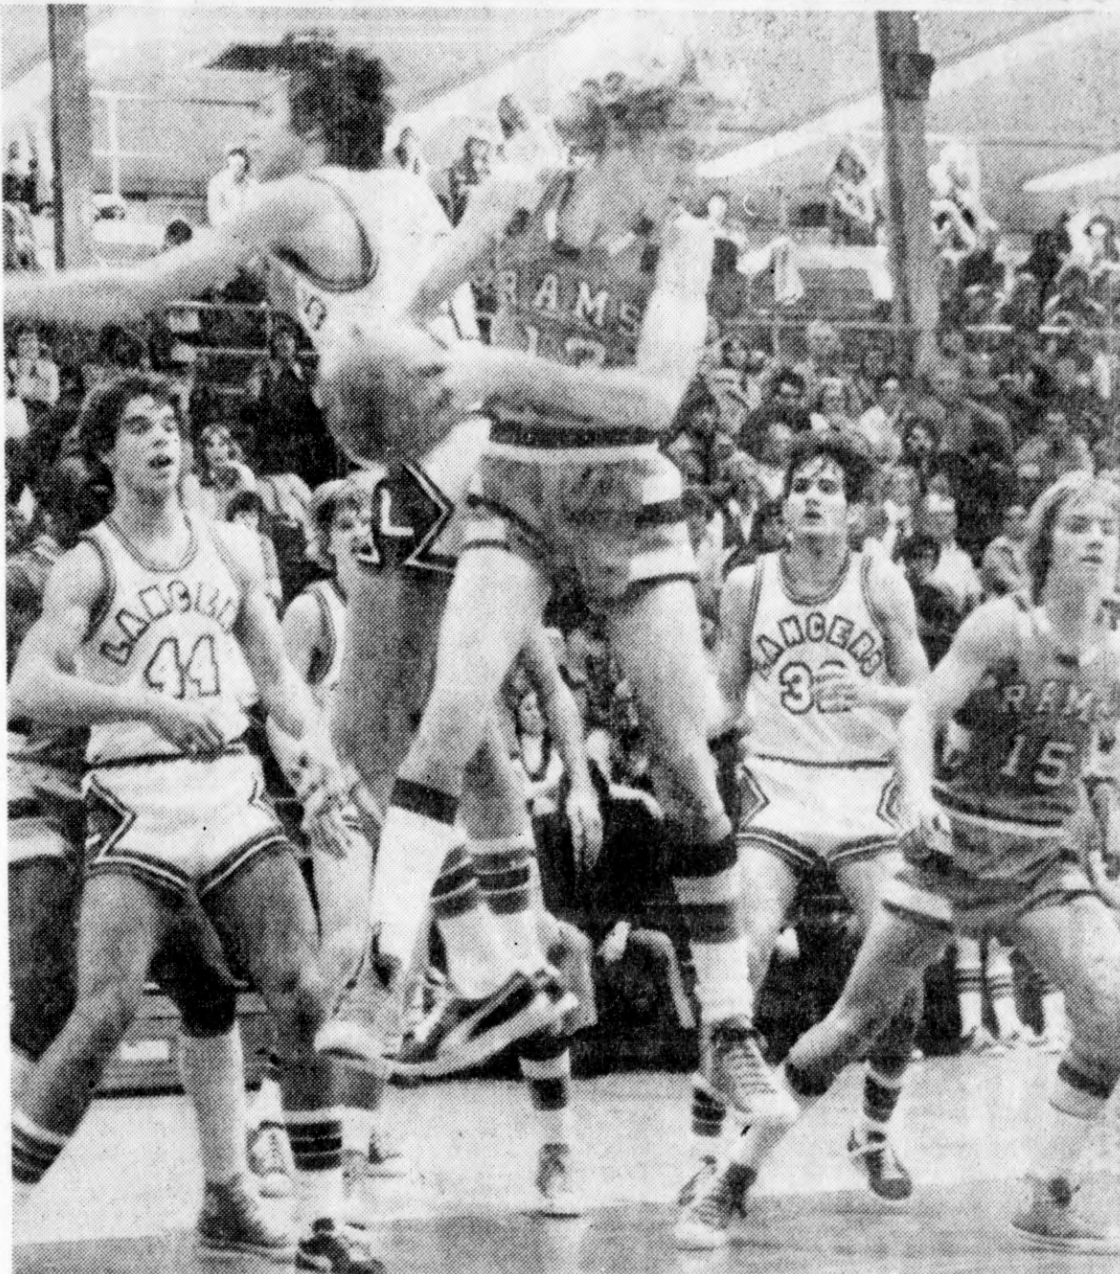

Lakeshore's two big men, 6-4 Tom Jager and 6-7 Mike Mason, just could not find the basket. Jager hit just five of 18 from the floor, finishing with 14 points, and Mason only two of 13 and seven points.

"Ineffectiveness is the one word which really sums it up," MacTavish said. "We were getting the shots against their zone. We took enough shots to win and we took a lot of good percentage shots, too."

Only guard Jim Rosenhagen could find the hoop with any consistency for Lakeshore. The 6-1 junior topped the Lancers with 16 points, hitting eight of 17.

Guard Nate Goodwin scored 16, including 14 in the first half, and forward Mike Grimes had 12 for South Haven.

GRABBING GRIMES: South Haven's Mike Grimes (13) grabs this rebound away from Lakeshore's Jim Rosenhagen during Saturday's game at Lakeshore. Larry Toth (44) and Craig Shafer (32) of Lakeshore and South Haven's Roger Getman (15) are in the background. Grimes pulled down 15 rebounds to help the Rams roll past the Lancers 66-44. # Lakers Suffer First Defeat Of Season

DETROIT — Lake Michigan Catholic never really got on track here Saturday, sustaining its first loss of the season 55-36 to Detroit St. Andrews.

The hosts are now 3-0, while the Lakers fell to 2-1.

Incredibly, Tom Flood was the top Laker scorer with only eight points. Four Lake Michigan players scored six.

Dick Green was the only player on either team to score in double figures, sparking St. Andrews with 24.

St. Andrews raced to a 30-11 halftime lead and the Lakers got no closer than 17 in the second half.

"We played them even up in the second half, but by then it was too late," Lake Michigan coach Al Nixon said. "We just didn't capitalize on our opportunities. We only turned one turnover into a basket."

And the hosts committed 24 turnovers to just 16 for the Lakers. But a frigid 24 per cent shooting eye from the floor sealed Lake Michigan's fate.

The Lakers hit on just 15 of 62 for the game, but more importantly could find the range on just five of 25 in the first half.

St. Andrews meshed 24 of 57 (42 per cent), but hit 14 of 30 in the first half.

Lee Sparks LMC Past Kellogg CC

Kerry Lee has not started a game for Lake Michigan College this season, but he is quickly becoming its most valuable player.

Lee came off the bench to score 26 points Saturday and lead the Indians to a 98-83 win over Kellogg Community College at the Napier Gym.

"He could be a starter," LMC coach Art Crump says of Lee. "But I want someone coming off the bench who can give us a lift. He adds a tremendous amount of quickness to our team both offensively and defensively when he's in the game."

Lake Michigan blistered the nets on 65 per cent of its shots, hitting 44 of 68. The Indians held just a 24-22 lead midway through the first half when Lee entered the game for the first time. Hitting on five of six first half shots, the 6-2 sophomore helped the Indians to a 45-35 halftime lead.

With Lee and Kent doing most of the damage, LMC increased the edge to 20 with about eight minutes to play before clearing the bench.

Unbeaten Watervliet Scores Fourth Win!

Panthers Nip Bangor, 48-45

WATERVLIET — Chuck Brock scored 14 points and Ken Marzka tossed in 11 as the Watervliet Panthers won their fourth straight game this season, edging Bangor 48-45 here Saturday night.

The 4-0 Watervliet record ties the best Panther start since 1950.

"We didn't really play that well," Panther coach Ken

Marzka Sr. said. "We had a super number of turnovers and didn't play with the team effort that I would have liked."

Watervliet committed 33 turnovers, but evened that out by forcing 35 by Bangor. It was a flurry of Panther steals late in the first half which Marzka called the difference. Leading just 17-10, Watervliet scored 10 straight points, with eight coming after Panther steals.

Bangor finally made a late comeback bid and trimmed the Watervliet lead to four at 47-43 with 1:47 to play. But the Panthers ran the clock down to just 24 seconds before Brock was fouled. The 5-10 junior calmly went to the free throw line and sank his first toss to tie the game.

Bangor held a 34-31 rebounding edge, but Marzka was pleased with the board play of Tom Hutchinson, who pulled down 14.

The Panthers hit on 19 of 46 from the floor for 41 per cent, while Bangor could find the range on only 20 of 50 for 40 per cent.

Bangor did win the junior varsity game 63-37.

second half.

Rick Entizen was the top scorer for the hosts with 22 points. Tom came off the bench to score 19, but needed 35 shots for his nine field goals.

Southwestern hit 31 of 60 from the floor for 52 per cent. Glen Oaks found the range on 29 of 56 for 51 per cent.

The Roadrunners also hit 21 of 28 from the free throw line to nine of 14 for the hosts.

Roadrunners Rip Glen Oaks 83-67

GLEN OAKS — All five starters scored in double figures here Saturday as Southwestern Michigan College ripped Glen Oaks 83-67.

The win upped the Roadrunners league mark to 2-0 and overall slate to 4-2. Glen Oaks fell to 0-2 and 3-3, respectively.

The balanced scoring attack made up for guard Jim Powers lowest point total of the year — 15. Wayne Battest led the Roadrunners with 22. Center Bill Carson of Buchanan tossed in 18 points and pulled down 16 rebounds. Robin Plushaupt and Bill Benko each scored 12.

Southwestern trailed by five after the first eight minutes of the game, but Battest then got hot, hitting eight of his first 12 shots from the floor.

The Roadrunner lead at halftime was 43-32 and Glen Oaks got no closer in the

Centreville Hands Lawton Second Loss

CENTREVILLE — Ray Bohn headed a balanced scoring attack with 10 points as Centreville stopped Lawton 60-50 here Saturday night.

Lawton is now 0-2 on the season. An earlier game with White Pigeon, which had originally been reported as a forfeit, will be made up in February.

Bohn was the only player for the hosts to hit for double figures but Centreville boasted three players with nine points and another with eight.

John Lepley sparked Lawton with 19 points and 13 rebounds. Bryan Cronenwett added 12 for the losers.

Centreville raced out to a 17-10 first-quarter lead and Lawton never got closer than six after that.

"We didn't play as well as we're capable of," Lawton coach Bruce Bendix said. "Our major problem was that we just do not have a lot of depth. We didn't get any help from the bench."

Bendix added that turnovers and rebounding "were pretty much the story of the game."

Lawton committed 26 turnovers to 18 for the hosts. Centreville also outrebounded the taller Lawton team 45-41.

The visitors hit just 16 of 50 for 32 per cent while Centreville found the range on 25 of 50 for 50 per cent.

Centreville also won the junior varsity game 64-38.

Bobcats' McCarthy Does His Saturday Night Thing

NILES — Brandywine's Steve McCarthy seems to operate better on Saturday nights.

Last Saturday against Berrien Springs McCarthy scored 32 points to spark the Bobcats to an easy 81-69 win.

McCarthy did it again Saturday, tossing in 28 points and pulling down 24 rebounds to lead Brandywine to a 75-68 win over Culver Military of Indiana.

The Bobcats, now 3-0, held a 58-39 lead after three quarters and substituted freely in the final period.

Sophomore Tony Harris added 22 for Brandywine and Hilrie Campbell had 10.

Sylvester Chube was the game's top scorer with 33 for Culver.

Brandywine also won the junior varsity game, beating Culver 66-47. Scott Rose and Tim Zepka each scored 12 for the Bobcats.

Tartars Lose Classic To Central State In OT

From Associated Press

Central State of Ohio won the Wayne State Tartar Alumni Festival with an 81-79 overtime victory over Wayne State in the finals Saturday night. A jumper by Central's Melvin Cramer tied the score 71-71 at the buzzer to send the game into overtime.

In the extra period, Central's Carl Ealy hit with six seconds to go for the victory. Wayne State is now 2-1 for the season.

In the consolation game, Bob Wagon scored 24 points to lead Saginaw Valley to a 77-66 victory over Illinois-Chicago Circle. Saginaw, 6-1, never trailed in the game. Central defeated Saginaw, 87-72, on Friday night and Wayne knocked off Chicago Circle, 82-59.

Coach Glenn Brown's Northern Michigan University basketball players suffered defeat at the hands of third-ranked Marquette this weekend, but they left Milwaukee with heads high.

Behind 8-0 after 6:47 of the first period, the NMU Wildcats managed to keep Saturday's game close and moved to within striking range before Marquette pulled away in the closing minutes to win, 50-45.

"A lot of teams come in here and are down 8-0 and just get blown out," said Brown. "Our kids came right back and hung in there. They didn't give up."

Dino Conley led NMU, now 12, with 12 points as the Wildcats hit seven baskets in a row to close the gap to 44-39 with 9:43 left before Marquette's final surge.

Hope College, 3-1, defeated Aurora of Illinois, 79-71, in the consolation game of the Aurora Classic. Center Dwayne Boyce paced the attack with 18 points and 10 rebounds.

Another Michigan Intercollegiate athletic Conference team, Adrian, beat John Carroll University, 68-66, to win the Case Western Reserve Tournament in Cleveland. Adrian is now 4-0.

Olivet, also of the MIAA, defeated Tri-State College of Angola, Ind., 66-53, in an easy nonconference contest. Steve Blivens led Olivet, 3-1, with 24 points.

Detroit Institute of Technology took a 76-58 nonconference victory over Highland Park Community College as Reggie Braxton and Herbert Witherspoon each scored 17 for DET, now 3-1. Highland Park is 5-2.

Hillsdale took a home victory over Siena Heights, 107-84, as Eddie Byrd scored 35 points. Freshman forward Tom Walters scored 21 points and pulled down 22 rebounds to aid Hillsdale's attack. Hillsdale is 2-4, while Siena Heights is 1-3.

Kalamazoo College narrowly defeated Goshen of New York, 72-71. Dwayne Garner hit 21 points for Kalamazoo, while Jorry Kessenich had 19 and Ruben Billings had 13.

Mercy College of Detroit took a narrow 70-68 victory over Northwood Institute as Mercy's Keith Love hit two layups in the closing 45 seconds. Buddy Bates led Mercy, 6-3, with 21 points and Dennis Edmonds had 20. Northwood, led by Dave Johnson with 21, is now 1-3 for the season.

Craig Fairbanks scored 18 points to lead Spring Arbor, 4-2, to an easy 105-75 victory over Indiana-Purdue in a nonconference game. Spring Arbor jumped out to an early lead, held a 57-32 halftime margin and coasted home.

Undeclared Lake Superior State took its fourth victory of the season, 103-87, over John Wesley as Gary Fors led the assault with 32 points. Jim Kjolhede was high scorer for Wesley, 3-3, with 29.

Calvin College swept past North Park of Illinois, 101-87, as Mark Veenstra sank 31 points. Undeclared Calvin led all the way to post its second victory.

Michigan Tech dumped Lakehead of Ontario, 87-62, as John Gajjar hit for 19 points and hauled down 18 rebounds.

Explosive Covert Flattens Baldwin

Undeclared Bulldogs Net Fourth Win

COVERT — The Covert express continues to roll. The Bulldog machine sped past its fourth straight opponent Saturday night, bombing Baldwin 88-61.

In its first four games Covert is averaging 93.5 points per game, while yielding only 87.5.

"Really with our team it's a total team effort," Bulldog coach Rod DeYoung says. "We play well together as a team, hitting the open man, getting the good shots and playing the good, pressing defense. We have to do it as a team, though. I'm very pleased with the way we're playing."

Sophomore Jeff Magott added 16, with Rooney Barnes adding 14 and sophomore Steve Hawkins came off the bench to score 10.

Covert broke the game open in the second quarter by outscoring Baldwin 31-13 to grab a 54-32 halftime lead.

Ken Summers scored 16 to lead the visitors.

Covert also captured the junior varsity game, topping

Baldwin 73-59. Jeff DeYoung scored 15, Terry Crump 14 and Jerry Starks 13 for the Bulldogs.

Hopkins, Hanko Claim Crowns; Beavers Second

SPRINGPORT — Jerry Hopkins and Mike Hanko won their weight classes as Eau Claire finished second in the Springport Wrestling tourney held here Saturday.

Both Beavers pinned all three foes en route to their victories. At 167-pounds, Hopkins pinned Mark McVay of Morenci in 2:28. He then took Darryl Hatt of Napoleon in 1:30 and pinned Glen Moore of Springport in the title match in 2:14.

Hanko went through the 185-pound weight class without hardly working up a sweat. He pinned Dennis Herr of Concord in his first match in 2:33. Hanko's second-round victim was Dan Clavette of Porterville who went down in 43 seconds. In the championship match, Hanko pinned Lynn Lightner of Springport in 45 seconds.

Steve Juroff at 112-pounds and Terry Hawkins at 155-pounds captured second places while Dan Pike at 126-pounds and Joe Simaz at 132-pounds won their consolation matches.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Right-hander Dennis Leonard, who won 12 of his last 15 decisions, is the pitcher of the year for the Kansas City Royals.

SJ Matmen Win One Of Three

DETROIT — St. Joseph wrestlers won one dual meet and lost two here Saturday at Thurston high school.

Nap Ramirez (119 pounds) and Dave Dock (145) won three matches each as the Bears downed South Lyon 29-23 and lost to Rochester 38-25 and Thurston 27-22.

Picking up two wins apiece for St. Joe were Andy Diener (105), Rick Dyer (167) and Bruce Ward (185).

St. Joseph, now 1-3, next wrestles at Portage Central Thursday night.

Unbeaten Watervliet Scores Fourth Win! Panthers Nip Bangor, 48-45

WATERVLIET — Chuck Brock scored 14 points and Ken Marzka tossed in 11 as the surprising Watervliet Panthers won their fourth straight game this season, edging Bangor

48-45 here Saturday night. The 4-0 Watervliet record ties the best Panther start since 1956. "We didn't really play that well," Panther coach Ken

Marzka Sr. said. "We had a super number of turnovers and didn't play with the team effort that I would have liked."

Watervliet committed 33 turnovers, but evened that out by forcing 35 by Bangor. It was a flurry of Panther steals late in the first half which Marzka called the difference. Leading just 17-16, Watervliet scored 10 straight points, with eight coming after Panther steals.

Bangor finally made a late comeback bid and trimmed the Watervliet lead to four at 47-43 with 1:47 to play. But the Panthers ran the clock down to just 24 seconds before Brock was fouled. The 5-10 junior calmly went to the free throw line and sank his first toss to ice the game.

Bangor held a 34-31 rebounding edge, but Marzka was pleased with the board play of Tom Hutchinson, who pulled down 14.

The Panthers hit on 19 of 46 from the floor for 41 per cent, while Bangor could find the range on only 20 of 50 for 40 per cent.

Bangor did win the junior varsity game 63-37.

Roadrunners Rip Glen Oaks 83-67

GLEN OAKS — All five starters scored in double figures here Saturday as Southwestern Michigan College ripped Glen Oaks 83-67.

The win upped the Roadrunners league mark to 2-0 and overall slate to 4-2. Glen Oaks fell to 0-2 and 3-3, respectively.

The balanced scoring attack made up for guard Jim Powers lowest point total of the year — 15. Wayne Batteast led the Roadrunners with 22. Center Bill Carson of Buchanan tossed in 18 points and pulled down 16 rebounds. Robin Pflugshaupt and Bill Benko each scored 12.

Southwestern trailed by five after the first eight minutes of the game, but Batteast then got hot, hitting eight of his first 12 shots from the floor.

The Roadrunner lead at halftime was 43-32 and Glen Oaks got no closer in the second half. Rick Entizen was the top scorer for the hosts with 22 points. Tom came off the bench to score 19, but needed 35 shots for his nine field goals.

Southwestern hit 31 of 60 from the floor for 52 per cent. Glen Oaks found the range on 29 of 95 for 31 per cent.

The Roadrunners also hit 21 of 28 from the free throw line to nine of 14 for the hosts.

Centreville Hands Lawton Second Loss

CENTREVILLE — Ray Bohn headed a balanced scoring attack with 10 points as Centreville stopped Lawton 60-50 here Saturday night.

Lawton is now 0-2 on the season. An earlier game with White Pigeon, which had originally been reported as a forfeit, will be made up in February.

Bohn was the only player for the hosts to hit for double figures but Centreville boasted three players with nine points and another with eight.

John Lepley sparked Lawton with 19 points and 13 rebounds. Bryan Cronenwett added 12 for the losers.

Centreville raced out to a 17-10 first-quarter lead and Lawton never got closer than six after that.

"We didn't play as well as we're capable of," Lawton coach Bruce Bendix said. "Our major problem was that we just do not have a lot of depth. We didn't get any help from the bench."

Bendix added that turnovers and rebounding "were pretty much the story of the game."

Lawton committed 26 turnovers to 18 for the hosts. Centreville also outrebounded the taller Lawton team 45-41.

The visitors hit just 16 of 50 for 32 per cent while Centreville found the range on 25 of 60 for 40 per cent.

Centreville also won the junior varsity game 64-39.

Bobcats' McCarthy Does His Saturday Night Thing

NILES — Brandywine's Steve McCarthy seems to operate better on Saturday nights.

Last Saturday against Berrien Springs McCarthy scored 32 points to spark the Bobcats to an easy 81-69 win.

McCarthy did it again Saturday, tossing in 26 points and pulling down 24 rebounds to lead Brandywine to a 75-68 win over Culver Military of Indiana.

The Bobcats, now 3-0, held a 58-39 lead after three quarters and substituted freely in the final period.

Sophomore Tony Harris added 22 for Brandywine and Hilrie Campbell had 10.

Sylvester Chube was the game's top scorer with 33 for Culver.

Brandywine also won the junior varsity game, beating Culver 66-47. Scott Rose and Tim Rzepka each scored 12 for the Bobcats.

SJ Matmen Win One Of Three

DETROIT — St. Joseph wrestlers won one dual meet and lost two here Saturday at Thurston high school.

Nap Ramirez (119 pounds) and Dave Bock (145) won three matches each as the Bears downed South Lyon 29-23 and lost to Rochester 38-25 and Thurston 27-22.

Picking up two wins apiece for St. Joe were Andy Diener (105), Rick Dyer (167) and Bruce Ward (185).

St. Joseph, now 1-3, next wrestles at Portage Central Thursday night.

Tartars Lose Classic To Central State In OT

From Associated Press

Central State of Ohio won the Wayne State Tartar Alumni Festival with an 81-79 overtime victory over Wayne State in the finals Saturday night. A jumper by Central's Melvin Crafter tied the score 71-71 at the buzzer to send the game into overtime.

In the extra period, Central's Carl Ealy hit with six seconds to go for the victory. Wayne State is now 2-1 for the season.

In the consolation game, Bob Wenson scored 24 points to lead Saginaw Valley to a 77-66 victory over Illinois-Chicago Circle. Saginaw, 6-1, never trailed in the game. Central defeated Saginaw, 87-72, on Friday night and Wayne knocked off Chicago Circle, 82-59.

Coach Glenn Brown's Northern Michigan University basketball players suffered defeat at the hands of third-ranked Marquette this weekend, but they left Milwaukee with heads high.

Behind 8-0 after 6:47 of the first period, the NMU Wildcats managed to keep Saturday's game close and moved to within striking range before Marquette pulled away in the closing minutes to win, 56-45.

"A lot of teams come in here and are down 8-0 and just get blown out," said Brown. "Our kids came right back and hung in there. They didn't give up."

Dino Conley led NMU, now 12, with 12 points as the Wildcats hit seven baskets in a row to close the gap to 44-39 with 9:43 left before Marquette's final surge.

Hope College, 3-1, defeated Aurora of Illinois, 79-71, in the consolation game of the Aurora Classic. Center Dwayne Boyce paced the attack with 18 points and 10 rebounds.

Another Michigan Inter-

collegiate athletic Conference team, Adrian, beat John Carroll University, 68-66, to win the Case Western Reserve Tournament in Cleveland. Adrian is now 4-0.

Olivet, also of the MIAA, defeated Tri-State College of Angola, Ind., 66-53 in an easy nonconference contest. Steve Bivens led Olivet, 3-1, with 24 points.

Detroit Institute of Technology took a 76-58 nonconference victory over Highland Park Community College as Reggie Braxton and Herbert Witherspoon each scored 17 for DIT, now 3-1. Highland Park is 5-2.

Hillsdale took a home victory over Siena Heights, 107-84, as Eddie Byrd scored 35 points. Freshman forward Tom Walters scored 21 points and pulled down 22 rebounds to aid Hillsdale's attack. Hillsdale is 2-4, while Siena Heights is 1-3.

Kalamazoo College narrowly defeated Goshen of New York, 72-71. Dwayne Garner hit 21 points for Kalamazoo, while Jerry Kessenich had 19 and Ruben Billings had 13.

Mercy College of Detroit took a narrow 70-68 victory over Northwood Institute as Mercy's Keith Love hit two layups in the closing 45 seconds. Buddy Bates led Mercy, 6-3, with 21 points and Dennis Edmonds had 20. Northwood, led by Dave Johnson with 21, is now 1-3 for the season.

Craig Fairbanks scored 19 points to lead Spring Arbor, 4-2, to an easy 105-75 victory over Indiana-Purdue in a nonconference game. Spring Arbor jumped off to an early lead, held a 57-32 halftime margin and coasted home.

Undeclared Lake Superior State took its fourth victory of the season, 103-87, over John Wesley as Gary Fors led the assault with 32 points. Jim Kjolhede was high scorer for Wesley, 3-3, with 29.

Calvin College swept past North Park of Illinois, 101-87, as Mark Veenstra sank 31 points. Undeclared Calvin led all the way to post its second victory.

Michigan Tech dumped Lakehead of Ontario, 87-62, as John Gajor hit for 19 points and hauled down 18 rebounds.

Explosive Covert Flattens Baldwin Undefeated Bulldogs Net Fourth Win

COVERT — The Covert express continues to roll. The Bulldog machine sped past its fourth straight opponent Saturday night, bombing Baldwin 98-61.

In its first four games Covert is averaging 93.5 points per game, while yielding only 67.5. "Really with our team it's a total team effort," Bulldog coach Rod DeYoung says. "We play well together as a team, hitting the open man, getting the good shots and playing the good, pressing defense. We have to do it as a team, though. I'm very pleased With the way we're playing."

Sophomore Jeff Magett added 16, with Rooney Barnes adding 14 and sophomore Steve Hawkins came off the bench to score 10.

Covert broke the game open in the second quarter by outscoring Baldwin 31-13 to grab a 54-32 halftime lead.

Ken Summers scored 16 to lead the visitors.

Covert also captured the junior varsity game, topping

Baldwin 73-59. Jeff DeYoung scored 15, Terry Crump 14 and Jerry Starks 13 for the Bulldogs.

Hopkins, Hanko Claim Crowns; Beavers Second

SPRINGPORT — Jerry Hopkins and Mike Hanko won their weight classes as Eau Claire finished second in the Springport Wrestling tourney held here Saturday.

Both Beavers pinned all three foes en route to their victories. At 167-pounds, Hopkins pinned Mark McVay of Morenci in 2:26. He then took Darryl Hatt of Napoleon in 1:30 and pinned Glen Moore of Springport in the title match in 2:14.

Hanko went through the 185-pound weight class without hardly working up a sweat. He pinned Dennis Herr of Concord in his first match in 2:33. Hanko's second-round victim was Dan Clavette of Pottsville who went down in 43 seconds. In the championship match, Hanko pinned Lynn Lightner of Springport in 45 seconds.

Steve Jurroff at 112-pounds and Terry Hawkins at 155-pounds captured second places while Dan Pike at 126-pounds and Joe Simaz at 132-pounds won their consolation matches.

Leonard Top Rookie

Arkansas Stuns Texas A&M To Gain Cotton Bowl Berth

Arkansas wasn't the only big winner in college football this weekend.

While the Razorbacks were earning a share of the Southwest Conference title and a berth in the Cotton Bowl with their stunning 31-6 upset of previously unbeaten Texas A&M, Wittenberg and Texas Lutheran won division championships and a number of other schools were moving towards other college division titles.

Arkansas earned its first Cotton Bowl berth in a decade with a superb defensive effort and a fine performance by quarterback Scott Bull, who ran for one touchdown and passed for another. But it was Arkansas' defense which stole the show.

"We out-gunned the Aggie defense, and they have a great one," said Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles. "Texas A&M's a great team, but so was Arkansas."

Arkansas will meet Georgia in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day, while Texas A&M will play Southern Cal in the Liberty Bowl Dec. 22.

Freshman David Merritt broke loose on touchdown runs of 81 and 57 yards and gained a total of 188 yards on 22 carries as Wittenberg blanked Ithaca 28-0 in the Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl and won the NCAA Division III championship.

Texas Lutheran quarterback Mike Washington scored on a 60-yard run and passed to Brock Kalmbach for two more touchdowns in leading his club to its second consecutive NAIA Division II championship with a 34-8 victory over California Lutheran.

Elsewhere, the NCAA Division II and NAIA Division I tournaments were pared to the finalists.

In the NCAA Division II semifinals, Western Kentucky beat New Hampshire 14-3 in the Grantland Rice Bowl as Rick Caswell returned a punt 87 yards for a touchdown and Western Kentucky's swarming defense forced New Hampshire into numerous turnovers. In the Pioneer Bowl, Northern Michigan edged Livingston 28-26 as quarterback Steve Martucci passed for two touchdowns and ran for a third.

Western Kentucky will meet Northern Michigan in the NAIA Division II title in the Carmichael Bowl on Saturday.

Salem College of West Virginia will face Texas A&I for the NAIA Division I title in Saturday's Champion Bowl. Salem advanced by beating Ouachita Baptist 16-7 as Jack Delapaine scored on a 96-yard kickoff return and a six-yard run from scrimmage. Texas A&I earned a shot at its fifth divisional title by trouncing Oregon College of Education 37-0 as Richard Ritchie and Larry Collins scored two touchdowns apiece.

In other games Saturday, Tennessee beat Hawaii 28-6 and Cal Poly-Pomona defeated Cal-Northridge 28-22.

NMU Scares Marquette But Warriors Prevail

From Associated Press

A sub-par performance at Marquette usually gets a tongue-lashing from the headmaster.

"We're having little breakdowns everywhere, it's all breaking down," Coach Al McGuire snapped after his third-ranked Warriors took an unimpressive 40-45 decision over Northern Michigan Saturday night. "I'm talking about more team effort and coming to play. They are just not playing."

McGuire hasn't been happy with his basketball players since their opening-day effort, an 87-60 success over St. Joseph's, Ind. The Warriors played below their capabilities then, too, McGuire insisted.

Elsewhere in the country, the rest of the Top Ten played according to form. Second-ranked Maryland blasted Richmond 98-71; fourth-ranked North Carolina defeated Virginia Tech 88-78; No. 5 UCLA ripped Southern Illinois 81-60; No. 6 Louisville turned back Murray 78-58; No. 8 Tennessee nipped No. 16 Michigan 82-81 and No. 10 Cincinnati lashed South Florida 98-75.

Among the other ranked clubs, No. 11 Arizona beat North Arizona 98-81; No. 13 North Carolina State crushed North Carolina-Asheville 111-60 and 14th-ranked Alabama defeated No. 17 Providence 71-67.

Led by Butch Lee's 16 points, Marquette withstood a second-half rally by stubborn Northern Michigan to beat the Wildcats. The Warriors stopped Northern Michigan cold for the first six minutes and 47 seconds and took an 8-0 lead. A rash of turnovers and bad passes allowed Marquette to build a 20-0 lead with about seven minutes left in the first half.

The Wildcats closed the gap to 20-15 with 5:51 left on long outside shots by Bill Uelman and Kurt Ekberg, but the Warriors ran off six unanswered baskets to lead 32-21 at intermission. In the second half, Lee hit two outside shots to make it 36-25 and Marquette extended the lead to as much as 43-27 with about 12 minutes to play.

Led by Steve Sheppard and John Lucas, Maryland's Terps rolled past Richmond. The Terps, who won their first two games by an average of 50 points, were never more than seven points ahead of the Spiders until they broke it open with a 14-1 spree with just under seven minutes remaining.

Sheppard scored four of the points and Lucas added three as the Terps moved from a 72-68 advantage to a comfortable 86-69 margin with 3:23 left. Mitch Kupchak's 24-point, 13-rebound performance led North Carolina past Virginia Tech. The Tar Heels fashioned their victory without the help of backcourt ace Phil Ford, who sat out the second half with an injured knee.

UCLA rolled over Southern Illinois behind Ralph Drollinger's 16 points and 14 each from Marques Johnson and Richard Washington.

The Bruins broke open the game with a 17-4 blitz to start the second half. It was the Bruins' 53rd consecutive victory at Pauley Pavilion. Their last home loss was to Southern California on March 6, 1970.

CORSO'S MUSTS

Indiana football coach Lee Corso says two musts for a coach are an understanding wife and a five-year coaching contract.

Sluggish Louisville ran off a 13-2 streak in the first six minutes of the second half and the Cardinals went on to beat Murray with ease. Louisville trailed 25-18 at one point in the first half, but closed within 31-28 at halftime and then exploded in the final period.

Rick Wilson, who led all scorers with 22 points, and Phillip Bond each hit two field goals, Ricky Gallon hit a layup and Terry Harmon added a three-point trip for a 41-33 Louisville lead with 14:45 left.

Tennessee, hitting 11 of its first 13 field goals but leading by only 10 points at halftime, survived a second-half rally by Michigan and won a battle of national basketball powers. Trailing 53-39, Michigan got hot and made 11 of 12 baskets from the field to close the gap to 71-60 and the game remained close to the end. Bernard King, Tennessee's 6-7 sophomore ace, hit 13 of 16 field goals to lead the Vols with 27 points. But it was Mike Jackson's free throw with 12 seconds left that gave Tennessee a three-point cushion at 82-79 and the winning margin.

Adrian Dantley's 26 points and a tough defense helped Notre Dame beat Texas Tech.

Center Robert Miller scored a season-high 24 points as Cincinnati whipped South Florida. Nine points in the final four minutes of the first half by Bob Elliott triggered Arizona past Northern Arizona.

Kenny Carr poured in 39 points to lead North Carolina State past North Carolina-Asheville and Leon Douglas scored 19 points and collected 18 rebounds to pace Alabama past Providence.

Elsewhere, Missouri won the Show-Me Classic in Columbia, Mo., with an 85-68 victory over Oklahoma City University; Nevada-Las Vegas took the Steel Bowl tourney in Pittsburgh by beating Duquesne 86-53; Southern Cal won the Vanderbilt Invitational in Nashville, Tenn., with an 81-80 decision over Kansas State and Arizona State took the Sun Devil Classic in Tempe, Ariz., by beating DePaul 74-67.

Rangers Explode In Fourth Quarter

WHITE PIGEON — Casapols rallied from a 15-point deficit to topple White Pigeon 75-52 here Saturday night.

The Rangers trailed 27-14 midway through the second quarter, but came back to tie the game 32-32 at halftime. Cass then exploded in the fourth quarter, outscoring White Pigeon 23-5 to break the game open.

Gary Young sparked the Rangers with 22 points, including 10 in the third quarter. Ricky Evans added 15, with 13 coming in the second half.

Brad Evilsizor led the hosts with 12.

Cass, now 2-0, hit on 33 of 63 from the floor for 52 per cent, while White Pigeon connected on 21 of 72 for 29 per cent.

The Rangers held a 42-32 rebounding edge with Young pulling down 13 and Alvin Vanzant 11.

White Pigeon turned the ball over 21 times and Cass 20. The Rangers finished with 23 assists, seven by Richard Lee. White Pigeon did win the junior varsity game 52-49.

Wolverines Get Hockey Revenge

Michigan State Keeps Lead Despite Saturday Loss

From Associated Press

Michigan State lost to Michigan Saturday night but still hung onto the lead in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association standings.

Michigan State, 9-3, edged Michigan 6-4 Friday night but Wolverine Angie Moretto slammed in three early goals to lead Michigan to an 8-4 victory Saturday night. Michigan, 6-4, is tied with Minnesota for fourth.

Michigan Tech, with a weekend sweep of Minnesota-Duluth, trails Michigan by two points. Tech handed UMD defeats of 6-1 Friday and 8-4 Saturday, with George Lyle leading the way.

Lyle had two goals and two assists as the Huskies reeled off four third-period goals. Tech is 8-4 while UMD fell to 5-7.

Defending WCHA champion Minnesota defeated North Dakota 4-2 Friday night but the upstart Sioux, 3-9, upset the Gophers 6-3 in Saturday's rematch.

Minnesota jumped out to an early 2-0 lead but North Dakota stayed with the bigger Gophers until Jim Gliniany scored midway through the second period and the Sioux went ahead to stay.

Colorado College, 7-3, eased into third place with weekend victories of 2-1 and 7-3 over Denver. Dave Delich scored two goals and had three assists for the Tigers, who host the U.S. Olympic team Tuesday night.

Denver, 4-8, gets a crack at the Nationals Friday.

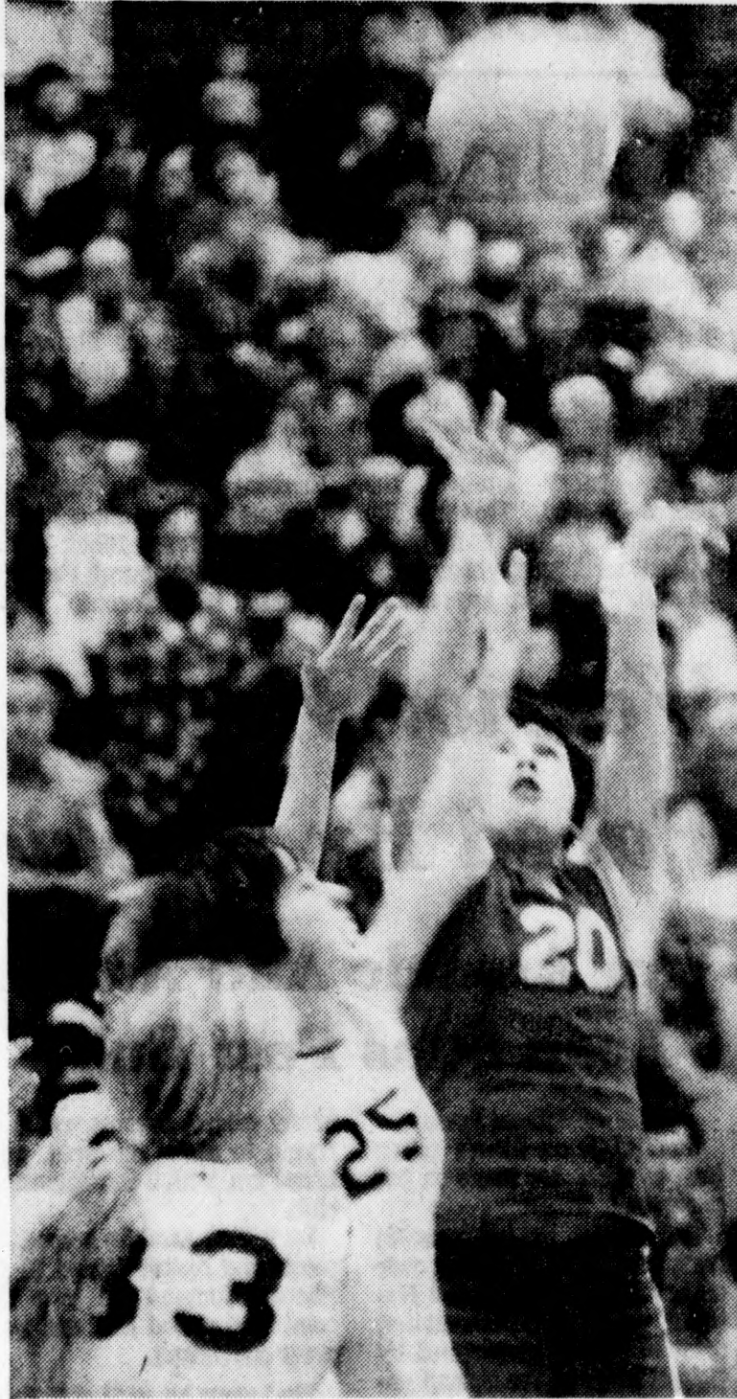

Notre Dame, after beating Wisconsin 5-2 Friday, were lucky to salvage a 2-2 tie the following day. Brad Johnson scored the tying goal for the Badgers early in the third period and only close checking by the Irish staved off Wisconsin.

Notre Dame is 5-6-1 while Wisconsin is 2-7-1.

With final exams coming up at most WCHA schools, the league will play a limited schedule the next three weeks. Next weekend's league games are Michigan at Wisconsin and Michigan State at UMD, while some of the other schools will play non-league opponents.

Tigers Cut 3

DETROIT (AP) — Pitcher Tom Walker, utility infielder John Knox and substitute first baseman Jack Pierce were assigned outright Monday by the Detroit Tigers to their Evansville farm club of the American Association.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Len Kosmalski, a 7-foot center selected by the Kansas City Kings in the second round of the 1974 college draft, and guard Mike D'Antoni, 6-3, in his third year with the National Basketball Association team, were placed on waivers.

Bruins Extend Undefeated String

From Associated Press
Trust a goaltender to come up with pearls of wisdom.
"They're still the Boston Bruins," observed Montreal's Ken Dryden after helping the Canadiens to a 2-2 National Hockey League tie. "They usually outshoot us but they don't have very many good chances. But some nights the quality is equal to the volume."

"My father told me there would be nights like this," observed Minnesota's Pete LaFleur after being strafed for 48 shots by the Philadelphia Flyers, who skated away with a 6-1 triumph over the North Stars. "I wouldn't believe him." Chances are good he now believes that gem from his father Sam, who faced 83 shots for Chicago in a 1941 game against Boston.

Then there's Glenn Resch of the New York Islanders, who always finds a way to verbalize his feelings. After Sunday night's 3-0 victory over Buffalo—first in the Islanders' 18-game history against the Sabres—he said, "This was like a pitcher getting a no-hitter without striking anybody out," he said. "The other guys did all the work."

Well, goalies say that a lot — always taking the blame and shifting the credit like the very unusual people they are.
In the other NHL games Sunday night, the New York Rangers topped the Washington Capitals 5-2, the Atlanta Flames beat the Chicago Black Hawks 2-0 and the Pittsburgh Penguins pounded the Toronto Maple Leafs, 6-3.

Guy Lafleur's 50-foot screened shot with seven minutes remaining tied the game for Montreal while the Bruins extended their unbeaten streak to 14 games.
Pete Mahovlich had the other Canadiens goal, while Terry O'Reilly and John Bucyk hit for the Bruins.
Reggie Leach scored twice while Gary Dornhoefer, Joe Watson, Bill Barber and Don Saleski added single goals. Bill Goldsworthy had Minnesota's score.

Clark Gillies scored twice to back a 29-shot whitewash by Resch as the Islanders won after 12 losses and five ties to the Sabres. Rookie Bryan Trottier, who set up both of Gillies' scores, netted his 11th of the season.

The Rangers turned a twoman third-period power play into Jerry Holland's second goal of the game and Gilles Marotte's first of the year. Phil Esposito also hit for New York, as did defenseman Carol Vadnais, who scored a goal and had three assists.

Atlanta's Tom Iystak scored late in the first period, Curt Bennett hit an empty net in the final minute, and Dan Bouchard stopped 25 Chicago shots to carry the Flames to victory.

Pierre Larouche scored two breakaway goals and set up two others in helping Pittsburgh to a 6-0 lead before Toronto managed a mild rally on scores by Borje Salming, Errol Thompson and George Ferguson.

Evert, Connors Win TV Challenge Match

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — For love maybe, and money for sure: Chris Evert and Jimmy Connors displayed playful affection and precision tennis in winning $100,000 in their nationally televised challenge match against Marty Riessen and Billie Jean King.

After Saturday's much publicized mixed doubles, Miss Evert demurely gave most of the credit for the 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 7-5 triumph to her former fiancé.

"Jimmy obviously controlled the match," she said.

Miss Evert said she was more nervous than usual before the first set.

"I'm known primarily as a singles player and haven't had that much experience in mixed doubles," she said.

But she said she soon relaxed as Connors played the dominant role in the match, making 80 per cent of the shots.

And following a typically slow start, Connors did dominate the $150,000 exhibition at the Caesars Palace indoor pavilion.

Connors used powerful forehand ground strokes, primarily at Ms. King. Afterward he said he was surprised with himself.

"I didn't think I'd go out and hit them that hard at the ladies," said Connors, who at 22 is the world's No. 1 men's singles player. "I've never done that before. But I guess for $100,000 I will."

Actually Connors was hitting shots at Ms. King for $50,000 since he and Miss Evert split the purse.

Riessen, 12 years older than Connors, figured the match turned in the third set when he and Ms. King missed an opportunity to break Connors' service and then lost service in the ninth game to give Connors and Evert the third set and a 2-1 advantage in sets.

There's talk already of another mixed doubles challenge involving Miss Evert and Connors, though nothing is set.

John Newcombe and Margaret Court issued a challenge to the winners of Saturday's match and Connors said he'd welcome the chance.

He's now picked up $100,000 in three exhibitions staged before national television audiences by Caesars Palace.

He defeated Rod Laver and John Newcombe in singles matches here before the doubles triumph.

Another singles challenge is tentatively set for February between Connors and Manuel Orantes, who beat Connors in the men's singles finals this year at Forest Hills.

Warrior Victory Paced By Rookie

Van Arsdale And Adams Lead Suns Past Bulls

From Associated Press
Gus Williams hasn't taken long to make his mark on pro basketball.

The slender, cat-quick rookie from Southern Cal, passed over on the first round of the National Basketball Association draft before being grabbed by Golden State on the second go-round, has given the Warriors a big boost off the bench with his speed, hustle and scoring punch.

Williams came up with one of his best efforts in Sunday's nationally televised game against the Seattle SuperSonics, pouring in 27 points in the Warriors' come-from-behind 115-106 victory, their second win in less than 24 hours over the Sonics.

In NBA games Sunday night, the Phoenix Suns whipped the Chicago Bulls 114-97 and the Los Angeles Lakers trimmed the Washington Bullets 114-106.

In American Basketball Association games, the Denver Nuggets beat the New York Nets 123-118 and the Kentucky Colonels defeated the Virginia Squires 112-98.

Williams scored 18 of his points in the second half, including 10 in a seven-minute span in which the Warriors turned an eight-point deficit into an eight-point lead. Rick Barry topped the Warriors with 28 points, while Fred Brown and Slick Watts had 22 each for Seattle.

Williams has meshed perfectly with the Warriors' scrappy style as the first man off the bench and often gets more playing time than Charlie Johnson, a starter. Clearly, Williams is an unusual rookie.

"He's better as a pro than he was in college," observed Mendy Rudolph, the veteran NBA official who is now working for CBS as analyst on its Game of the Week telecasts. "He's the best rookie I've seen so far."

Williams — who is averaging about 10 points per game and has been particularly impressive on defense — says he's "just trying to play my game and contribute to the team. One of my wildest dreams was just trying to make the pros, and here I am with a championship club."

Dick Van Arsdale scored 23 points and rookie Udded 20 as Phoenix jumped out to a 13-point first period lead and was never challenged.

The Lakers hit on 51 of 82 field goal attempts — 62 per cent — in their best shooting night of the season. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 27 points, including a pair of hook shots after Washington had rallied to tie the score at 100-100.

Denver built a 29-point lead midway through the third period, then saw the Nets close to within one in the final minute before turning them aside. Dan Issel scored 33 points and David Thompson 30 for Denver.

Kentucky's two 7-footers, Artis Gilmore and Caldwell Jones, helped the Colonels build a 27-point lead and they coasted home. Gilmore led all scorers with 32 points, Louie Dampier added 17 and Jones 15.

career record of 290.
Defensive end Jack Youngblood tackled New Orleans quarterback Archie Manning in the end zone for a safety and linebacker Jim Peterson ran 87 yards for a touchdown with a fumble recovery to lead Los Angeles to victory.

Houston's defense limited San Francisco to just five net yards rushing and Billy Johnson returned a punt 76 yards late in the game to seal the Oilers' victory over the 49ers.

Joe Namath picked apart New England's defense, hitting on 14 of 18 passes for 160 yards, and John Riggins ran for 154 yards and two touchdowns as the Jets snapped an eight-game losing streak.

First-Place Flags Nip K-Wings 4-3

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Toledo, Dayton, Port Huron and Saginaw skated to victories Sunday in International Hockey League action.

Ian MacThee scored three goals to lead the Toledo Goaldiggers to a 5-3 victory over the home team-Columbus Owls.

Toledo jumped out to a 2-0 first-period lead and MacThee added a third at :51 of the second period. But in the next 12 minutes, Jean Marie Nicol scored twice for Columbus.

MacThee fired in what proved to be the game winner 40-seconds into the third period and his third goal at 17:43.

Toledo is 11-8-6, while Columbus slipped to 4-18-3 in the South Division.

At Dayton, Steve Self got three points to help the Gems to a 9-4 victory over the Fort Wayne Komets.

It was the 12th consecutive home triumph for the Gems, who are in the top spot in the IHL South Division with a 16-7-2 record.

Dayton shot ahead with four goals in the opening period but watched the visitors tie it with four goals in the middle frame. The Gems clinched the victory with five more goals in the final period.

Fort Wayne is now 9-13-3 in the South Division.

Port Huron's Steve Stone slapped in a goal on the rebound at 6:50 of the fourth quarter to give the Flags a two-goal lead en route to a 4-3 victory over the Kalamazoo Wings at Kalamazoo.

Mike Wanchuk came back with a goal for the Wings at 15:36, but Kalamazoo couldn't score again.

Len Fontaine, Bud Stefanski and Alex Kogler scored the earlier goals for Port Huron, now 15-10-1 and in first place in the IHL North.

Ron Wilson and Al Genovay tallied for the Wings, 8-12-4.

Marcel Comeau broke a 1-1 tie halfway through the third period to help the Saginaw Gears edge Flint, 2-1.

Arthur Ashe Rated No. 1

But Nastase's Tops In Masters Final

STOCKHOLM (AP) - Arthur Ashe, who failed to win the Masters Tournament in Stockholm, is still ranked by most observers as the top tennis star of 1975.

Ilie Nastase, who won the Masters Sunday after a remarkable up-and-down week, said he rated Ashe the year's No. 1.

So did Bjorn Borg, who disappointed his home fans by losing hopelessly to Nastase in the final.

"You have to consider results first," Nastase said. "I think Ashe must be No. 1, and I would rate Borg No. 2, and then perhaps Jimmy Connors. I would put myself No. 5 or 6."

This is how the year's major titles have been split up:

Ashe — won Wimbledon and the World Championship Tennis title at Dallas.

Borg — won the French open title in Paris, runner-up at the WCT event and the Masters.

Connors — won the Australian title, runner-up at Wimbledon and Forest Hills.

Nastase himself had not won a major event all the year — until the strange, fluctuating week of the Masters. On the first day of the tournament he was disqualified from a match against Ashe for his behavior on the court. On the final day he really looked like a master reigning among masters.

Nastase toyed with Borg and won 6-2 6-2 6-1. As in the semifinal against Guillermo Vilas the previous day, he played with calculated coolness and never betrayed a hint of his usual excitement or tantrums.

For reasons which no one was able to answer satisfactorily, Nastase makes a habit of winning this particular tournament and Borg continues to disappoint his home fans.

Nastase has been in the final of the Masters five years in a row and has won the title four times. The tournament features the leading players in the year-long grand prix.

Borg, Sweden's 19-year-old golden boy, has still to win an important event in his home country.

Borg has another chance in this same Kungliga Hall Dec. 19-21 when he leads Sweden against Czechoslovakia in the Davis Cup final. It is another outstanding event for this tennis-mad country, which has never yet won the Davis Cup. Nastase won $40,000 and has now earned $179,124 dollars this year. Borg, runner-up prize of $20,000 boosted his 1975 winnings to $220,817.

Ashe is top money winner with $325,550. He picked up $10,000 for reaching the semifinals here.

The four semifinalists in the Masters were based on points determined by round-robin play.

Pro Hockey Told To Clean Up Act

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (AP) — Attorney-General Alex MacDonald says professional hockey "should clean itself up" and blames "people like Clarence Campbell and the big-league officials" for outbursts of violence at games.

His comments came Sunday when he was questioned about an incident in Vancouver last week involving Phil Roberto of the Detroit Red Wings and Don Lever of the Vancouver Canucks in a National Hockey League game.

Roberto was assessed a match penalty by referee Brian Lewis for a deliberate attempt to injure late in the game when Lever was hit in the throat by a stick.

Campbell, NHL president, suspended Roberto indefinitely the next day and MacDonald said his department of the British Columbia government was looking into the affair.

MacDonald said, following a New Democratic Party rally here in preparation for the provincial election Thursday, that he was not following in the footsteps of Roy McMurtry, the Ontario attorney-general who has spoken out against violence in hockey. "I'm not too sure in my own mind as to everything he's done," said MacDonald, "but I would hope that the taxpayers would not have to pay the cost of having policemen as witnesses at hockey games."

"If we find incidents of this kind repeated, we're going to insist upon that."

MacDonald said that franchise owners have been unwilling to turn hockey more into the direction of sport and away from too much brawling.

He said league officials are "too interested in protecting the backs of the franchise owners to have proper internal self-discipline."

The attorney-general said his department was still investigating the Vancouver incident, although the film of the game had been delivered to Campbell's office in Montreal and not to MacDonald's office in Victoria.

He said his department had asked that the film be made available so he can study the incident. Earlier, officials said legal charges might be assessed in the incident.

Cup Brought Home By Miller, Graham

BANGKOK (AP) — Next year's World Cup Golf Tournament appears headed for the United States, the country which headed home today with both the team and individual titles from the 23rd tournament.

"That will nicely coincide with the 200th anniversary celebrations," tournament director Fred J. Corcoran said after Johnny Miller rallied in the final round Sunday to win the individual title and teamed with Lou Graham for the team championship.

Corcoran, a former caddy who has arranged all of the Cup tournaments, said three states in the United States were bidding to host the 24th renewal. He did not name them.

The United States finished at 22-under-par 554 for four rounds over the 6,906-yard, par-72 Navatane golf course, 10 strokes ahead of Taiwan. Japan was third at 565, followed by Australia, 566, and Argentina, 571.

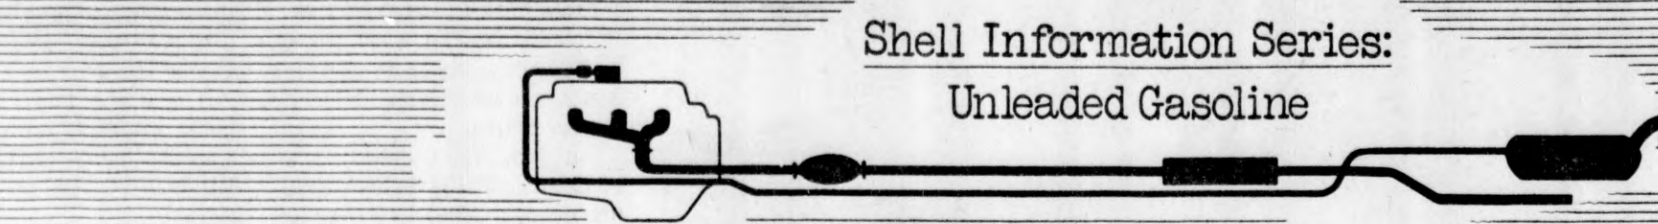

"We played hard to try and win the honor for our country,"

O'Connor said.

"This is the first and last time I will be playing in Asia," said Brian Barnes of Scotland.

Juan Cabrera of Argentina suffered a dizzy spell in the clubhouse and Venezuelan Neal Machado stopped playing after getting a heat rash.

The 1980 U.S. Open Golf championship will be held at the Baltusrol Golf Club in Springfield, N.J. Dates will be June 12-15.

"Not all unleaded gasolines are alike. Your car, old or new, might show you the difference."

By Bob Awe, Gasoline Product Manager, Shell Oil Company.

A Shell fuel expert tells why the right gasoline for your car might just happen to be unleaded. And offers help on fighting knock in a '75.

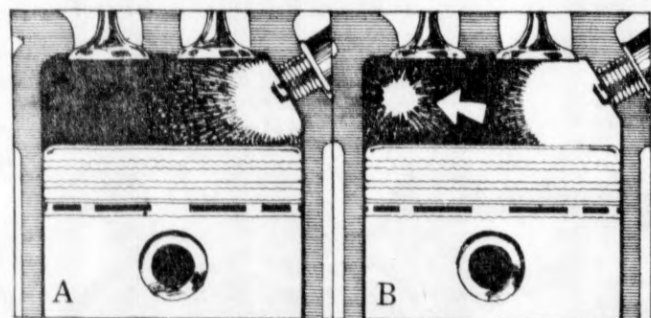

First, I'll tell you how a thing like lead got into gasoline in the first place. Then I'll talk about some problems that the right gasoline can solve. After that, I'll tell you why there's talk of "detuning" some '75's.

At the end, I'll give you some information about our own Shell Super Regular Unleaded.

How lead got there in the first place

The first gasolines didn't have lead. They worked just fine in the low compression engines of the early 1900's.

Later, the higher compression engines ran into "knock". When an engine knocks, some of its fuel-air mixture explodes all at once instead of burning smoothly. You can hear this as a ping, rattling noise.

In 1921 it was discovered that adding certain lead compounds to the gasoline could prevent knock, and this discovery paved the way for higher efficiency engines.

Since octane numbers measure the ability of gasoline to resist knock, you could say that lead increases a gasoline's octane rating.

Because of emissions standards for the '75 cars, most of them are designed for unleaded gasoline and the law requires them to use it. In these gasolines, the job of lead is usually done by high-octane hydrocarbons.

Unleaded in your pre-'75 car

But the pre-1975 cars don't have to use unleaded. So why should you even consider it? Because one of the unleaded just might turn out to be the right gasoline for your car. By right, I mean the one that gives you the best balance between price and performance.

Here are three performance problems that might be cured by a change of gasoline — perhaps to one of the unleaded.

1. Stall out — the engine dies when you put it in gear while it's cold.
2. Hesitation — that stumbling feeling when you try to accelerate before the engine is fully warmed up.
3. Run-on — the car keeps chugging on after you turn off the key.

Of course these problems can sometimes have mechanical solutions, too. But if your car is in tune it's smart to try to solve them by switching gasoline first. And when you shop around for the right gasoline, don't leave out the unleaded.

If you do end up using an unleaded, you get a nice little bonus. Your spark plugs and muffler will last longer.

Tip: If your owner's manual does not recommend unleaded — and if you drive at sustained high speeds — a tankful of leaded fuel every 4th or 5th fill-up protects exhaust valves against excessive wear.

There's more than one way to fight knock in a '75

The law says that unleaded gasoline must have a "Research octane number" of at least 91. (Somewhat less for high altitudes.) Most unleaded gasoline is only slightly above this minimum.

But some '75's are knocking with these fuels. And we expect more of them to start knocking as they get older — about one in three of them, in fact.

"Detuning" the car, — that is, having the ignition timing retarded — is one way to fight the knock. And this is one of the remedies being considered.

But detuning has some bad side effects. It might hurt performance. And, all other factors being equal, detuning can hurt your gas mileage. (See chart, next column.)

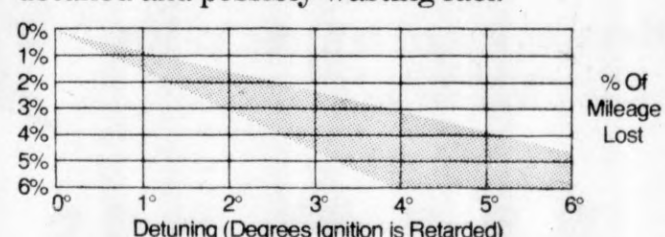

For example, if your car's ignition had to be retarded by 4 degrees to get rid of knock, you could expect a mileage loss of about 4 percent. That would cost you money — as much as if you paid about 2¢ more per gallon at today's prices.

The right gasoline might be the answer

There are differences in the octane ratings of unleaded gasolines, just as there are with leaded gasolines. So if your '75 knocks on the average unleaded, try switching to an unleaded with higher octane. (There are a few significantly higher than the minimum.) It may be better than having your engine detuned and possibly wasting fuel.

Mileage decreases by about one percent for every degree the timing is retarded from the proper setting, up to six degrees.

This is one of the higher octane unleaded available— Shell Super Regular Unleaded.

Shell Super Regular Unleaded gasoline has a Research octane of 94 or 95 in most parts of the country*. That's 3 or 4 numbers above the federal minimum and significantly higher than most other unleaded. If your '75 car knocks, using this could be the solution that will let you avoid having your car detuned and maybe wasting gasoline.

In addition, Shell Super Regular Unleaded has excellent detergent properties and is blended for good driveability to help solve problems like cold-engine stall-out and hesitation.

Maybe one of our leaded gasolines is right for your car.

Shell Regular has a Research octane of about 93 or 94* and good detergent properties. If you can use this (and more than half of our customers do), stick with it. It's our lowest priced gasoline.

Super Shell is our top-priced leaded gasoline with good driveability, excellent detergent properties, and Research octane of about 99 or 100*. It's blended for top rate performance in pre-1975 cars that require high octane fuel.

Tips: If you use Super Shell, give Super Regular Unleaded a try. You could save money. If you use Shell Regular and have driveability or run-on problems, try Super Regular Unleaded before going all the way up to Super Shell.

*Somewhat less for high altitude areas.

Octane Facts and Myths

Test yourself

The more octane, the better.

Myth. An octane rating any higher than your car needs does no good.

There is more than one kind of octane rating.

Fact. For example, the octane rating used most in owner's manuals comes from the Research octane test. The Motor octane test gives a lower rating. The number you often see on gasoline pumps is, in accordance with a government rule, an average of the two. It's usually three to five numbers below the Research octane rating.

Run-on can be an octane problem.

Fact. If your car keeps chugging on after you turn off the key, a gasoline with a higher Research octane rating will help.

The United States finished at 22-under-par 554 for four rounds over the 6,906-yard, par-72 Navatance golf course, 10 strokes ahead of Taiwan. Japan was third at 565, followed by Australia, 566, and Argentina, 571.

"We played hard to try and win the honor for our country," but I did not expect to win the individual honor as well," said Miller.

The 28-year-old Californian shot a final-round 68 for a 13-under-par 275. That gave him a one-stroke victory over Bob Shearer of Australia and co-tied round leaders Ben Arda of the Philippines and Hsieh Min-Nan of Taiwan. Shearer finished with a 69 while Arda and Hsieh each shot 73s.

Graham, the U.S. Open winner, finished with a 70 for a 279 total and fifth place.

Christy O'Connor Sr. of Ireland suggested that in the future the country that holds the World Cup should host preliminary tournaments so that golfers from various parts of the world could get used to the weather and other conditions.

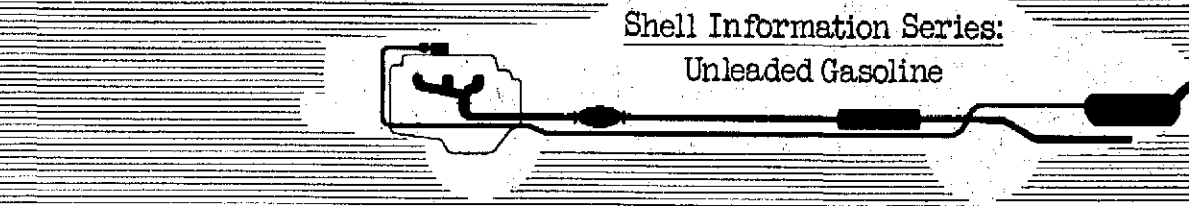

For example, most of the Europeans had stopped playing in October at the colder home grounds and suddenly they had to come here to play a world championship in tropical heat, O'Connor said.

"This is the first and last time I will be playing in Asia," said Brian Barnes of Scotland.

Tax Commission Clears New Buffalo Tax Roll

By STEVE McQUOWN
Staff Writer

LANSING — The state tax commission has concluded there were no willful errors in the 1975 New Buffalo township tax roll it seized for examination nearly nine months ago.

At a meeting in Lansing Friday, the commission voted to end its investigation of the township's 1975 tax roll and discontinue "further procedures."

"The commission seized the rolls to investigate allegations of unequal or unfair property value assessments. In ending the investigation, it recommended that:

— The 1975 assessment roll be returned forthwith to New Buffalo township so that 1975 billings may be made.

— The Michigan tax tribunal be petitioned to assess omitted properties in the total number of 33, having a recommended valuation of the state tax commission of $31,200. (The township's total valuation is about $26 million.)

— That the field staff of the state tax commission work closely with the assessor of New Buffalo township in order that he be well versed in the commercial and industrial portions of the assessors' manual.

The commission's actions and findings were revealed in a letter from Commission Secretary Edward W. Kane to Alfred E. Hellenka, New Buffalo township assessor.

A copy of the letter was sent to this newspaper by Kane.

The seizure of the tax roll in April was the second time in two years the state tax commission had examined property valuations that had become targets of complaints of error and political favoritism.

The commission seized the 1973 tax roll and reappraised township property. Property underwent a second appraisal by a private firm hired by the township.

Township Clerk Edward L. Ohime indicated early today that he was not surprised by the outcome of the latest investigation.

"In our minds, we were satisfied we were doing the right things," he said.

He termed the complaints and investigation "a political fiasco" for Republicans.

New Buffalo township's elected officers are Democrats.

He said the important thing now is to get prompt delivery of the tax rolls so tax bills can be sent out.

New Buffalo school Supt. Walter Schwarz last week said that if the tax rolls were delayed too long, the school system would be pushed into a financial crisis that could force the school to shut down in February.

In his letter to township officials, Kane said that the tax commission concluded that "...allegations of error of law and adoption of wrong principles in compiling the 1974 and 1975 rolls were not justified..." and that the assessment or review (by the board of review) "...is not willfully erroneous as had been charged."

He also wrote that charges of political favoritism, patronage "and a general return to the spoils system," even if true, are not within the jurisdiction of the commission "...and better left to law authorities."

Kane further wrote that "...changes in assessments by members of the Board of Review for 1974 and 1975 showed no pattern of irregularity."

Kane's letter did not expand on the 33 properties state investigators claim were omitted from the tax rolls.

He said the commission's conclusions were reached after an "exhaustive examination" of assessment of properties in the township.

"Attention was given to specific properties which were alleged to be improperly assessed, specifically in the areas of Grand Beach and Michiana," the commission's secretary wrote.

Grand Rapids Gymnasts Cop Team Honors In SJ

Superior Gym club, Grand Rapids, swept team honors at a Michigan Girls Gymnastics conference meet at Upton junior high school in St. Joseph Saturday.

Superior totaled 104.03 points for its "A" team and 79.25 for its "B" team. Ann Arbor had 98.09 in A and 74.68 in B while Southwest Michigan Gymnasts, the host team, scored 91.08 in A and 73.25 in B.

It was the second meet of the season for the Southwest Michigan Gymnasts. Other squads have had four and five meets, Oliver Edwards, chairman, said, and added the team is making good progress.

Top scorer for the Southwest A team was Brenda Leedy with 29.95 points followed by Terry Bohanek with 29.30. Points are awarded on a sliding scale as two judges evaluate performances.

Among other top-scoring Southwest Michigan Gymnasts were Kathy Campbell, Mary Lou Boelcke and Kim Edwards in A and Laura Woodrick, Gwen Bogan, Nancy Clark, Shawn Griffin and Vickie Boelcke in B.

Girls competed in balance beam, free floor exercise, parallel bars and vaulting. Eight places were given in each event.

Van Buren Road Workers Sign Four-Year Contract

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

LAWRENCE — Van Buren county road commission hourly employees ratified a new contract last night which called for wage increases of about 26 per cent over four years.

The employees, who are members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, voted 45 to 8 in favor of the new contract, according to Paul Kaiser, Van Buren highway engineer-manager.

Agreement on the new pact was reached following a 7½ hour bargaining session here Sunday. The road commission was scheduled to meet today to ratify the pact.

The commission's 54 hourly workers have been without a contract since last Dec. 31 when their old agreement expired.

According to Kaiser, the workers receive an immediate lump sum payment of 25 cents per hour for every hour they worked since last Jan. 1. When the new contract goes into effect Dec. 14 they will receive an additional 25 cents per hour; another 30 cents an hour Dec. 14, 1976; and an additional 30 cents an hour Dec. 14, 1977, he said.

The contract expires Dec. 14, 1978.

Under the agreement, he said, there are now four job classifications instead of five. Kaiser said making comparisons between the new pay rates and the old ones were difficult because many workers will be reclassified and pay spreads within classifications have been eliminated.

In the final year of the pact, mechanics will receive $5.86 an hour; equipment operators, $5.63; truck drivers, $5.39; and laborers, $4.35, he said.

Kaiser said he had not computed the total cost of the package.

The new contract also calls for some technical adjustments in the way vacation and sick days are computed, he said.

Union Pier Man Charged With Attempted Murder

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

UNION PIER — Charles Butterworth, 35, LaBezieke Manor apartments, Union Pier, was arrested here last night on a charge of attempted murder in connection with the stabbing of his wife, Sandra, according to state police at the New Buffalo post.

Mrs. Butterworth, 34, was listed in satisfactory condition this morning at Memorial hospital, Michigan City, Ind.

A hospital spokesman said she was being treated for stab wounds in her back and forearm.

Police said Butterworth was arrested at the Caper's lounge, Red Arrow highway, Union Pier, about 40 minute after officers were called to the Butterworth house and found the wounded woman about 8 p.m.

Troopers said Butterworth was lodged in Berrien county jail in St. Joseph.

A warrant charging him with attempted murder will be sought from the county prosecutor's office today, police said.

Would-Be Hart Successors Are Speakers

BUCHANAN — Two candidates for retiring U.S. Sen. Philip Hart's seat were main speakers at a Berrien county Democratic fund-raising banquet here Saturday night.

Marvin LaVanway, Eau Claire, Berrien Democratic party chairman, said about 150 people attended the dinner at which U.S. Rep. James O'Hara (D-Utica) and State Rep. John R. Otterbacher (D-Grand Rapids) spoke.

The meeting was held in the Buchanan American Legion hall.

Both men attended the meeting at the invitation of the county Democratic organization, LaVanway said.

He said the county party is attempting to give all announced candidates for Hart's post a chance to speak before the August primary election.

O'Hara and Otterbacher both talked about how to remedy high unemployment in the state, LaVanway said.

LaVanway said the county Democratic party will not endorse any of the candidates for the senate post for the primary.

Bangor School Board Recall Petition Effort Succeeds

BANGOR — A drive for an election aimed at ousting five Bangor school board members through a recall has been successful, a spokesman for the recall committee announced today.

Tom Betz, secretary for the recall committee, said he was advised by clerks of Bangor city and township there were enough recall petition signers to force the recall election. It has been tentatively scheduled for Feb. 2, Betz said.

Betz said the school board which is to meet tonight is expected to formally announce the election date.

Targets of the drive are Board Members Dr. Joseph Cooper, Forrest Gough, Fred Waite, Richard Krogel and Board President Donald Piper.

Tax Commission Clears New Buffalo Tax Roll

By STEVE McQUOWN
Staff Writer

LANSING — The state tax commission has concluded there were no willful errors in the 1975 New Buffalo township tax roll it seized for examination nearly nine months ago.

At a meeting in Lansing Friday, the commission voted to end its investigation of the township's 1975 tax roll and discontinue "further procedures."

The commission seized the rolls to investigate allegations of unequal or unfair property value assessments. In ending the investigation, it recommended that:

— The 1975 assessment roll be returned forthwith to New Buffalo township so that 1975 billings may be made.

— The Michigan tax tribunal be petitioned to assess omitted properties in the total number of 33, having a recommended valuation of $31,200. (The township's total valuation is about $26 million.)

— That the field staff of the state tax commission work closely with the assessor of New Buffalo township in order that he be well versed in the commercial and industrial portions of the assessors' manual.

The commission's actions and findings were revealed in a letter from Commission Secretary Edward W. Kane to Alfred E. Hellenga, New Buffalo township assessor.

A copy of the letter was sent to this newspaper by Kane. The seizure of the tax roll in April was the second time in two years the state tax commission had examined property valuations that had become targets of complaints of error and political favoritism.

The commission seized the 1973 tax roll and reappraised township property. Property underwent a second appraisal by a private firm hired by the township.

Township Clerk Edward L. Ohime indicated early today that he was not surprised by the outcome of the latest investigation.

"In our minds, we were satisfied we were doing the right things," he said.

He termed the complaints and investigation "a political fiasco" for Republicans.

New Buffalo township's elected officers are Democrats.

He said the important thing now is to get prompt delivery of the tax rolls so tax bills can be sent out.

New Buffalo school Supt. Walter Schwarz last week said that if the tax rolls were delayed too long, the school system would be pushed into a financial crisis that could force the school to shut down in February.

In his letter to township officials, Kane said that the tax commission concluded that "...allegations of error of law and adoption of wrong principles in compiling the 1974 and 1975 rolls were not justified..." and that the assessment or review (by the board of review) "...is not willfully erroneous as had been charged."

He also wrote that charges of political favoritism, patronage "and a general return to the spoils system," even if true, are not within the jurisdiction of the commission "...and better left to law authorities."

Kane further wrote that "...changes in assessments by members of the Board of Review for 1974 and 1975 showed no pattern of irregularity."

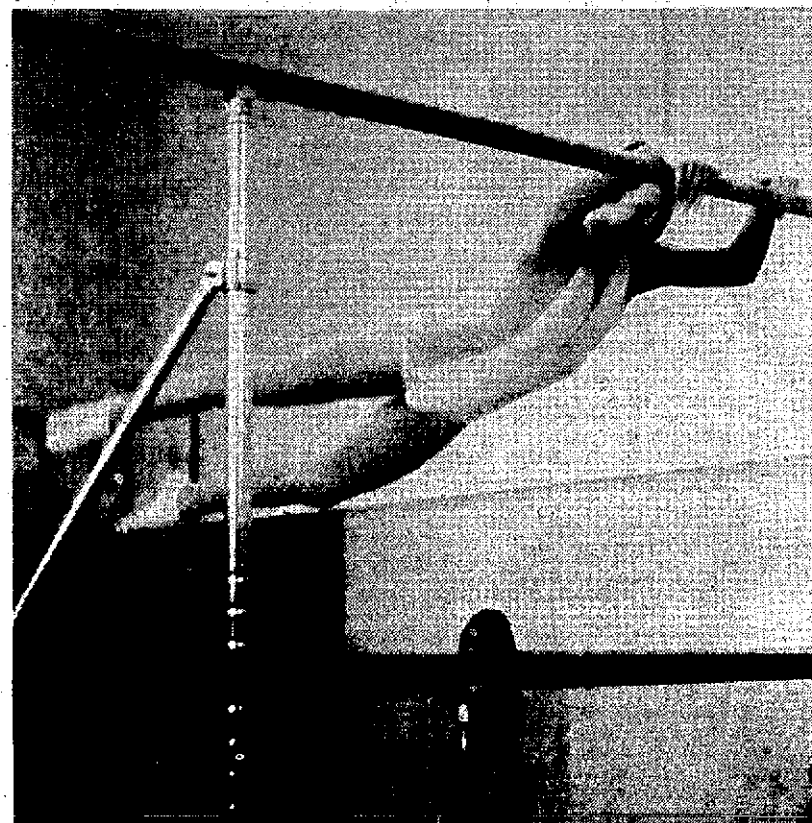

Kane's letter did not expand on the 33 properties state investigators claim were omitted from the tax rolls.

He said the commission's conclusions were reached after an "exhaustive examination" of assessment of properties in the township.

"Attention was given to specific properties which were alleged to be improperly assessed, specifically in the areas of Grand Beach and Michiana," the commission's secretary wrote.

Grand Rapids Gymnasts Cop Team Honors In SJ

Superior Gym club, Grand Rapids, swept team honors at a Michigan Girls Gymnastics conference meet at Upton junior high school in St. Joseph Saturday.

Superior totaled 164.03 points for its "A" team and 79.25 for its "B" team. Ann Arbor had 98.09 in A and 74.88 in B while Southwest Michigan Gymnats, the host team, scored 81.08 in A and 73.25 in B.

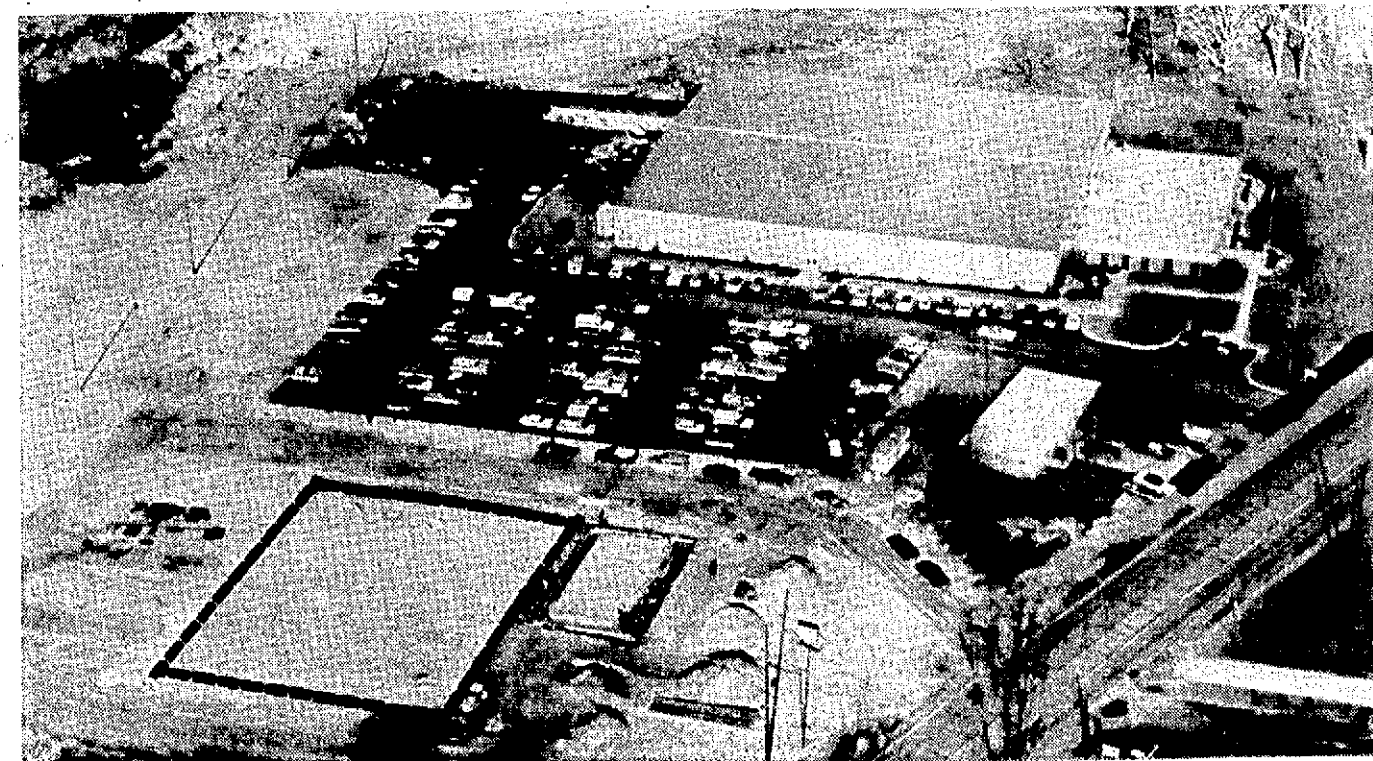

It was the second meet of the season for the Southwest Michigan Gymnats. Other squads have had four and five meets. Oliver Edwards, chairman, said, and added the team is making good progress.

Top scorer for the Southwest A team was Brenda Leedy with 29.95 points followed by Terry Bohanek with 29.30. Points are awarded on a sliding scale as two judges evaluate performances.

Among other top-scoring Southwest Michigan Gymnats were Kathy Campbell, Mary Lou Boelcke and Kim Edwards in A and Laura Woodruff, Gwen Bogan, Nancy Clark, Shawn Griffin and Vickie Boelcke in B.

Girls competed in balance beam, free floor exercise, parallel bars and vaulting. Eight places were given in each event.

Van Buren Road Workers Sign Four-Year Contract

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

LAWRENCE — Van Buren county road commission hourly employees ratified a new contract last night which called for wage increases of about 26 percent over four years.

The employees, who are members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, voted 45 to 8 in favor of the new contract, according to Paul Kaiser, Van Buren highway engineer-manager.

Agreement on the new pact was reached following a 7½ hour bargaining session here Sunday. The road commission was scheduled to meet today to ratify the pact.

The commission's 54 hourly workers have been without a contract since last Dec. 31 when their old agreement expired.

According to Kaiser, the workers receive an immediate lump sum payment of 25 cents per hour for every hour they worked since last Jan. 1. When the new contract goes into effect Dec. 14 they will receive an additional 25 cents per hour; another 30 cents an hour Dec. 14, 1978; and an additional 30 cents an hour Dec. 14, 1977, he said.

The contract expires Dec. 14, 1978.

Under the agreement, he said, there are now four job classifications instead of five. Kaiser said making comparisons between the new pay rates and the old ones were difficult because many workers will be reclassified and pay spreads within classifications have been eliminated.

In the final year of the pact, mechanics will receive $5.86 an hour; equipment operators, $5.63; truck drivers, $5.39; and laborers, $4.35, he said.

Kaiser said he had not computed the total cost of the package.

The new contract also calls for some technical adjustments in the way vacation and sick days are computed, he said.

Union Pier Man Charged With Attempted Murder

South Berrien Bureau

UNION PIER — Charles Butterworth, 35, LuBezinck Manor apartments, Union Pier, was arrested here last night on a charge of attempted murder in connection with the stabbing of his wife, Sandra, according to state police at the New Buffalo post.

Mrs. Butterworth, 34, was listed in satisfactory condition this morning at Memorial hospital, Michigan City, Ind.

A hospital spokesman said she was being treated for stab wounds in her back and forearm. Police said Butterworth was arrested at the Caper's lounge, Red Arrow highway, Union Pier, about 40 minutes after officers were called to the Butterworth house and found the wounded woman about 8 p.m.

Troopers said Butterworth was lodged in Berrien county jail in St. Joseph.

A warrant charging him with attempted murder will be sought from the county prosecutor's office today, police said.

Polly Is Hopeful 'Pickings' Better In New York City

Q: You once mentioned that Polly Bergen was dating Irving Mansfield, Jacqueline Susann's widower. Anything permanent? — J. G., Atlanta, Ga.

A: Apparently not. Then there was Cher's friend, record producer David Geffen, but nothing much developed there and Geffen was a little young for Polly anyway. At any rate, the actress has decided to leave her great Malibu house and move to New York to see if the pickings are better.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: When Sweden's Ingmar Bergman (known for his artistic and intellectual films) visited Hollywood recently, who did he want to see most? Well, Bergman said, "If Charles Bronson is filming I'd love to see him at work." So the cinema's intellectual met the movie's man of action on the set of "St. Ives" and Bergman termed Bronson "a vastly underrated actor."

Q: I keep hearing that Sir Laurence Olivier is seriously ill. — D. T., Norwalk, Conn.

A: Sir Laurence did have rectal cancer and is said to be suffering from lung congestion. But happily we hear he's been doing the New York nightclubs and closed up one recently in the company of two beautiful blondes.

PEOPLE

By Robin Adams Sloan

Q: How did the Earth Shoe get its name? Is it because the shoe makes contact with the earth? — B. T., La Jolla, Calif.

A: No. The idea of the shoe — lower in back than in the front — came to the inventor on Earth Day.

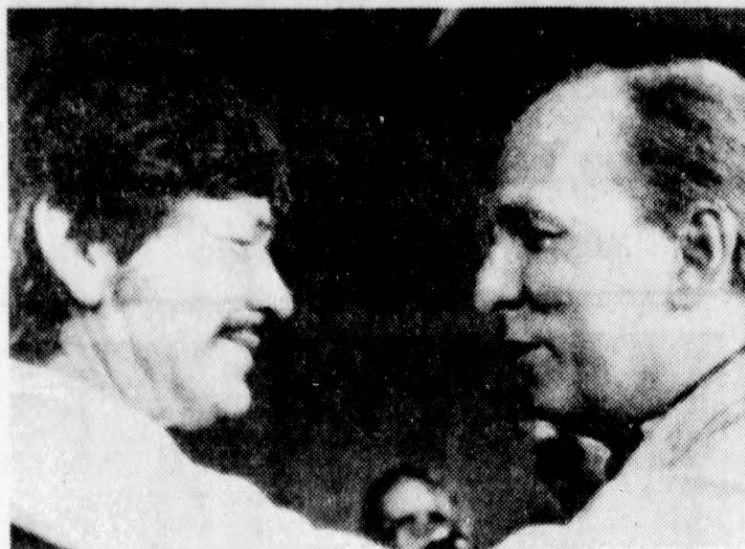

Q: What about Richard Burton's daughter Kate? Is she in school in the U.S. or abroad? — G. F., Santa Barbara, Calif.

A: Kate goes to Brown university in Providence, R.I. She chose Brown because she had a crush on one of actor George C. Scott's sons and that was his choice. The romance is kaput now, but Kate loves the school.

Q: Will the up-coming film, in which Muhammad Ali will play himself in the story of his life, be just another ego trip? — Z. G., Boulder, Colo.

A: Film producer John Marshall claims that the picture will not glorify Ali but tell the truth with no punches pulled. But if there are differences on the set and push comes to shove, who do you think will win the battles? We'll bet on the champ.

Robin Adams Sloan welcomes

BRONSON & BERGMAN: Ingmar watched.

POLLY: Irving wasn't permanent.

OLIVIER: He's doing OK.

Berrien Industrial Truck Injury Total 7th Highest

LANSING (Special) — Berrien county has the seventh largest number of people injured by powered industrial trucks in the state — 30 — during 1974, according to injury statistics compiled by the Michigan Department of Labor.

In all, there were 1,049 compensable injuries due to powered industrial trucks during the year in Michigan.

The most common cause of injury was the powered industrial truck running into people, which resulted in 595 injuries. Fractures were the most common type of injury, with a total of 313.

The largest number of injuries, 482, were to the lower part of the body, including foot and toe injuries.

The 10 counties with the largest number of injuries, in decreasing order, were: Wayne, 359; Macomb, 79; Oakland, 65; Kent, 59; Genesee, 48; Muskegon, 40; Berrien, 30; Jackson, 27; Ingham, 26; and Saginaw, 24.

Operators of powered industrial trucks must safeguard other employees at all times. The Michigan Department of Labor says travel at a safe speed, suitable to the surroundings and type of load you are carrying. Don't ever become a race driver. Take your time and drive safely.

President Ford's nomination of Circuit Judge John Paul Stevens to replace William O. Douglas involves more than an ideological shift — it puts another grey man on the court replacing a pirate. Douglas could — particularly in his later years — be exasperating, brittle and just plain wrong. But there was an element of panache about the man: He once blandly cited an article of mine as evidence for precisely the opposite position of the one I had documented! When the greatest judicial brokenfield runner of them all, Chief Justice John Marshall, found himself in a corner, he would denounce "well-digested, but refined and metaphysical reasoning" designed to "explain away the Constitution of our country." Douglas, like Marshall, seldom allowed "metaphysical reasoning" to hinder the achievement of his goals.

This sort of behavior bothers the professional lawyers and particularly law professors. They emphasize — with a good deal of merit — the need for a judicial "temperament," for rigorous attention to precedent, and, above all, judicial experience as prerequisites for appointment to the bench. I happen to think that a Court composed of nine Douglasses would be a disaster area — the constitution of the United States is not play clay to be remolded weekly on an inspirational basis.

Yet I am equally convinced that a Court made up of nine pure professionals would simply be out of touch with one crucial aspect of American constitutionalism: political reality. If the Senate approves Judge Stevens, six of the nine Justices will have primarily judicial backgrounds. Nothing said here is a denigration of Judge Stevens' talents, but doesn't the Court need a healthy admixture of individuals who could find their way from the White House to the Hill without a Seeing Eye Dog?

Let me give a couple of examples of what I mean. In the depths of the Great Depression, as banks attempted to foreclose farm mortgages, the American yeomanry was practically in open insurrection. Attempted foreclosures were simply aborted by force. Various states, responding to the inflated electorate, passed Mortgage Moratorium Laws which in essence postponed mortgage obligations. In 1934 the Minnesota statute was brought to the Supreme Court as a violation of the contract clause of the Constitution and Chief Justice Hughes had the task of meshing reality with the contract clause.

He succeeded (though it was a 5-4 decision) with a masterpiece of constitutional improvisation which I termed the "secret drawer theory". The emergency, he held did not create new constitutional authority, but it did make possible the exercise of powers previously unused. Like Marshall, he took a side-shot at those who "attempt to draw a fine distinction between the intended meaning of the words of the Constitution and their intended application."

Then there was Justice Jackson's remarkable dissent in the Korematsu Case, where the Court had before it the constitutionality of the incarceration of Japanese-Americans in concentration camps during World War II. Justice Black, sounding like an American Legion keynoter, upheld the abomination (Douglas agreeing).

HE IS EXEMPTED

President Ford's nomination of Circuit Judge John Paul Stevens to replace William O. Douglas involves more than an ideological shift — it puts another grey man on the court replacing a pirate. Douglas could — particularly in his later years — be exasperating, brittle, and just plain wrong. But there was an element of panache about the man: He once blandly cited an article of mine as evidence for precisely the opposite position of the one I had documented! When the greatest judicial brokenfield runner of them all, Chief Justice John Marshall, found himself in a corner, he would denounce "well-digested, but refined and metaphysical reasoning" designed to "explain away the Constitution of our country."

This sort of behavior bothers the professional lawyers and particularly law professors. They emphasize — with a good deal of merit — the need for a judicial "temperament," for rigorous attention to precedent, and, above all, judicial experience as prerequisites for appointment to the bench. I happen to think that a Court composed of nine Douglasses would be a disaster area — the constitution of the United States is not play clay to be remolded weekly on an inspirational basis.

Yet I am equally convinced that a Court made up of nine pure professionals would simply be out of touch with one crucial aspect of American constitutionalism: political reality. If the Senate approves Judge Stevens, six of the nine Justices will have primarily judicial backgrounds. Nothing said here is a denigration of Judge Stevens' talents, but doesn't the Court need a healthy admixture of individuals who could find their way from the White House to the Hill without a Seeing Eye Dog?

Let me give a couple of examples of what I mean. In the depths of the Great Depression, as banks attempted to foreclose farm mortgages, the American yeomanry was practically in open insurrection. Attempted foreclosures were simply aborted by force. Various states, responding to the inflated electorate, passed Mortgage Moratorium Laws which in essence postponed mortgage obligations. In 1934 the Minnesota statute was brought to the Supreme court as a violation of the contract clause of the Constitution and Chief Justice Hughes had the task of meshing reality with the contract clause.

He succeeded (though it was a 5-4 decision) with a masterpiece of constitutional improvisation which I termed the "secret drawer theory." The emergency, he held did not create new constitutional authority, but it did make possible the exercise of powers previously unused. Like Marshall, he took a side-shot at those who "attempt to draw a fine distinction between the intended meaning of the words of the Constitution and their intended application."

Then there was Justice Jackson's remarkable dissent in the Korematsu Case, where the Court had before it the constitutionality of the incarceration of Japanese-Americans in concentration camps during World War II. Justice Black, sounding like an American Legion keynoter, upheld the abomination (Douglas agreeing).

December of 1974. Over a beer, we talked of old times and new thoughts.

It is with these few words, that I wish to recognize Tom Bentsen. He was a good friend and a good person. Society, in all of its ignorance, will surely be the poorer for his loss.

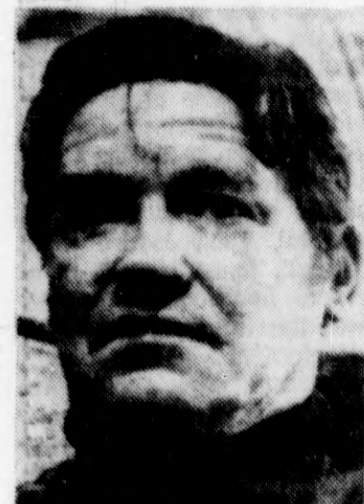

Perhaps, when we meet again, Tom, in another place, another time, I'll buy you that beer I owe you. Until then, take it easy, Tom. Take it easy.

Two Men Booked After Crash

Benton Harbor police said two occupants of an auto that struck a house Saturday night were arrested and an officer was injured during an altercation that followed the crash at Highland avenue and Nowlen street.

Patrolman Robert Vaughn reported he was treated and released from Mercy hospital. Vaughn said he was kicked in the right leg and received a puncture wound to the right hand from an unknown object.

Arrested were Henry D. Brown, 25, identified by police as the driver, and a passenger, James Brown, 18, both of 141 Church street, Benton Harbor. Police said Henry Brown was booked on charges of assaulting a police officer and resisting arrest. He also was ticketed for careless driving, police said. James Brown was booked on a charge of resisting arrest.

Police said both received apparently minor injuries to the mouth and nose in the crash, about 11:44 p.m. Police said they asked to be taken to the hospital in a patrol car, but refused to go when officers summoned an ambulance. A scuffle occurred, according to Vaughn and Patrolman Lloyd Hughes.

The officers said an auto eastbound on Highland went out of control while attempting to turn onto Nowlen. The car went through a fence and struck a house at 613 Highland, police said. There was some damage to the house, police said.

Bill", and I must say I was very upset after I had read it over several times.

Just what is our so called "free country" coming to? I wonder how many people have heard of this bill and I wonder how many can really comprehend what this bill would do to the American family?

By the passing of this bill the government would be able to tell the parents how to raise their children and if they decided we weren't doing a good job they would have the right to come in and take our children away and place them in homes elsewhere.

We would not be able to discipline our own children for fear of the government taking them from us. This, in my eyes, will weaken families rather than strengthen them.

I am a mother of three children and I have approached them with this and they are very much against everything this bill stands for.

If this bill is intended to protect the child from "abuse" I do not see where it will. I know they already have laws and penalties on this sort of thing and I believe they should be enforced!

If this bill is to provide for health, education, and welfare to those who cannot afford it (I have heard that this is what the bill is intended for — partially), we have programs already in existence, a wide number of federally funded programs for these purposes. I cannot see where anyone can believe that that is the purpose of this bill.

It still smells all very "Communist" to me and I believe all parents, grandparents, and parents to be should find out all they can about this bill and write to their state and U.S. officials opposing this bill. I know that if such a bill becomes law I shall urge my children not to have children of their own.

I will not vote in any further elections for anyone voting for or supporting this bill and I urge everyone else, to do the same.

URGES LETTERS TO CONGRESSMEN

Editor,
In reply to the Editor's Note at the conclusion of Mrs. Stubel's letter concerning the Child and Family Service Act. This newspaper says, "Congressman Edward Hutchinson says that the bill is buried so deep in subcommittee that there is little point in worrying about it in this session." I disagree. Let's worry

WISHES: Clinton J. Hill, former Secret Service agent who was riding on President Kennedy's limousine when he was assassinated, says if he'd reacted faster when he heard gunfire, he would have willingly taken the shot that killed the President. Hill, 43, said he retired from the Secret Service last July because of emotional problems stemming from the assassination. Hill spoke in an interview for Sunday's "60 Minutes" television program. about it in this session and all subsequent sessions with a barrage of mail to our Congressman until we know to our complete satisfaction that the bill is deposited in the trash barrel from which it never should have emerged in the first place.

I'm sure that letters sent now and later will be properly accepted and acknowledged. At least I have found this to be so.

POINTS TO MILK AS FLUORIDE VEHICLE

Editor,
Letters in your paper on October 20 from Mr. Clifton Gilbert and Mr. Kenneth Bowyer on the subject of fluoridation both press the point that it is a poison. This takes the controversy no further because it is well known that poisonous elements are contained in a great many articles of our modern processed diets. It is the need to control their use which is important, hence the strength of the argument against putting fluoride into public water supplies. In any case, it is the most wasteful method as only one per cent of the water would be drunk and it would be a constant exasperation to the adult population who resent the imposition of what they see as enforced medication.

Surely it would be much better to seek an alternative? I do not know whether Mr. Gilbert suggests milk only because it is a good food in itself — in fact it is a child's first food — or because he knows about the Borrow Dental Milk Foundation. This is a non-profit making Trust, fully endowed against the pull of sectional interests, which advocates a "dose" of fluoride brought to the safe level of 1 p.p.m. in a daily drink of milk for children up to 12 years of age. The enamel of the teeth has fully hardened by that age and provides its own protection against the acids which form in everyone's mouth and are the cause of caries.

There are many signs of a growing interest in milk as a vehicle for the fluoride, starting with the report of the World Health Organisation and the foundation's activities in promotion of opportunities for pilot schemes and research to expand and show the possibilities in combat with this distressing dental calamity. The milk system meets all the major points of contention and has an added advantage. In regions where there is no piped water there may still be fresh or dried milk available and reconstituted it can have the fluoride added very easily. The cost to operate would be one tenth that of treating water wholesale and the hazards of pollution are eliminated.

Our children may still be saved much distress and derive great benefit from having fluoride as a preventative of dental caries — or to them having toothache and false teeth by the time they are five years old. The milk will be an additional benefit.

AT RECORD SHOP, BUS GARAGE

$4,500 In Loot Is Taken In Two Weekend Burglaries

Property valued at $4,500 was stolen in weekend burglaries at a Benton Harbor record shop and the St. Joseph school district bus garage. Twin Cities area police also investigated five other thefts.

Benton Harbor police reported goods valued at $2,242 were taken from Henry's Record Shop, 275 East Empire avenue. Among the items were a color television, record player, amplifier, two speakers, 60 record albums, 100 records, 200 blank and recorded 8-track tapes as well as costume jewelry and other miscellaneous items. Police said the theft was discovered Sunday and thieves broke out a large window at the side of the building to gain entrance.

About $1,500 in goods, including three typewriters, two small calculators and a toolbox with assorted tools were reported stolen from the St. Joseph schools bus garage, 600 West Glenford road, Lincoln township. Berrien sheriff's deputies said the thieves broke glass in a side door and in an office door and pried open a door to the parts room to gain entrance there.

Other thefts reported to Berrien deputies were: —A citizens' band radio and a tape player, valued at about $400, from a pickup truck owned by Harold Connaway, House of David trailer park, Benton township, parked at 5340 Notre Dame road, Stevensville. —Jewelry, food and liquor, valued at $200, from a home at 6257 Evanston street, Hagar township, owned by James Balvo.

Wayne Abbott, 625 Baushke avenue, Benton Heights, told Benton township police $60 in cash was stolen from his home Sunday between about 2:30 and 3 p.m. while he and his wife were shopping.

Debbie Mead, 530 Cayuga road, Fairplain, told Benton Harbor police her purse containing $60 in cash was stolen from a cart in the parking lot of Hilltop Foods, 457 Riverview drive, while she was putting groceries in her car Saturday. She said an unidentified man returned the purse to her home Sunday, minus the cash.

St. Joseph police said tools valued at $20 were reported stolen from a pickup truck, owned by Paul Schmitt, 1789 El Dorado, Stevensville, while the truck was parked in the 1100 block of Michigan avenue, Saturday.

A man and two women were arrested Sunday by Benton Harbor police after an altercation in the 600 block of Clay street.

Police said they were in the process of arresting a man on a charge of being a disorderly person when the two women tried to intervene. No one was injured in a brief struggle, police said.

Booked at the Berrien county jail on charges of disorderly person and resisting arrest was Archie C. Reves, 24, of 790 Pipestone street. Booked on charges of obstructing a police officer were Patti Darlene Miller, 22, and Cleo L. Reves, 46, both of 1935 Union street, Fairplain.

Carolyn Newton, 2330 Berg venue, Benton Heights, told Benton township police four small windows at her home had been shot out. Police said they believed a pellet gun was used. No estimate of damage was reported.

A motorcycle reported last July to the Van Buren county sheriff's department as being stolen was located Saturday afternoon in a water-filled ditch off County Line road, Watervliet township of Berrien county, according to Berrien sheriff's officers.

Officers said the motorcycle, valued at $1,000, was spotted by a resident of County Line road who called the department. The owner was not identified.

New Coloma Bank Targer Of Break-In

COLOMA — The newly-opened branch bank of the First National Bank of Watervliet here was the target of an attempted break-in over the weekend.

Coloma township police reported a lock to the rear door of the temporary mobile branch had been pried off, but that no entry was made. They theorized the thief or thieves had been scared away by a passing motorist.

Chief Richard Klimaszewski said the FBI had been contacted and would investigate the attempt.

According to the chief, the attempted entry was discovered about 10 a.m. Saturday by Joseph Kolenko, branch manager. It occurred sometime after 9:30 p.m. Friday.

The branch, on Red Arrow highway just outside the Coloma city limits, was opened Thursday. It is to be used until a permanent building is erected.

Market Continues Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved lower again today in a continuation of last week's sharp decline amid uncertainty over the course of the business recovery.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down more than a point after the opening and stocks falling price slightly outnumbered those advancing on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow plunged 41.87 points last week in the largest weekly loss of the year.

Analysts said investors were disappointed over the failure of the market to rally when President Ford gave his support to loans for New York City.

And they said investors were still hesitant because of the lack of clear signals that the economy was pulling out of recession at a steady pace.

Prices today included American Can, the NYSE volume leader, down 1/8 to 31 and Dow Chemical, down 3/8 to 87 3/4.

On Friday, the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 10.31 to 818.80, as 872 stocks declined and 484 advanced in price on the New York Stock Exchange.

Big Board volume fell off to 14.05 million shares, following a turnover of 16.38 million on Thursday.

The NYSE composite index dropped .51 to 45.84.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index lost .37 to 82.40.

Michigan Jobless Rate Dips

DETROIT (AP) — The jobless rate in Michigan declined two-tenths of a percent last month but was still the highest for any November since the state began compiling figures 20 years ago, officials have reported.

The unemployment rate of 12.2 per cent was down from 12.4 per cent in October, but still exceeded the former November record of 11.5 per cent set in 1959, the Michigan Employment Security Commission said.

The figures showed a continuation of the sporadic improvement in the state's economy since the jobless rate peaked at 15.5 per cent in February and March when the auto industry was in a major slump.

The improvement in November came primarily because auto-related industries in the Detroit area put manufacturing facilities back to work after temporary layoffs, according to MESC Director S. Martin Taylor.

Job openings also increased in retail trades and service industries in anticipation of the Christmas season, offsetting seasonal declines in construction and agriculture, he said.

The MESC said the number of Michigan residents seeking work in November was 497,000, compared to 504,000 in October and 332,900 a year ago.

Nationwide, the jobless rate dropped from 8.6 per cent to 8.3 per cent.

In the Detroit metropolitan area, the jobless rate fell to 12.8 per cent with 249,100 out of work. In October, the jobless rate was 13.5 per cent with 263,200 jobless. In November 1974, the rate was 8.9 per cent with 169,700 seeking work.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

After 35 Years, He's Impact Is Entitled To A Rest

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. After having worked six days and two nights a week for over 35 years I have sold my small business. During these years I became well educated in the securities market, spending a half hour each day in a brokerage office next door. However, I am now weary of constantly dealing in stocks, warrants, rights, options, and want to simplify my life by placing all my assets in several funds, letting them do the paperwork. Is this being too lazy? We are about 60, no dependents, no pension but with total assets of about $800,000 — including a home, cars, an airplane, life insurance, Treasury bills, stocks.

A. I think a man who has worked as hard and as long as you have is entitled to be as lazy as he wants to be. Whether you will be happy being that lazy is something else again. I wonder.

I am sure you realize that about $800,000 of this total — cars, airplane, personal property, life insurance (the latter with a low cash value) — cannot be counted on to produce anything much. Your home, of course, can be sold and the money put to work — either in income investments or in retirement-type living quarters.

Let's say you will have about $450,000 to work with — truly a goodly sum. At 9 per cent that would produce more than $40,000 — so your $30-$35,000 minimum income requirement is covered.

I must, however, object to the all-or-none approach. Life "ain't" that simple nor do I think that a man who has worked so hard to accumulate a bundle would be happy turning over everything to "George," certainly not at age 61.

I would vote to spread it around: perhaps 50 per cent in high-grade corporate bonds, Treasuries and bond mutual funds, about 35 per cent in blue chip preferreds and commons and the balance in some cash equivalents — savings and Treasury bills.

You may become disillusioned with frenetic trading in stocks, warrants, options, etc. And that's understandable. But your reaction should not be to go over to the other extreme. If I'm wrong you can always turn the job over to someone else.

Fuller Information Dept.: About six weeks ago I presented the mathematical problem of a $15,000 loan which was being repaid at the rate of $300 a month for 10 years. Question: What was the rate of interest?

I am happy to report that there are many skilled mathematicians among my readers. The answer: The interest cost was 21 per cent. . . or as an assistant professor of engineering pointed out — 21.010164 per cent. One reader was so kind as to run off on his computer a complete table of payments, showing what part of each $300 monthly payment went to principal and what part to interest. Many of the letters

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Continues Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved lower again today in a continuation of last week's sharp decline amid uncertainty over the course of the business recovery.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down more than a point after the opening and stocks falling price slightly outnumbered those advancing on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow plunged 41.87 points last week in the largest weekly loss of the year.

Analysts said investors were disappointed over the failure of the market to rally when President Ford gave his support to loans for New York City.

And they said investors were still hesitant because of the lack of clear signals that the economy was pulling out of recession at a steady pace.

Prices today included American Can, the NYSE volume leader, down 1/4 to 31 and Dow Chemical, down 1/2 to 87 1/2.

On Friday, the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 10.31 to 818.80, as 872 stocks declined and 484 advanced in price on the New York Stock Exchange.

Big Board volume fell off to 14.65 billion shares, following a turnover of 16.38 million on Thursday.

The NYSE composite index dropped 51 to 45.84.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index lost .37 to 82.40.

Michigan Jobless Rate Dips

DETROIT (AP) — The jobless rate in Michigan declined two-tenths of a percent last month but was still the highest for any November since the state began compiling figures 20 years ago, officials have reported.

The unemployment rate of 12.2 per cent was down from 12.4 per cent in October, but still exceeded the former November record of 11.5 per cent set in 1959, the Michigan Employment Security Commission said.

The figures showed a continuation of the sporadic improvement in the state's economy since the jobless rate peaked at 15.5 per cent in February and March when the auto industry was in a major slump.

The improvement in November came primarily because auto-related industries in the Detroit area put manufacturing facilities back to work after temporary layoffs, according to MESC Director S. Martin Taylor.

Job openings also increased in retail trades and service industries in anticipation of the Christmas season, offsetting seasonal declines in construction and agriculture, he said.

The MESC said the number of Michigan residents seeking work in November was 487,000, compared to 504,000 in October and 322,900 a year ago.

Nationwide, the jobless rate dropped from 8.8 per cent to 8.3 per cent.

In the Detroit metropolitan area, the jobless rate fell to 12.8 per cent with 249,100 out of work. In October, the jobless rate was 13.5 per cent with 263,200 jobless. In November 1974, the rate was 8.9 per cent with 169,700 seeking work.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

After 35 Years, He's Entitled To A Rest

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. After having worked six days and two nights a week for over 35 years I have sold my small business. During these years I became well educated in the securities market, spending a half hour each day in a brokerage office next door. However, I am now weary of constantly dealing in stocks, warrants, rights, options, and want to simplify my life by placing all my assets in several funds, letting them do the paperwork. Is this being too lazy? We are about 40, no dependents, no pension but with total assets of about $300,000 — including a home, cars, an airplane, life insurance, Treasury bills, stocks.

A. I think a man who has worked as hard and as long as you have is entitled to be as lazy as he wants to be. Whether you will be happy being that lazy is something else again. I wonder.

I am sure you realize that about $300,000 of this, total — cars, airplane, personal property, life insurance (the latter with a low cash value) — cannot be counted on to produce anything much. Your home, of course, can be sold and the money put to work — either in income investments or in retirement-type living quarters.

Let's say you will have about $450,000 to work with — truly a goodly sum. At 9 per cent that would produce more than $40,000 — so your $300,000 minimum income requirement is covered.

I must, however, object to the all-or-none approach. Life "ain't" that simple nor do I think that a man who has worked so hard to accumulate a bundle would be happy turning over everything to "George," certainly not at age 61.

I would vote, to spread it around: perhaps 50 per cent in high-grade corporate bonds, Treasuries and bond mutual funds, about 35 per cent in blue chip preferreds and commons and the balance in some cash equivalents — savings and Treasury bills.

You may become disillusioned with frenetic trading in stocks, warrants, options, etc. And that's understandable. But your reaction should not be to go over to the other extreme. If I'm wrong you can always turn the job over to someone else.

Fuller Information Dept.: About six weeks ago I presented the mathematical problem of a $15,000 loan which was being repaid at the rate of $300 a month for 10 years. Question: What was the rate of interest? I am happy to report that there are many skilled mathematicians among my readers. The answer: The interest cost was 21 per cent, or as an assistant professor of engineering pointed out — 21.010164 per cent. One reader was so kind as to run off on his computer a complete table of payments, showing what part of each $300 monthly payment went to principal and what part to interest. Many of the letters

2 BEDROOM

ST. JOSEPH TWP.

Set on a private 1/2 acre ravine lot, this home will offer the young or retired family excellent living at budget priced. It offers carpeting throughout, first floor laundry room and a stone fireplace. The ravine lot provides over 1/2 acre of excellent landscaping and garden space. This house is near shopping and the hospital, and is hooked up to both city water and sewer. $24,900.

QUALITY HOME

Outdoor swimming pools hold little interest at this time of year but just think of the fun your family can have next summer with a large kidney shaped, fenced in and heated pool. This, coupled with a very fine ranch brick home set on a ravine lot in Lincoln Township, Lakeshore schools, makes an excellent arrangement for any family. There are 3 bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths, 2 fireplaces, finished recreation room in basement, wall to wall carpeting throughout, central air conditioning, etc. Priced at $59,500.

AT LAST, THE MOON

Sunday, July 20, 1969 . . . 4:17:42 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time.

"Houston. Tranquility Base here. The Eagle has landed."

"Roger, Tranquility. We copy you on the ground. You've got a bunch of guys about to turn blue. We're breathing again. Thanks a lot."

The culmination of centuries of dreaming: a ten-year, $20 billion drop in the bucket of time.

Now it is 10:56:20, the same day. A cautious left boot searches for the surface, and the shadowy figure steps off. "That's one small step for a man, one giant leap for mankind."

The static-laden voice presses across 238,000 miles. And almost all the world watches and listens. Neil Alden Armstrong, 28, from a place called Wapakoneta, Ohio, on the planet earth, a man with an ordinary size 9½ foot, takes the first step on the moon.

"The surface is fine and powdery. I can pick it up loosely with my toe. It does adhere in fine layers like powdered charcoal to the sole and sides of my boots . . . I can see the footprints of my boots and the treads in the fine, sandy particles."

Vanguard, Explorer, Shepard, Grissom, Glenn, and always behind the Russians. Trailing the Sputniks, the Gagarins, the Ti-tovs. Three men dead in a burning moon ship. But now, suddenly, the race is over. An American flag is unfurled on the moon: President Nixon says, "As a result of what you have done, the world has never been closer together."

Odd the way it happens. A picture taken by a robot television camera aboard a disposable landing craft named Eagle records the imperishable moment. Later, like tourists everywhere, the moon visitors photograph each other and Armstrong snaps his co-pilot, Edwin E. Aldrin, setting up a solar wind test. And man wins a new planet to walk on because two nations are locked in a contest for prestige on earth.

Suit Seeks $40,000 In Damages

A Coloma-area woman has filed suit in Berrien Circuit court for injuries allegedly sustained when a car struck her, and claims the accident was partly caused by a Berrien road commission grader illegally parked along the road.

The plaintiff, Martha Vaughn, seeks $40,000 damages stemming from the June 26 accident in which she was injured when she attempted to walk across Red Arrow highway near Center street in Coloma township.

Named defendants were Gilbert Craig, of Watervliet, alleged driver of the car that hit her, Martin Tretheway, chairman of the county road commission, and Albert Schott, alleged driver of the road grader.

The suit contends the grader was illegally parked on the shoulder, blocking the view of cars on the road, and claims Craig was negligent in driving too fast and failing to have his car under control.

In another suit involving an auto accident, Sharon and Gary Cox, of Benton Harbor, seek $100,000 for injuries Mrs. Cox allegedly sustained when the car she was driving was struck by another auto Oct. 6, 1973, on Roosevelt road at Evanston street in Hagar township.

Named defendant, and identified as the driver of the other car, was Jimmy D. Smith, of Baroda.

Harold and Patricia Tillman, of St. Joseph, filed a suit seeking $100,000 damages, claiming an insurance company has failed to pay benefits allegedly owed to the couple.

Named defendant was Allstate Insurance Co.

The Tillmans claim Mrs. Tillman was injured in an automobile accident Feb. 15, 1974, and that they were insured by Allstate. The suit claims the insurance had a clause which provides for wage-loss benefits up to three years, and the Tillmans contend they made a demand for the benefits but Allstate refused to pay.

The suit charges Allstate with a breach of contract.

Two Rehabilitation Counselors Named

Dennis Mahoney and Robert Groenewoud were recently hired as counselors for the Department of Education's Vocational Rehabilitation Service (VRS) program.

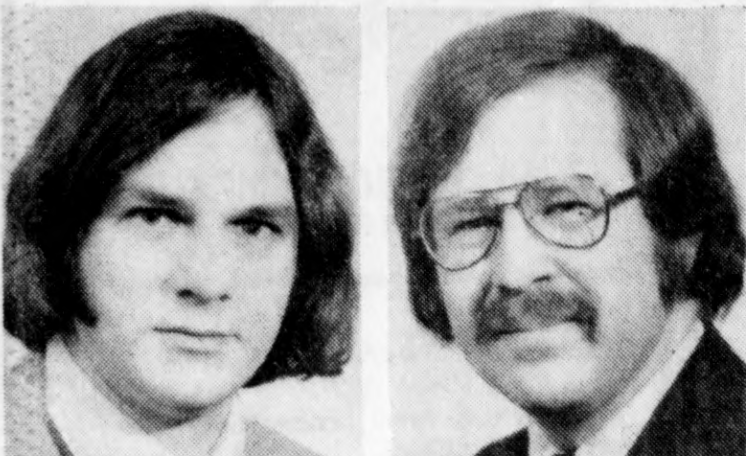

The program, with offices at Fairplain plaza, M-139, serves the handicapped of Berrien, Cass and Van Buren counties, providing rehabilitation services to people with conditions which constitute a handicap to employment.

Mahoney, 27, will be counseling disabled individuals who reside in northern Berrien county including Benton Harbor, St. Joseph, Coloma, Watervliet, Eau Claire and Stevensville.

Groenewoud, 29, has been assigned to counseling disabled individuals who are also recipients of some type of service or financial grant from the Berrien County Department of Social Services.

Previously employed with the Jenkins Vocational Rehabilitation center in Kalamazoo, Mahoney received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Western Michigan University. He is a Bay City native.

Groenewoud received his bachelor's degree in psychology from Central Michigan University. A native of Grand Haven, he previously was a caseworker for the Kent County Department of Social Services. He and his wife, Jean Marie, live in Coloma and have one child.

NEW YORKER MAGAZINE

Hagar Couple's Son Cited

The New Yorker magazine says the "perseverance and compelling intuition" of the son of a Hagar township couple has alerted authorities to the harmful effects of some gases used for anesthetics.

A story in the November edition of "The New Yorker" credits Thomas H. Corbett, M.D., son of Mr. and Mrs. T.C. Corbett, U.S. 33, Hagar township, with conducting research which has led authorities to the possible harmful effects of some anesthetics especially on medical people who are constantly exposed to the gases during their administration.

Dr. Corbett, an instructor of anesthesiology at the University of Michigan and chief of anesthesiology services at the Veterans Administration hospital in Ann Arbor, conducted research into two anesthetic gases, isoflurane and nitrous oxide.

Dr. Corbett, 37, found that when the two chemicals were introduced into different groups of white rats in relatively low-levels over an extended period, nitrous oxide sometimes produced liver tumors and isoflurane often proved lethal to embryos of pregnant rats.

Although Dr. Corbett's research did not furnish conclusive proof of the harmful effects of the gases, The New Yorker said the research "sowed the seeds of doubt" about the gases and convinced "many members of the medical and scientific community that further investigation was warranted."

As a result of Dr. Corbett's research, the Federal Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has withheld approval for the marketing of isoflurane until further research is completed.

Dr. Corbett, a 1957 graduate of St. Joseph high school, received his pre-medical education at the University of Michigan and graduated from medical school and completed his internship and residency at the University of Michigan Medical center.

U.S. Is Third In 'Slow' Food Cost Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — A survey of 15 countries shows that only in two nations have retail food prices risen more slowly the past year than in the United States, the Agriculture Department said today.

The U.S. food-price index rose 7.7 per cent from September 1974 to September of this year, the USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service said. Prices were up 5.2 per cent in Australia and 5.8 per cent in West Germany.
